CAMPBELL GUN VERDICT SUSTAINED

LIMPING R-100 FIGHTS STORM 90 MILES FROM GOAL AND OFF ROUTE

With Torn Fin Repaired, Ship Steers South of Montreal.

HOPE DWINDLES OF BEATING GRAF TIME

Third Day Passes in Air on Trip Expected to Take 70 Hours.

ACCIDENT TO FABRIC OCCURS OVER QUEBEC

Fuel Plentiful; No Fear Felt, Despite Bad Weather in Ottawa Valley.

St. Hubert Airport, Quebec, July 31 (A.P.).—Radio advices from the British dirigible R-100 tonight said the airship was running into heavy weather 90 miles from Montreal and would still steer south until conditions improved. Her time of arrival was problematical.

Field officials said that thunderstorms had started in the vicinity of the field and the storm was moving down the Ottawa valley.

"The ship was reported 90 miles from Montreal at 7 p. m. (Eastern standard time), and under these conditions it is expected the ship will steer south until weather conditions improve, making the time of arrival uncertain," an announcement issued at the field said.

At 7:30 p. m. the ship was 30 miles below Three Rivers and its speed was estimated 55 miles an hour.

In Air Three Days.

A later dispatch from St. Jean Des Chaillols, 10 miles farther along the dirigible's route, said the craft passed over there at 9:30 o'clock and had covered a distance of only 4 miles in the last hour and a half. This indicated the ship had run into a storm.

[illegible]t 9:45 o'clock the R-100 had been [illegible]he air exactly three ful days since [illegible]ing England.

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, July [illegible] (N.Y.W.N.S.)—So near the triumph [illegible] a record-breaking westward cross[illegible]ng of the North Atlantic that her [illegible]ptain already had sent out a [illegible]ghty radio summation of the [illegible]ght's achievements, his majesty's [illegible]rship, the R-100, was overtaken [illegible]his afternoon by mishap and ironic [illegible]fate, with the result that she was [illegible]limping down the St. Lawrence Valley tonight a considerably crestfallen dirigible.

May Beat Record Yet.

The Graf ZZeppelin's best time across the Atlantic from Europe to America is 81 hours and, although the course followed by the two ships are scarcely comparable, the public, nevertheless, is bound to make its time comparisons. Present calculations are that the R-100 may still beat the German airship's time.

Curiously enough, the second British dirigible to span the Atlantic was stricken in the same manner as the second transatlantic airship from Germany—by fabric which loosened and gave way on one of the stabilizer fins that is part of the ship's tail. How extensive this damage is will not be known until the ship arrives and is tied up at the great mooring mast built especially for her at this airport.

The accident occurred when the R-100 was over the City of Quebec at 2:08 this afternoon, scarcely 150 miles from Montreal and forging along at the regal rate of 40 knots despite stiff head winds which she had been forced to buck all day. Already she had abandoned code radio for voice communication with St. Hubert Airport officials and had said she expected to land about 8 o'clock this evening. Then came this terse message:

"Report fabric trouble on fin necessitated reducing speed. Will probably prevent landing tonight."

(Signed) BOOTH.

Stop Over Quebec.

Then came unofficial confirmation which threw a little more light on the situation though still giving no hint of its seriousness. It was a telegraphic report from Quebec saying the big airship had stopped unaccountably above that city, had drifted back to the eastward 15 miles, but was headed once again on her course. Those waiting visualized mid-air repairs to the damaged tail and a gingerly resumption of the voyage to Montreal with the airship's crew doing everything in their power to favor the injured tail member.

Apparently, their guess was good. Late this afternoon word trickled through from the R-100's unloquacious ardio that Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, skipper of the British air-

Calvin Coolidge

Says: If when something is unusually bad it becomes a subject for news, by the same principle when something is good it is at least worthy of comment.

At the present time the foreign relations of the United States are in a particularly satisfactory condition. While there are always trifling questions concerning trade and individuals requiring diplomatic adjustment we are especially free from any major issues with other nations.

With but one important exception our war debts with Europe are adjusted. All misunderstandings have been removed from the Pacific Ocean area, Central and South America are quiet, our claims in Mexico are being adjudicated, the revolution in China involves us but slightly, and the naval limitation treaty has taken our armaments from the field of international friction. The helpful visit of the President to so many South American countries will be augmented by his purpose to go to Mexico.

Our position toward all other people is neutral and impartial. Our chief motive is a great desire to be friendly. No foreign government regards us as a menace. We hold the respect of the world sufficiently to be usually sought as the arbitrator of its disputes.

STREET CAR LINES WILL BE REVALUED

Utilities Commission Accedes to Request of Keech, People's Counsel.

TRAFFIC LOSS IS RAISED

With thoughts of merger and reduced car fares hovering in the background, the Public Utilities Commission yesterday did as it had been forecast it would do and formally acceded to the plea of Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, that the street car companies be revalued.

The valuation proceedings will take the best part of two years and will cost thousands of dollars. These thousands of dollars will come out of the pockets of the street car companies which recently won their fight in the District Supreme Court to get 10-cent cash fares, with four tokens for 30 cents.

The valuation proceedings at this time were urged by Mr. Keech as a move to bring about reduction in car fares. Fares are based on valuation because the law provides that public utilities shall be permitted to earn a reasonable rate of return on the fair value of their property. If the valuation claimed by the car companies could be reduced enough to show they were earning exhorbitant profits, there would be hope of a reduction in car fares.

It is far from certain that any new valuation which might be made by the commission and sustained by the courts could be fixed at a figure low enough to convince the courts that the earning rate of the companies was far enough above a "reasonable" rate to justify a reduction in rates. Court decisions in the District and elsewhere have been a long succession of victories for the utilities corporations

HUNT OPENS AS MEN ROB GIRL OF $7,500

Children's Pay Roll Stolen After One Attacker Battles With Her.

TRAIL OF AUTO IS LOST

A police dragnet encircled Washington last night as local authorities attempted to apprehend two men who who earlier in the day attacked the young woman assistant treasurer of Children's Hospital and robbed her of a $7,000 pay roll.

Miss Eleanor Page, of Clarendon, Va., had just eturned from the Riggs Bank with the pay roll for employes of the hospital. About $4,000 of the money was in cash, the remainder in checks. As she stepped from her car at Twelfth near W streets northwest, a roadster drew up in the middle of the street and a white man, about 30 years of age, jumped out and caught hold of Miss Page as she crossed the sidewalk.

Wrestling with her for a moment, he finally succeeded in throwing her to the ground, where he grabbed a brief case containing the money and ran back to his car, in which another man was sitting. The two then drove off.

Miss Page noticed the license tags of the car and gave it to police. The car was found several hours later on Champlain street near Twenty-third northwest.

A checkup revealed that the car had been stolen from Raymond B. Hess, a corpsman at Walter Reed Hospital, who had reported the loss to police yesterday.

As the holdup men drove off at high speed two colored attendants of the hospital who had heard sounds of the scuffle ran to another car and gave chase. They lost the robbers'

Commander of U. S Fleet Advises Against Sending More Gunboats There.

Shanghai, July 31 (A.P.).—Communistic activity in south central China that reduced the rich City of Changsha to a shambles and resulted in an attack yesterday on the United States gunboat Palos tonight was sweeping on unchecked in an apparent effort to clamp the red grip on the Yangtse River Valley with its many important cities.

Pillaging bands of Chinese Communists were reported within 25 miles of the important industrial cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang and authorities of the Japanese concession in Hankow were erecting barbed wire defenses. Kiukiang and the nearby summer resort of Kuling were reported being evacuated by foreigners. Communication was fragmentary and the exact situation was unknown.

An effort by the Palos to approach Changsha to determine the situation there, where looting and burning has been in progress several days, resulted in the clash in which five blue jackets were wounded and 50 Communists killed and others wounded. The vessel was raked with machine fire and the attackers silenced only after it opened up at close range with its 3-inch rifles and machine guns.

Baltimore Man in Command.

The Palos, which had rescued foreigners from Changsha prior to the Communist raid, was in command of Lieut. Comdr. R. D. Tisdale, of Baltimore. Following the attack the gunboat, undamaged, withdrew down the Siang River.

Indications that Communists were preparing to establish themselves throughout Hupeh and Hunan Provinces were contained in dispatches from the affected area. They told also of plundering along the Peking-Hankow Railway.

Even Shanghai's foreign settlements were under special guard. Police patrols were doubled and authorities prepared to crush any disturbance.

Meanwhile Hu Han-Min, as president of the administrative section, announced that the government

REGIONAL LEADERS MEET IN CONFERENCE

Woodcock Stresses His Intent to Make War on Big Operators.

HIGHER EFFICIENCY IS GOAL OF REQUEST

Bigger Roster Will Cause Stricter Enforcement, Congress to Hear.

(Associated Press.)

A demand for increased prohibition enforcement personnel arose yesterday from the field directors of the war against illicit liquor and resulted in decisions to ask Congress for reinforcements on two fronts.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, after conferring with the twelve regional administrators, announced he will recommend that the present staff of approximately 2,000 agents be increased by 25 per cent.

At the same time, James M. Doran, chief of the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol in the Treasury Department, said he will request 120 more workers, 90 of them to be alcohol inspectors. The present personnel of the bureau is about 1,700.

Like Mr. Woodcock, Mr. Doran conferred during the day with his lieutenants in the field, the twelve regional supervisors of alcohol permits who met here at his call to discuss the problems confronting them.

Forces Thought Inadequate.

Nearly all the administrators, Mr. Woodcock said, believe their present force of workers inadequate and are of the opinion increased efficiency will follow an addition to their number.

He pointed out that several months must elapse before a recommendation can be made to Congress and that developments in the meanwhile may cause a change in his plans as to the number of additional agents to be requested.

In a statement issued Wednesday, he said while he thought more agents necessary he would await the results of experience before coming to a definite conclusion. Yesterday, however, he asserted his conferences with the administrators had brought him to the definite opinion that an addition should be made.

This decision, he said, is in no sense a "cry of despair," but the outgrowth of a belief that increased personnel would result in stricter enforcement.

MERCILESS GRILLING OF CAPTIVE STARTS

IDENTIFIED AS MAN IN AUTO ON ELLIPSE

Revelation Is Man Pair Thought Him Assailant of Mary Baker.

Herbert Campbell's .32-caliber revolver is the gun which was used by the slayer of Mary Baker, according to Col. Calvin H. Goddard, Chicago ballistics expert, in reporting on his examination of the gun and its bullets to Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth.

Mr. Gloth obtained this information late yesterday, and Campbell, who turned the gun over to authorities on May 24, was immediately brought to the Arlington County courthouse from the jail, where he was being questioned early today.

Indications were that the inquisition would continue until sunup. Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, Sheriff Howard B. Fields, Detective Sergeant John J. Flaherty and Detective Sergeant Carlton Talley worked in relays on the suspect in an attempt to break down his story that he was at home at 6 o'clock on the night of April 11. News from the room where he was being questioned had it that Campbell was successfully repelling the cross-examination.

Acquaintance Clew Sought.

An additional object of the investigatoin was to establish an acquaintance between the slain Navy Department clerk and the Arlington County real estate man, who is charged with the murder.

Campbell was brought to the waiting investigators at 8:30 p. m., by Arlington County Policeman William Thompson. From the demeanor of the suspect as he walked up the stairs of the courthouse it was apparent that his incarceration in the Arlington County Jail since July 23 had not affected his jauntiness. After being questioned in Mr. Gloth's office for more than an hour he was removed to the courtroom. Campbell was seated at one side o fa table, while his interrogators grouped about it.

The suspect early today was steadfastly denying any complicity in the crime, and asserted that Col. Goddard must be mistaken in his identification. Authorities continued their line of questioning in an attempt to draw from him an admission that he is shieldnig some one. They were unsuccessful.

Alibi Resists Attacks.

Since July 22 the police have made ineffectual attempts to shatter his seemingly iron-clad alibi. Campbell's principal witnesses who support the story of his whereabouts between 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock on the night of the murder are his wife, Mrs. Ruth Callahan Campbell, and his stepson, Edwin Callahan.

His only witness outside his immediate family is Harry Tazoff, a grocer of Virginia Highlands. This man failed to corroborate the story of the suspect, who said that on April 11 at 5:30 o'clock he stopped at his

LIGHT SHOWER FAILS TO AFFECT DROUGHT

93 CAPITAL HEAT HIGH

The weather continued to improve yesterday, with low humidity and fairly comfortable temperatures, but the light rainfall of last night was not enough to break materially a drought described as the worst in 40 or 50 years.

The mercury rose from 66 at 7 a. m. to a high of 93 at 4 o'clock, sinking to 83 at 8 p. m. The highest humidity reading was 28, as compared with the 70s and more of last week. The Weather Bureau predicted fair weather for today and Saturday, with little change in temperature. The end of the drought is not in sight, forecasters said.

Wading in Rock Creek was authorized yesterday by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks. Swimming in the creek, however, will not be permitted because of a number of deep places, and children were warned not to drink the water, as it is polluted with sewage from nearby Maryland towns.

FOREST FIRE NEARS U. S. FARM STATION

More Than 12 Volunteer Companies Fight Blaze East of Beltsville.

FLAMES UNDER CONTROL

Gaining rapid headway along a wide front, a forc[illegible] fire, fanned by a spasmodically brisk wind, swept through a tract of approximately 12 square miles a short distance east of Beltsville, Md., yesterday afternoon and last night, for several hours menacing the large Department of Agriculture's experimental farm.

Volunteer firemen from more than a dozen companies in the nearby countryside hurriedly were pressed into action, and an urgent call for scores of other volunteers was sent out through Station WRC during the late afternoon broadcasting program. Many responded and the fire finally was brought under control about 9 o'clock last night. It was expected to burn until this morning.

Nelson A. Lucas, 40 years old, and a man named Wright, about 42 years old, both members of the Branchville Volunteer Fire Department, were overcome by the heavy smoke early

Mrs. Walter Johnson Suffers Grave Illness

Weather, Vigil at Son's Bedside, Bring on Exhaustion.

Her nerves worn by a long vigil at theh bedside of her son, Mrs. Walter Johnson, wife of the idol of Washington fandom, is in a serious condition at Georgetown Hospital, suffering from heat exhaustion. The hospital where she lies is the one which sheltered her son after both his legs had been broken in an automobile accident near their home in Bethesda, Md., last spring.

Though Mrs. Johnson's condition is said to be serious, doctors hope that a complete and lengthy rest will restore her. That is the only treatment, they say, giving nature a chance to relax the taut nerves.

Walter Johnson called off his trip to New York with the team last night, and remained at his wife's bedside. Their son also visited his mother yesterday afternoon. The "Big Train" was at the game yesterday in uniform, but disappeared on the receipt of a phone call from doctors. A little later his big frame tiptoed into the hospital and went into his wife's room. None but he and his son are allowed in the sickroom.

Young Walter was discharged from the hospital only recently. Walter, sr., had an attack of influenza early in the year. Both these strains took their toll of Mrs. Johnson's strength.

MRS. WALTER JOHNSON.

According to Edward Eynon, a friend of the family. Last week, during the height of the heat wave, she drove from Coffeyville, Kans., to Washington, and the heat and exhaustion combined to send her to the hospital Wednesday night.

The doctors said "Mrs. Johnson is holding her own, but her condition is still serious. We are hopeful that rest will completely restore her." They said there was no disease present, and no organic breakdown.

Los Angeles, July 31 (A.P.).—Mary Nolan, film actress, formerly known as Imogene Wilson, Follies beauty, was in a hospital today, temporarily safe from police officers who sought her on warrants charging narcotic law violations.

Warrants to search Miss Nolan's hotel and beach club rooms, and her dressing rooms at Universal studio, were given officers after two affidavits had been filed with United States Commissioner David Head. The documents, signed by two nurses who had attended the actress, said they had seen her using narcotics illegally every two or three hours daily since July 12.

At the hospital, where Miss Nolan refused to see visitors, it was stated place of business to purchase provisions.

From this hour until 7:30 o'clock Campbell's only witnesses are his wife and step-son. All the evidence against the suspect is largely circumstantial. The only evidence of a direct nature is the partial identification of the Arlington County realty man as the man seen beating Miss Baker in her automobile in the Ellipse April 11. This assault occurred a few minutes after 6 o'clock.

Campbell, Barrere Side by Side.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Wood made their identification on July 23. This identification was withheld from publication at the request of Mr. Gloth and Lieut. Kelly. On this occasion Hermann H. Barrere was in Mr. Gloth's office.

Campbell was placed alongside of him. Authorities wished to give Campbell the impression that Barrere was being scrutinized. Beforehand, each of the witnesses was told to closely observe all men in the room.

After they had viewed the men no announcement was made of any identification. Subsequently, however, Mr. and Mrs. Wood communicated with Mr. Gloth and Lieut. Kelly and told them that Campbell, in their minds, was the assailant of Miss Baker.

The exact phraseology of their identification was this: "You can show us any number of men but none would resemble as much as Campbell does, the man we saw in Miss Baker's car."

Gun Principal Evidence.

Outside of this partial identification, the chief evidence in the possession of authorities is Campbell's gun, which two ballistics experts say was used in the slaying. The police also have a pair of pigskin gloves which Campbell at first identified as his and which he now says are not his property.

These gloves were found in the trap sewer on the Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm together with the slain girl's personal belongings. Before the gloves were shown to Campbell, he told the police that they would probably find scratches on the fingers of the right-hand glove which were caused by his tightening the bolt on his automobile.

He also predicted that grass grease spots and dog hair would also be found on the gloves. Under a microscopic examination at the Bureau of Standards, chemists found the scratches, the grease stains and dog hair. At the time of Campbell's first identification, police were searching for Barrerer. Much of the incriminatory evidence against Barrere was given to authorities by Campbell.

First Alibi Broken.

The first alibi of Campbell was broken on July 22. At that time he admitted that on the afternoon of the murder he and a married woman had been parked in his automobile near the Sheridan Gate of the Arlington National Cemetery, which is close to the culvert where Mary Baker's body was found on April 12. Previously, he had maintained that he spent the afternoon of the murder making several trips between Arlington County and Washington.

JUAREZ MAYOR HELD UNDER MARTIAL LAW

City Head, Secretary and Aldermen Arrested in Political Row.

BAN ON VOTING CHARGED

El Paso, Tex., July 31 (A.P.).—Political differences which arose during the recent heated gubernatorial campaign in the State of Chihuahua, Mexico, today were renewed with arrest of the mayor, city secretary and three aldermen of Juarez, across the Rio Grande from here. The city was placed under martial law.

Lieut. Col. Ignacio L. Campos, aid to Gen. Francisco Del Arco, commander of the Juarez garrison, was acting chief of police and with two squads of soldiers was in charge of the municipality.

Those held were Mayor Gustavo Flores, Aldermen Jose Motta, Carlos Austin B. Gardea and Valentino Fuentes, and Alejandro Fallinger, city secretary. There was a warrant out for Patricinio Candelario, fourth alderman. Orders for the arrests were issued by Judge Francisco Figuerqa, of the Juarez Penal Court.

Charges are Investigated.

It was known that Gov. Romulo Escobar of Chihuahua had been making an investigation of charges that partisans of Manuel Prieto, defeated candidate for governor, assisted by Juarez officials, interferred with free exercise of suffrage in Juarez. Escobar was the successful candidate against Prieto.

It was announced that Andres Padillo, another alderman, was slated for appointment as temporary mayor and that alternate aldermen would take the places of those ousted by the military regime.

The city treasury was guarded by federal soldiers and a check of the finances was under way. A large crowd of persons gathered around the city hall and the guard of soldiers was augmented. Excitement was tense, with crowds gathering on the street corners.

Juan Ancondas, Mexican consul in El Paso; Gen. Del Arco, District Attorney Rosales and Juan Salas Porras, special representive of Gov. Escobar, were conducting the investigation into the charges.

Mexico City Is Surprised.

Mexico City, July 31 (A.P.).—The report that Juarez, Chihuahua, had been placed under martial law and the mayor and other city officials arrested caused surprise here. The department of the interior had published a statement in the morning press saying the political difficulties of Chihuahua had been composed.

The department received a telegram from Deputy Manuel Estrada, leader of the dissenting faction of the Chihuahua Legislature, yesterday, saying that he and his followers had reached an agreement with their opponents and were returning to the sessions.

The Chihuahua State Supreme Court recently requested Gov. Escobar to dissolve the legislature and call new elections. The governor replied that dissolution of the congress was unnecessary. The situation had been aggravated by differences regarding the recent governorship election in which both candidates claimed victory.

Final Quiz on Red Exports Due Today

Amtorg Officials, Owners of Ships and Others Will Appear.

(Associated Press.)

Final hearings on protests against the action of the Treasury in barring Russian pulpwood from this country because convict labor entered into its production will be held today by Assistant Secretary Lowman, who announced late yesterday that representatives of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, official Russian Commercial organization, as well as ship owners, charterers and paper manufacturers would appear.

The pulpwood was barred under a section of the tariff act which prohibits entrance of any foreign product made in whole or in part by convict or forced labor. At a hearing Tuesday representatives of Amtorg said 80 ships had been chartered to carry pulpwood to the United States, that 5 had arrived and 10 were on the high seas.

Shipping lines engaged to transport the pulpwood asked for a 60 or 90 day stay of the order to permit the ships now loaded to land their cargoes. They said their companies would face large losses if this were not done.

REPORTERS CLEARED OF RACKET CHARGES

Chicago Grand Jury Closes Session Seeing Solution of Lingle Slaying.

TWO MORE MURDERED

Chicago, July 31 (A.P.).—The July grand jury, in its expiring breath, today expressed its confidence in an early solution of the murder of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter, and washed away the general smirch of racketeering from the record of other Chicago newspapermen.

The jurors, in a final report to Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle of the criminal court, held that the rumors associating several reporters with gangsters and criminal activities were unsupported by evidence.

They gave a vote of confidence to the State's attorney and the investigators working on the Lingle murder.

Brundidge Reports Discounted.

They adopted unanimously a resolution commending Capt. John Stege as a highly efficient police officer and asking Mayor William Hale Thompson to reinstate him as chief of detectives. He resigned that place when William F. Russell quit as police commissioner.

The grand jury report wrote finis to one phase of the Lingle murder case that had developed from the investigations in Chicago of Harry T. Bruididge, St. Louis newspaper reporter. Articles by Brundidge intimated that several Chicago reporters had levied tribute from the underworld, and he was called before the jury ten days ago, over the head of State's Attorney John A. Swanson, who refused to send Brundidge before the jury without preliminary interrogation.

The jurors heard Brundidge, then called every other newspaperman involved in the testimony and the widespread rumors. Brundidge himself, the grand jury commented today, had acted in good faith as a reporter, but his accounts were predicated "upon purely hearsay evidence."

Two More Slain.

The jurors passed over the insinuations that Lingle exerted his influence toward the appointment of William F. Russell as police commissioner with an expression of the opinion that Russell was chosen "through the usual channels of the present city administration." Lingle had been referred to in some newspapers as the "unofficial police chief" of Chicago because of his intimacy with Russell.

Its "entire confidence" in State's Attorney Swanson and the special prosecutors at Lingle murder headquarters was vouchsafed.

As the grand jury was concluding its business, police were seeking clews in two new slayings. The body of Dominick Falburto, 30, was found in a western suburb yesterday. Falburto had been shot four times and then beaten to death. August Pusateri, 19, said by police to have been a peddler of corn sugar to alcohol cookers, was killed by two youthful gunmen in front of his father's home last night.

REBUILDING STARTS IN QUAKE-TORN ZONE

Italian Peasants Take Up Routine, but Fear That Shocks May Return.

TOWNS WILL BE MOVED

Naples, July 31 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Eight days after the earthquake which shook six provinces of south Italy, the routine of life is being resumed in the devastated area. Peasants are returning to work in their fields and mills and bakeries are being reopened in half-ruined towns and hamlets.

Aquilonia and Villanova, relief workers report, must be rebuildt anew in safe localities and many of the sites of buildings destroyed in Lacedonia will be abandoned permanently because of the nature of the terrain on which they stood.

Distribution of foodstuffs among refugees from the quake-torn region still goes on, but abundant supplies have now reached the stricken areas from the bases here and at Foggia. Fifteen thousand homeless refugees are still sleeping in tents in Avellino Province, but earthquake-proof houses now being buildt as rapidly as possible will soon provide permanent shelter for them.

The Duchess of Aosta, a tireless worker ever since the quake, has just returned here from a second trip through Avellino where 12,000 more tents are being raised.

As the familiar round of life is resumed in the fields and mountain hamlets superstition once more flowers strangely among the over-credulous population in Naples and the surrounding countryside. People here fear that the earthquake may repeat itself at almost any hour now. There is an old superstition here that a second quake follows an initial one by eight days.

U. S. Suit on Railroad Involves $10,000,000

Spokane, Wash., July 31 (A.P.).—The Federal Government today filed against the Northern Pacific Railroad a suit expected to involve at least $10,000,000. The action seeks removal of certain indemnity lands from operation of the Federal land grant act of 1864 as modified in 1870 to quiet title of those lands, to secure an accounting and "for other purposes."

The suit was authorized by Congress on June 25, 1929, and was filed in Federal court here. The amount involved is stated as in "excess of $100,000," but the value of lands concerned and taxes thereon, attorneys believe, may amount to as much as $50,000,000.

Two Killed in Polish Hold-Up.

Lwow, Poland, July 31 (A.P.).—One bandit and one policeman were killed in a battle when bandits held up and robbed a mail train near Bobrka. The robbers secured about $3,500, a part of which was found in the pockets of the slain man. Police said there were five in the band.

POLICEMAN DENIES M'DONALD'S STORY

Former Bomb Squad Member Contradicts in Detail Identification Tale.

NURSE STIRS SESSION

San Francisco, July 31 (A.P.).—Testimony of John MacDonald, recanting witness in the Mooney-Billings bombing trial, today was emphatically contradicted by Police Capt. Charles Goff, before the California Supreme Court, hearing testimony on application of Warren K. Billings for a pardon recommendation.

Goff, in detail, denied allegations that he, as sergeant of the city bombing squad, had coached MacDonald to identify Billings and Thomas J. Mooney falsely. Both Billings and Mooney are serving life prison terms for the Preparedness Day bombing here in 1916 in which ten persons were killed.

MacDonald, the policeman testified, voluntarily identified Billings and Mooney from photographs before he had seen either of the men. The officer denied he had told MacDonald, while approaching Billings' cell, "there's your man."

MacDonald Walked Ahead.

MacDonald, a Baltimore waiter, yesterday and the day before testified he had perjured himself at the trial which resulted in the sentencing of the two men. As a witness who testified he saw the defendants near the scene of the bombing, much importance was attached to his testimony.

The captain said MacDonald walked ahead of him at City Prison until he came to Billings, and pointing to the prisoner said, "Here is one of them." In the case of Mooney, MacDonald was hesitant in identifying the photograph because Mooney wore a mustache. Goff said he put his thumb over the mustache in the picture and that MacDonald then tentatively identified him, saying "I think that's him."

Of Billings, Goff said MacDonald told him "here is the one that put the suitcase (containing the bomb) down."

Goff made emphatic denials of categorical statements elicited from MacDonald during his interrogation. He also related from memory many incidents of the time, chiefly remarks and acts attributed to the recanting witness who has changed his story to "clear his conscience."

Governor to Examine.

In his testimony, which elaborates an affidavit he made recently, the Baltimore waiter named Goff and Charles M. Fickert, district attorney in 1916, as having told him Mooney and Billings were the men he should identify and of having pointed them out to him so he could do it easily.

Vincent Kennedy, secretary to Gov. C. C. Young, announced today the governor and the advisory pardon board also will examine MacDonald in Sacramento Saturday afternoon. MacDonald will be the only witness in the hearing which is on the application of Mooney for a pardon.

The afternoon hearing was enlivened by the unexpected appearance of Miss Estelle Smith, one of the principal witnesses against Billings in the original trial.

After identifying herself as a former nurse who worked in a doctor's office at 731 Market street in 1916, Miss Smith testified she saw Billings about 12:45 p. m. the day of the bombing. She said he came to the office representing himself as a newspaper cameraman and wanted to go to the roof.

Went to Roof Later.

Billings had a suitcase, she continued, and when she refused him permission to go to the roof he sat down to wait for one of the doctors.

A little later he asked permission to leave the suitcase and Miss Smith said she started to give it to an office attendant.

"My God, don't touch that; you'll strain the lenses in my camera," Billings was quoted by the witness as shouting.

Later the man went to the roof with the suitcase, the witness said.

A few days later, Miss Smith continued, the "newspaper photographer's" picture appeared in the paper.

"It was Billings," Miss Smith declared.

Edwin McKenzie, Billings' attorney, asked that the court order Billings' appearance so he could confront Miss Smith.

McKenzie contended most of Miss Smith's testimony was new and Billings' appearance was necessary to protect his rights.

Fire Delays Liner's Globe-Circle Tour

President Harrison to Set Sail Today, Following Blaze at Dock.

Jersey City, N. J., July 31 (A.P.).—Fire discovered in a hold of the Dollar liner President Harrison three hours before she was to sail on a round-the-world cruise, was under control tonight. Great quantities of water were poured into the hatches, however, causing the ship's stern to stick in the mud of the Hudson River.

Fire tugs and land apparatus pumped into the vessel for more than three hours, but at 5 p. m., one hour past sailing time, only a few thin wisps of smoke continued to rise out of her hold and only a single stream was played into the ship.

Officials of the line would not estimate the damage at this time but believed the water could be pumped from the hatches to float the stern in time to put out for San Francisco, the first port of call, by noon tomorrow. The cause of the blaze was not determined. Cotton, tea and olive oil were stored in the holds where the fire started and served as ready fuel for the flames.

Four Killed, Five Hurt In Truck-Auto Crash

Asheville, N. C., July 31 (A.P.).—Four persons were killed and five injured today in a collision between a truck and an automobile 2 miles north of Weaversville.

The dead, all passengers on the truck and residents of Barnsville, N. C., are Tarse Tessner, Mrs. Cindy White, John White, Cecil Anderson. All the injured except two were brought to a hospital here.

KING GEORGE SIGNS LONDON NAVY PACT

Bill Effectuating Terms of Treaty to Be Approved by Peers Today.

OLD RITES TO BE SEEN

London, July 31 (A.P.).—King George has signed the instrument of ratification of the London naval treaty, which already has been ratified and signed in the United States.

Announcement of the king's signature was made somewhat unexpectedly by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in the House of Commons this afternoon. Mr. Snowden at the time added that the instrument would be deposited simultaneously with his majesty's ratifications in respect of the dominions and India and the ratificatons of the United States and Japan when all three signatories to part 3 of the treaty are in position to bring the treaty into force. Part 3 concerns the agreements reached by the delegates of the United States, Great Britain and Japan with respect to their relative naval armaments.

Chancellor Snowden's announcement created confusion in London as it is known the king's royal assent has not yet been given to the London naval treaty bill.

The position, however, was as follows: It is the ratification of the instrument to the treaty itself that the king has already signed. It is the London naval treaty bill—a purely technical measure containing the necessary legislation to bring the treaty into effect—that, with other bills, will receive royal assent in the House of Lords tomorrow. At this time, three peers, empowered by the king for the purpose under a royal commission, will convey his majesty's approval of the measure with a wealth of old-time ceremony.

Man in Narcotic Case Now Faces Rum Charge

John C. "Jack" Callahan, who was arraigned before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage last Monday on a narcotic charge and held for grand jury action, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a liquor charge growing out of the same raid. Callahan, through Attorneys John P. Mullen and James B. Archer, pleaded not guilty and demanded a trial by jury.

Callahan, when arrested last Saturday, had two gallons of liquor in his possession, according to the complaint filed with Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, chief prosecutor of the Police Court. Callahan recently pleaded guilty to another narcotic charge and was at liberty under a five-year probationary sentence.

Man Not Guilty on Rum Charge 2 Years Old

Tried before a Police Court jury yesterday, Elias Duke, of D street northeast near Eleventh street, was found not guilty on a liquor sale charge and guilty on a possession charge. The alleged offense occurred November 12, 1928, according to evidence.

The jury was out for more than 6 hours, taking the case at 11 o'clock. Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart prosecuted while Attorney Bertrand Emerson appeared for the defendant. Duke's arrest is said to have been made on a warrant charging sale, and a quantity of liquor and beer is said to have been seized when the raid was executed.

ALL U. S. CITIZENS IN CHINA REPORTED IN SAFETY BUT ONE would be responsible for whatever happens. The foreign office indicated an early reply would be made to a Washington State Department communication concerning Americans at Tsianfu, Shantung Province, reported endangered by Nationalist air raids against the rebels.

Government Forces Weakened.

With the bulk of its military forces massed north of the Yangtse to check the threatened incursion of Norhern rebel armies, the government was in a weakened position in its efforts to cope with Communists. It also was faced by defection within its ranks.

Refugees from Changsha reaching Hankow painted a ghastly picture of the destruction of that wealthy industrial city. A reign of error continued for 24 hours, they said, during which there was uncontrolled murder, incendiarism and pillaging. Having despoiled the city, including much foreign property, indications were that the raiders planned to withdraw shortly.

Authorities feared this indicated transferring activities to other cities.

Inspecion of Changsha by foreigners still was impossible.

Changsha Capture Surprise.

Hankow, China, July 31 (A.P.).—The capture of Changsha by central China Communists on Sunday was reported to have been a complete surprise today by refugees arriving here from the sacked city.

On Saturday morning conditions in Changha were normal bus at noon the Asiatic Petroleum Co. learned that a large body of Communists was advancing to the attack.

As defending government troops had not been paid and were considered unreliable, British Consul Harding advised his Nationals to gather before dark on the island in midriver where the foreign settlement is situated.

On Sunday evening rifle shots were heard on the mainland and government soldiers could be seen evacuating the native city. Reports were received that quantities of rifles and munitions had been surrendered to the Reds.

Spectacular Fires Seen.

After a night of terror, refugees on Monday morning saw spectacular fires burst out on the mainland. These spread throughout the city Monday night and Tuesday until the whole of it seemed to be ablaze.

Meanwhile line missionaries arrived by boat and on foot until the falling of the river on Tuesday morning compelled the gunboat Aphis to drop 5 miles down river and on Tuesday still further dow nto Hankow. The gunboats Teal and Palos were left to watch events at Changsha.

The Gnat and the Aphis subsequently left for Changsha again.

Reports from along the Peiping-Hankow aRilway line said that the reds were breaking up railway bridges from 25 to 40 miles north of Hankow. There are estimated to be 60,000 red soldiers in central China equipped with 45,000 rifles, field guns, airplanes and wireless.

(Associated Press.)

American officials in China do not consider additional gunboats necessary to protect lives and property of their nationals at Changsha.

Fragmentary dispatches from Admiral Charles B. McVay, jr., commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, transmitted this view to the Navy yesterday, while the State Department was being informed that all Americans except Allen Cameron, of Lawrence, Kans., were safe. The American Consul at Hankow, Richard P. Butrick, sent a list of Americans evacuated from the city.

Admiral McVay radioed a report of the disorders to the Navy Department saying all foreign residences in Changsha were safe except the Japanese Club which was destroyed when the Communists took the city.

Italian Missionary Safe.

Only the last half of the report was received today, but that portion said he did not consider another gunboat necessary to assist the Palos in its fight with Communists. The message said Communist firing had almost ceased.

Admiral McVay added that Father Braiman, Italian missionary, captured by the Communists at Changsha, was reported safe. It concluded with a terse "more later." Navy officials said he probably would not include in later dispatches the names of the five men aboard the Palos, wounded yesterday, unless they died.

Another gunboat, the Panay, had been ordered to Chinglingfow, about 100 miles from Changsha, but naval officers here said they believed in view of Admiral McVay's statement that the Panay would be held at Chinglingfow. Once all foreigners have been evacuated, they said, the Palos and the Panay might be withdrawn to Hankow to await a rise in the river next spring before returning to Changsha.

Problem of Admiral.

In face of possible attacks on other cities in the Yangtze area, Admiral McVay was confronted with the alternative of relying on gunboats with their 3-inch guns to protect foreigners and their property, or leaving larger vessels, such as destroyers, in the region of Hankow, 600 miles from sea, until next spring. The nearest destroyer, the Edsall, is at Shanghai, 800 miles from Changsha.

If this ship would be ordered up the Yangtze, it either would have to leave soon or wait until melting snows next spring raise the river water to a navigable depth.

Meanwhile, gunboats would have to run a gantlet of bandits to reach Hankow with supplies and ammunition.

Consul Cables Names.

Consul Butrick informed the State Department that all Americans except Mr. Cameron either had left Changsha before the Communist attack, or had been taken aboard the Palos. Those evacuated were:

William Lingle, of Salisbury, N. C.; George Heide, 347 Madison avenue, New York City; Charles Talbott, of Gibbon, Nebr.; Lester Jones, of Lynn, Ind.; Roy Worley, of Walkersville, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Farnham and two children, of Portland, Oreg.; James Pates, Route 1, Washington, Pa.; Edward Tudor Cowen, of Boston; Maud Russell, of Hayward, Calif., and Buchan Parker and Dr. Louise Farnham, whose addresses were not given and of whom the department has no record.

R-100, MANY HOURS OVERDUE, REPAIRS FIN, MAKES FOR FIELD

ship, and Maj. G. H. Scott, who brought the R-34 to America in 1919 for the first transatlantic dirigible flight, had gone back into the tail, inspected the damage and decided that temporar yrepairs could be made if the ship were allowed to drift. At 5:05, Eastern daylight time, the following radio came from the air giant, bearing 44 officers and men from England to Montreal.

"Have completed temporary repairs to fin. Making good 20 knots. Now 18 miles northeast of Quebec. Stand by to land me as soon as I arrive.

BOOTH."

Irony of Statement.

Squadron Leader Booth, in a statement which he apparently had prepared for release when it seemed certain the R-100 would arrive here and land in the calm air of twilight as he had planned, told of the "security and comfort" enjoyed by those aboard the British airship on their crossing from England.

He said there had been "no discomfort of any kind" and that the "inherent stability of the R-100 has made her handling childish play so that officers and men alike, instead of being worn and tired, are more in a mood for celebration of their glorious exploit."

His statement, sent through on the ship's wireless and read over the public announcement loud speakers and radios here this evening, added that "the flight has been completed in 70 hours," and boasted that the R-100 had picked up her first landfall on the American coast after a flight of only 46 hours.

DROUGHT PERSISTS DESPITE SHOWERS

The shortage of water at the Quantico Marine Base is such that 700 marines left yesterday on special liberty until Tuesday of next week. Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, Quantico commander, granted the leave following a visit of inspection Wednesday by Secretary of the Navy Adams.

Drought in this section has seriously depleted the water supply of the reservation, which entirely surrounds the town of Quantico.

The special liberty did not apply to the Nineteenth Reserve Regiment of 800 officers and men from New York City and vicinity, now undergoing training at Quantico. This regiment will leave the camp tomorrow, thus further relieving the drain on the dwindling water supply.

Meanwhile, a tank barge with a capacity of 54,000 gallons was loaded at Indianhead, Md., yesterday and reached Quantico yesterday afternoon. Two other barges are on their way with cargoes of fresh water, one from Elizabeth City, N. C., and the other from Deep Creek, Va. With their arrival the authorities believe the water supply will be adequate.

An order rationing water is now in effect at Quantico. Enlisted men are bathing at a beach established on the west shore of the Potomac River immediately south of the main reservation.

Construction of a new 2,000,000-gallon concrete tank is now under way and should be finished within 90 days. Engineers say there will be no further danger of water shortage at the base.

GEN. CALLES TO WED AT RANCH TODAY

in Los Angeles on a business trip for sveeral weeks, and returned by airplane to Mexico City this evening in order to attend the wedding tomorrow.

The ceremony will take place at Santa Barbara Ranch, on the Puebla road about 15 miles from Mexico City. Gen. Calles has owned it for several years, and it was there that he and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow ate a momentous breakfast of ham and eggs when Mr. Morrow first came to Mexico.

GEHLBACH NEARING AIR DERBY VICTORY

Arkansas Flier Has Lead of Nearly Four Hours; Bayles Gets Lap.

CONTEST ENDS TODAY

Chicago, July 31 (A.P.).—With only one lap yet to go, Lee Gehlbach, of Little Rock, Ark., was again in first place tonight in the All-American Air Derby.

The Arkansas aviator flew to Chicago from Lincoln, Nebr., today in 3 hours 48 minutes 27 seconds. This was ten minutes slower than the time made by Lowell Bayles, of Springfield, Mass., second place man, who won today's lap from Lincoln.

Gehlbach's unofficial elapsed time is about four hours less than the Massachusetts flier and virtually assures him of victory unless an accident befalls him in the final hop to Detroit tomorrow.

Contestants Drop Out.

Seven other fliers of the twenty who started are still in the race, but have little chance of overtaking the leaders. Herman Hamer, of La Salle, Ill., who had taken the lead in the West, was forced down yesterday in Nebaska and dropped from the race.

Joe Meehan, of Ironton, Ohio, who disappeared two days ago during the lap from Burbank, Calif., to Ogden, Utah, was found today by ranchers in Sand Springs Valley, Nev., where he had been forced down. He was unhurt.

The derby started in Detroit on July 21, and the route took the fliers East to the Atlantic Coast, across the South to California and back across the Middle West. The derby was designed as a reliability test for small-type planes.

How Leaders Stand.

Jimmy Weddell, of New Orleans, who experienced trouble with his plane at Los Angeles and fell behind the other contestants, arrived at Lincoln, Nebr., this morning after a flight from Ogden, Utah. Weddell and Hamer took off from Lincoln for Chicago this afternoon after making repairs to their planes.

The following table shows the order of the arrival of fliers here from Lincoln and their elapsed time:

Flier.	Elapsed time.
Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass.	3:38:30
Lee Gehlbach, Little Rock	3:48:27
Charles Meyers, Cleveland	4:00:24
Henry Ogden, Inglewood, Calif.	4:06:07
W. F. Cahill, Cleveland	4:20:38
Cecil Coffrin, Brooklyn	4:33:10
R. W. Holloday, Rapidan, Va.	5:01:17
Lawrence Brown	5:07:10

The eight planes will take off for Detroit at 11 a. m., Central standard time, tomorrow, in the order of their arrival today.

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—Acquisition of the Harris, Forbes Companies by the Chase Securities Corporation, an affiliate of the Chase National Bank, to form the largest security distributing organization in the country, has been agreed on, subject to legal formalities and approvals.

Announcement of the transaction was made late today. The Chase is acquiring the entire capital stock of Harris, Forbes Companies, which owns the various operating concerns bearing the Harris, Forbes name. The Harris, Forbes interests will become large stockholders of the Chase National Bank, largest banking institution in the world, and Chase Securities Corporation. Terms of the exchange of stock were not revealed.

The Harris, Forbes Corporations will retain their separate identities, the announcement said, and will continue business as heretofore under the same executive department. They will also continue the long standing relationship in the distribution of investment securities with the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, of Chicago. It was said that Chase would have no financial interest in Harris Trust & Savings.

Estate of $1,500,000 Left by C. A. Spalding

Charles A. Spalding, Washington financier, who died June 25, left an estate valued at more than $1,500,000, according to the petition for the probate of his will filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court by Harold S. Deming, of New York City, the executor.

Mr. Spalding's estate consists of real estate valued at $274,800 and personal property estimated to be worth $1,290,000. Under the terms of the will the majority of the estate goes to the testator's cousins, one of whom is the executor. Employes receive $24,000. Attorneys Burton & Marye appear for the estate.

VALUATION ORDERED OF STREET RAILWAYS

both along the line of valuation and in decisions directly affecting the rate of earnings.

Opponents of the car fare boost contend that the utilities commission made its mistake in not ordering a revaluation of the car companies before it refused to grant the companies higher fares. Had this been done, it is said, the fare increase could have been staved off pending the completion of the revaluation. Decision of the commission yesterday to revalue will not affect the collection by the companies of the higher fares ordered by Justice Jennings Bailey of the District Supreme Court pending the outcome of the revaluation proceedings.

Must Pay for Experts.

The proceedings, however, will prove something of a burden to the car companies and cost them money both for their own experts and for those employed by the commission. Under the law the commission is authorized to assess the companies for the salaries of experts and costs incident to valuation proceedings.

This fact may, in conjunction with other things, bring the companies to the point where they again will take up the question of merger with a genuine desire to have it put through on a basis satisfactory to the Utilities Commission and to Congress. Commission officials believe that the street car companies are not going to get the additional revenue they expected from the 10 cents cash fare. They believe that the higher fare will accelerate the rate at which the number of street car passengers has been declining and the net result will not be helpful to the companies.

This falling off in the number of passengers carried also is to be made much of by Mr. Keech, when it comes time to argue over the elements of valuation at the public hearings, which will be held a year and a half or so from now when the physical inventory of the companies has been completed and the commission has studied the data gathered. Mr. Keech contends that the companies may not now justify the same claims for "going concern" value and other things that it made in the former valuation proceedings.

Sees Loss of Value.

Because of the increase in the number of private automobiles, the increased number of taxicabs and the decrease in taxicab rates and other developments, Mr. Keech contends, the actual value of the street car companies as going businesses is vitally different and very much less than back in the days when the car companies were considered to have practically a monopoly on public transportation.

The new valuation proceedings will be launched as soon as the commission can prepare a formal order serving notice on the companies and public of its purpose. In the beginning the work will be done by members of the staff of commission engineers, accountants and others. When the work has progressed sufficiently far to need the services of experts who will be accepted as such in the courts, these will be employed by the commission and the bills will be sent to the car companies.

One of the points which Mr. Keech will emphasize in the course of the proceedings is the inclusion in the companies' valuation figures of large amounts of equipment and materials and trackage and buildings which are outworn or obsolete and not deserving of inclusion at the figure at which they have been listed. The companies deny that there is any large amount involved in such a manner.

French Managers Refuse Moliere

Paris Chuckles at Joke on Theater Men Played by Prince Bibesco.

Paris, July 31 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—All Paris is chuckling along with her many young unrecognized playwrights at a joke played on the theatrical managers of the French capital by Prince Antoine Bibesco, revealing that Moliere, one of France's greatest dramatists, came back to this city today he could not get a play accepted for production.

The hoax has also brought out that at least seven French theater managers either have never read Moliere or do not so much as glance at the manuscripts submitted to them by aspiring unknowns. Prince Bibesco had seven copies of Moliere's "George Dandin," typed, changing only the title of the play and the names of the characters and sent them to seven theater managers, signing a fictitious name to the script.

Not one manager accepted the play or even offered to consider it. Three returned the manuscript with polite regrets. The other four apparently threw the manuscripts. The other four apparently threw the manuscripts sent them into a drawer and promptly forgot them. Of the two possibilities Prince Bibesco prefers to think that the Paris managers do not take the trouble to read the plays submitted to them. Of the two possibilities Prince Bibesco prefers to thinh that the Paris managers do not take the trouble o read the plays submitted to them unless they come from some playwright who has already arrived.

Liner-to-Shore Race Won By Man Aboard Blimp Taxi

Goodyear-Zeppelin Official Taken From Bremen's Deck to New York Hotel One Hour Before Sons Arrive by Usual Pier Route.

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—The 120-foot blimp Mayflower, turned aerial taxicab for the moment today when it landed on a 35-foot square of cleared deck of the liner Bremen, swinging at anchor at quarantine, took aboard a passenger and sailed away.

The operation was carried through as casually as one would hail and enter a taxicab, although many of the Bremen sailors who acted as a landing crew never had seen a blimp before.

The passenger was Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation, of Akron, Ohio, who was returning from a business and pleasure trip abroad.

After an hour's aerial tour of the city Mr. Litchfield was landed at Holmes Airport, in Queens, and driven to his hotel. He waited more than an hour before his two sons, who were passengers with him on the Bremen, arrived. They had landed at the Bremen's Brooklyn pier and been rushed through the customs in an effort to beat their father to the hotel.

The operation had no particular commercial significance, but it made a gorgeous show for the Bremen's passengers and those aboard harbor and pleasure craft, a number of which hovered around the Bremen, attracted by the circling blimp.

Three trained men from Akron boarded the Bremen at quarantine and recruited a landing crew from among the Bremen's sailors, their preliminary orders being given to the men through an interpreter. Then a wind indicator, or "sock" as fliers call it, was waved, and the Mayflower, circling overhead, pointed her nose downward.

Edging up toward the stern of the Bremen at slow speed, the Mayflower cut her motors a few feet out and drifted in over the after deck, four landing ropes trailing. The amateur ground crew grabbed the ropes and pulled the big bag down to the deck.

Mr. Litchfield stepped aboard, waved his hand a few times for the cameramen, the crew upped ship" and the blimp floated away. She cut in her motors when 50 feet in the air and, in a din of whistles, turned her gleaming silver nose toward the spires of Manhattan.

Aboard the Mayflower were Karl Fickes, crack pilot for the Goodyear Zeppelin people, and Robert Wilson, copilot.

CANADA RUM SALES IN U.S. HELD SMALL

Only 2 Per Cent Comes From Dominion, Says Lowman in Talk.

RADIO CARRIES ADDRESS

(Associated Press.)

Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury said last night only 2 per cent of the intoxicants sold in this country come from Canada.

Speaking over the Columbia Broadcasting Co. system, Mr. Lowman said $25,000,000 of liquor was exported from Canada to the United States last year but that much of this was "short circuited" back into that country where they have "bootleggers and speakeasies who thrive after 6 o'clock when the government liquor stores are closed."

Mr. Lowman, who formerly was in charge of prohibition enforcement, touched upon the Canadian liquor question in a review of the work and organization of the customs and Coast Guard border and sea patrols. He approved the plans for a unified border patrol as one which would simplify the work and make it more effective.

Most of this work now falls under his supervision in his new post.

The Assistant Secretary separated smugglers into two classes: Those who smuggle for profit and those who try to escape paying duty on personal belongings purchased abroad.

Those in the first class, he said, were unusually skillful and dangerous criminals, but the others were mostly women who "just can not understand why they should pay duty on foreign-made finery and jewels they bring home from abroad."

He told of one woman who paid over $200,000 in penalties this summer.

The chase of the criminal smugglers provides the real thrill of the customs service, he said, pointing to the 4,500 miles of borders and the long stretches of sea coast the Coast Guard and customs service must guard to prevent smuggling.

Mr. Lowman said all provisions of the tariff law must be vigorously enforced by requiring all goods imported to pay a full tax and to keep out goods produced by convict labor or surpluses of other countries which might be dumped here.

U. S. FARM MENACED BY HUGE FOREST FIRE

last night and were given first aid by the department's physician.

Breaking out about 7 o'clock in the morning in a lone spot in the heavy woods about 1 mile east of the little town of Beltsville, on the Baltimore boulevard about 15 miles northeast of Washington, the fire spread gradually through underbrush and timber until 1 o'clock in the afternoon before it attracted general attention.

An alarm brought out the Branchville Fire Department, and in fast order appeals called to the scene volunteer companies from Hyattsville, Riverdale, Bladensburg, Cottage City, College Park, Mount Rainier, Laurel, Glendale, Capitol Heights, Berwyn Heights, Riverdale Heights, Burntwood, Boulevard and Bowie.

Handicapped by absence of water, firemen intensively backfired along the blazing borders but were hard pressed as fitful winds of the afternoon developed briskly early last night.

Considerable concern was felt for a time for the experimental farm, with its score or more structures, which lay in the direct path of the spreading conflagration. The 116 men there were called into service. Successful backfiring, a welcome rain and a change in direction of the wind combined to check the blaze.

A two-story frame house, said to have been unoccupied, was destroyed by the fire.

MORE DRY AGENTS ARE TO BE SOUGHT

He reiterated his intention to concentrate the activities of the bureau primarily upon the large scale violators and spoke again of his reliance upon the staff of special investigators assigned to ferret out wholesale conspiracies.

Divided Into Twelve Groups.

These special agents, about 200 in number, are divided into twelve groups, one for each enforcement division. The twelve chieftains of these groups will confer with Mr. Woodcock today upon matters of procedure, discipline and policy.

The permit supervisors also will meet today, with Mr. Woodcock addressing them upon the subject of cooperation between their workers and those of the enforcement bureau. Mr. Doran talked along this line yesterday at the meeting of administrators.

Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, in charge of prohibition, also addressed the administrators. His remarks were devoted to methods, cooperation with the district attorneys, and the conduct of the agents in the field.

Mr. Woodcock is planning to make the first of an extended series of tours of inspection early in September. This will take him into the enforcement district composed of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. Later in the fall he expects to visit New York and New England.

STEEL UNION BACKED BY FORMER OFFICER

Youngstown Man Avers He Would Not Be Swayed by Bonus Expose.

AUDITING PLAN SHIFTED

Youngstown, Ohio, July 31 (A.P.).—A former director of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., today defended, from the witness stand the merger of the company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and denied that knowledge of Bethlehem's bonus system, under which President Eugene G. Grace was paid $1,623,753 in 1929, would have influenced him to oppose the deal.

The witness was John W. Ford, who resigned from the Youngstown company board to go to Europe following the meeting of the stockholders April 8, when the merger was ratified.

Attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests, who are suing for an injunction against the merger, questioned Mr. Ford about information at hand when the directors approved the deal. He acknowledged that nothing was said about the Bethlehem bonus system, but said the fact that Bethlehem paid bonuses would have made no difference in his vote.

Before questioning Mr. Ford the Eaton attorneys obtained figures on further Bethlehem bonuses and salaries from defense attorneys and introduced them into the record. They revealed that Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board for Bethlehem, receives an annual salary of $150,000 and no bonus. Mr. Schwab apportions the bonus, which in 1929, amounted to 6.54 per cent of the net earnings, among various high officials of the corporation.

Mr. Ford was taken over as a defense witness after the Eaton attorneys brought from him an explanation of why he and other directors refused to furnish a committee of stockholders, opposed to the merger, with information. He said he did not believe they wanted the information "in good faith."

He accepted responsibility also for refusal of the directors to delay their action on the merger on the requests of Mr. Eaton. He made the motion, he said, that the board proceed without delay.

Much of Mr. Ford's testimony was a repetition of that furnished by H. G. Dalton, Frank Purnell, James A. Campbell and other officials of the Youngstown company. He said the Youngstown company needed the merger because it needed diversification of products and he quoted Purnell as saying to the directors that "the golden days of the pipe business are coming to an end."

From William N. McDonald, comptroller of the Youngstown company, Eaton attorneys brought out testimony to show the company changed its methods of accounting in 1929. Mr. McDonald denied any effort to depress earnings or assets.

Year in Jail, $500 Fine For Alleged Radical

Birmingham, Ala., July 31 (A.P.).—Joe Carr, 21, reputed communist, was fined $500 and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment in the county jail after his conviction on a charge of vagrancy here today.

Carr was arrested last Friday night during a gathering of alleged communist sympathizers. Police previously had warned leaders of the party that such meetings would be broken up. Tom Johnson, professed communist party leader for the district including Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia, and Harry Jackson and Frank Burns, organizers for a reputed communist branch organization, are under appeal bonds following their conviction on vagrancy charges several days ago. All were fined $50 and given suspended sentences of twelve months.

Albuquerque, N. Mex., July 31 (A.P.)—Twenty-four persons were indicted today by the Federal grand jury which has investigated alleged conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws at Hot Springs, N. Mex.

Among those under arrest are Mayor Leo Smith, C. L. Hedrick, A. J. Howe, Dr. A. C. White and O. Salcido, who compose the present city council; Harry Kendall, former councilman; W. C. Kendall, former sheriff of Sierra County; Riley Cleveland, town attorney; A. J. Highfill, former police judge and justice of the peace; W. A. Graham, former town treasurer.

Five Boys Face Charge Of Burning Apartments

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—Five boys, ranging in age from 13 to 19, were under arrest in Brooklyn today charged with setting fire to apartment houses and robbing them during the excitement. Police said they confessed.

The loss in fires attributed to the boys aggregated $100,000, officials estimated. They said $5,000 worth of property was stolen. Twenty persons were injured in the fires. The roundup of the boys followed the arrest of one, who was declared to have been under investigation since May.

HIDE IN THE DARK

By FRANCES NOYES HART
Author of "The Bellamy Trial"

Between Us Two.

Hanna, with a shiver that rippled to the tips of her fingers, moved closer to the fire and Gavin Dart stretched out a solicitous hand.

"Still cold, Hanna? Oh, cold as ice! Shall I get your scarf?" Lindy rose swiftly to her feet, saying, "It's too cold for any of us in these absurd clothes—and besides, we'll simply ruin them bobbing for apples.

"Let's all run up and put on the old smocks. I found them in a drawer at home and brought a whole suitcase full. They look better than ever. And I brought sweaters for the men, too. Is every one finished?"

But Trudi was already seizing energetically on the nearest tray.

"Chatty and I'll get after this while the rest of you prink," she announced with decision. "We're the girls that know how to dress on occasions of state. You can bring us down the smocks for dishwashing, but if you try and work that bright pink one off on me again, you'll do your own dishes."

Chatty, all dimples, called after the retreating figures, "The light blue's mine, Lindy, darling. Shall we fold up these tables, Trudi?"

"Dunno—let's gather up the dishes first. This whole performance is simply a rich and sumptuous dodge on my part to pass a few words with you, my duck. Not having laid eyes on you for a year, I feel in need of catching up. I trust it's mutual?"

"Oh, Trudi, darling, I've been simply longing to get at you ever since we arrived."

Trudi, gathering up the dishes with as much speed and precision as though she were the king of bus boys, paused to remark over her shoulder: "That was the doggonedest performance of Kit's! I thought for about three delicious seconds that I was going to see a perfectly good fight for once in my life without paying $50 for a ringside seat."

Chatty inquired in awestricken tones, "Trudi, you don't think they were really angry, do you? Why, Kit was laughing all the time. I could see him and he was, honestly—and he never lifted his voice."

"Laughing, was he?" inquired Trudi darkly. "Not—so—good. Kit must have been a whole lot wilder than I thought and I thought he was pretty good and wild."

"Well, I do think it was stupid of Doug to start that tune," said Chatty forlornly. "Of couse I did the same thing, too, but I realized it almost the minute I'd done it, and Doug went straight ahead trampling over every one to get at poor Lindy—and Jill looking as though she were going to die and Joel glaring like a wild cat. I think it was simply awful! I don't blame Kit for stopping it. I'd have stopped it myself if I'd been near enough."

"Great grief, child, I'm not blaming him!"

"And I don't blame him for being a little angry with Doug, either, for not remembering," continued the gentle Chatty feverishly. "When you think how Sunny——"

"But, my good child, he did remember. Even the words—didn't you hear him?"

"No, I mean about how it was Sunny's own tune—how she——"

"Oh, Chatty, how does any one as guileless as you survive in this world of sin? Doug remembered perfectly. He even remembered what happened the last time he played it. He didn't turn the wretched thing on because he didn't remember—he turned it on because he didn't care."

He Loved Sunny, Too.

Chatty set down her burdened tray with a small crash, her eyes round with horror. "Oh, Trudi, how could he not care? He loved Sunny, too! He was crazy about her! Don't you remember what a tremendous rush he gave her that last fall? Don't you remember that paper chase when they both got lost for hours and we were sure that it was on purpose? And that moonlight picnic that we went on to Great Falls, when we waited till nearly 1 o'clock for them, and Sunny had lost her hat when they came back? It was such a darling hat—a little scoopy green one with buttercups and white clover. And Sunny just laughed and Doug said that he'd get her another if she'd promise to lose it again with him. I do think that he was crazy about her, Trudi."

"Well, who wasn't?" inquired Trudi, unimpressed. "You know as well as I do that Joel and Kit and Tom were all perfectly cuckoo about her. As for Neil Sheridan, he was simply demented on the subject. He told me before he asked me to marry him that he thought it was only fair to me to let me know that he couldn't ever care for me the way he had for Sunny; and he actually had the insolence to keep me up for three hours one night reading me about four cubic feet of letters that he'd written to her and never sent, because he felt that he wasn't good enough for her. They were sweet, too—you'd have married him yourself, if you'd heard them. Was Tom as bad as that?"

"I don't know," said Chatty humbly. "I never thought about how much he loved me. I just thought he was the most wonderful person that ever lived or breathed. Ever since the first time my brother brought him home for the Easter holidays from Harvard I knew that every other man that I ever met would seem like a poor copy of Tom. I was a fat little 14-year-old imbecile who never got over 70 at school and had light eyelashes and one tooth out and a dreadful stutter. He used to take me for long walks, and help me over all the logs, and read all the easiest things to me out of the Golden Treasury—and he had a Phi Beta Kappa key and was the star man on the debating team. Oh, Trudi, I'd have blacked his boots!"

"Tom always was rather nice," said Trudi.

"Trudi, I'd black them now. You don't know—nobody in the world knows—how—how beautiful Tom is. He's so kind." The candid gray eyes flooded suddenly with tears, and Chatty added with an apologetic smile, "It's silly of me, but I can't learn to be sensible about him, Trudi, do you know that never once since we've been married has Tom said one unkind word to me? No, nor even an impolite one. I don't believe that a great many married people could say that, do you?"

"Just off-hand, I should say nary one, Chatty."

"I'm not even touching these dishes," murmured Chatty, with a conscience-stricken glance at the still laden tables. "They've left glasses simply everywhere." She picked one up gingerly from the stand by the phonograph, eying the black disc with an expression of sick distaste. "I simply hate that tune! D'you know, Trudi, each time that it's played I've had the strangest, most frightening feeling, as though we'd called her back and she were somewhere in the room, watching us—watching us and wondering how we could bear to be so happy when she can't play with us any more. That's nonsense, isn't it, Trudi?"

When They Married.

Trudi said, "I wonder——. It must be lonely being dead." She pushed the hair back from her forehead and remarked with a grim smile to the pallid Chatty, "Cheer up, darling. If Sunny is anywhere around, she may not be envying us this party. In my far from humble opinion, Mrs. Ross, there's something just the least bit rum about this party."

"Oh, Trudi, its wonderful. All of us together again after all these years. I can't believe it—it's too beautiful to be true. I've missed you all so! You most, Trudi, because we used to have such simply splendid times together. D'you remember how I used to beg mummy to let me go home with you after parties and we'd lie awake talking under our breaths till we were so excited that we'd forget, and your father would bang on the wall for us to stop?"

"I remember," said Trudi. "What did we talk about, Chatty?"

"We talked about us," said Chatty. "About what we'd do when we were married — and what flowers our bridesmaids should carry — and whether we'd go to Europe for our honeymoons—and what we'd call our children. . . . We weren't even engaged—no one in the world had ever asked me to marry them. It's funny how sure I was——"

"I was sure, too," said Trudi, the gay mouth suddenly bitter. "I was going to call mine Margot, after my great-aunt. And the little boy was going to be Peter—why does every one always call little boys Peter? It's an obsession."

"You needn't look at me so accusingly," laughed Chatty, once more joyous. "I haven't a single child called Peter. The baby's Hope. Don't you like Hope? You don't think they'll tease her about it the way they did me about Charity?"

"Did we tease you, Chatty?" asked Trudi, the brisk voice oddly gentle. "I wish we hadn't teased you. And I wish that I knew Hope and the rest of 'em! They must be rather nice, if they take after their parents."

"Oh, Trudi, I do wish you did! You seem farther away in New York than in all those other places. Sometimes I feel as though Hartsdale were 20,000 miles from Park avenue instead of 20."

"Chatty—Chatty is it I who have made you feel that"

"You, darling?" Her eyes widened in candid surprise. "Oh, never. How in the world could you? It's just that I've wanted so awfully to have you see the house—and every time I get everything all fixed up so that it's simply ravishing, Dick comes down with German measles, or Bohemia gets temperamental and wants to get married again, or Tom has to stay in to work over Sunday—and once I honestly was trying to get you on the telephone when little Tom fell over the banisters right spang under my nose and broke his collar bone. I was perfectly wild—I'd just put up the new glazed chintz curtains and painted the porch furniture jade green and I wanted you so awfully——" She halted, her eyes round with distressed consternation. "Trudi—Trudi, darling, what is it?" She pushed the dishes recklessly aside, catching at Trudi's arm. "Trudi, did I say something dreadful? I never saw you cry—darling, are you crying?"

A Misunderstanding.

"Chatty, I never saw myself. Let's investigate—perhaps we're both mistaken." She produced two inches of cobweb and lace, applied it experimentally to either eye and inspected it critically. "No—we were entirely correct. I haven't cried since a black kitten called Bony died when I was 9¾——"

"No, no, you needn't laugh, Trudi, it was something I said."

"Something you said, my innocent? It was every last mortal word you said—though I rather think it was the bit about the jade green furniture that completely demoralized me Did you paint it yourself?"

"Tom and I did. Over Decoration Day, you know. We always have perfectly divine times on holidays, getting everything cleared up that we've been talking about for weeks and weeks. Last selection day——"

"You and your measles and your chintzes and your perfectly divine times," said Trudi thickly. "Chatty, come here. I've never told you—I've never told you how sorry I was when Tom and Sherry broke up. I was horribly sorry, Chatty."

"I know." The clear eyes met Trudi's troubled ones bravely. "I was sorry, too, darling."

"I started three letters to you—and I tore them all up. I didn't know what to say, or how to say it. It simply came like a thunderbolt to me. I thought they were getting on so beautifully. You see, Sherry never told me what happened."

"Didn't he, Trudi?"

"Not a word, except that there had been a misunderstanding about policy that made it advisable for them to separate. Did Tom tell you?"

"No." The small, sober voice hesitated for a moment, and then said quickly, "Not even that there was a misunderstanding. Not anything. Just that he was going to try to get another job."

"I wouldn't have minded so much," said Trudi, staring down at their clasped hands, "if we hadn't run into such infernally good luck after that and you into such infernally bad. I was in Cairo when Tom had pneumonia——"

"It wasn't luck that made him have a hard time," said Chatty. Her eyes never wavered, but her lips trembled suddenly and she caught her teeth in them. "It was me—and the children. It was just when the second baby was coming, you see, and we didn't have much saved up, and I was sick all the time—and it was summer and all the offices were cutting down—and then he got pneumonia. And so we had rather a dreadful time for a while, and instead of being able to help, I was just a burden. Oh, Trudi, I'd meant to help him so!"

"Chatty, I don't believe that any woman in this world ever helped a man more."

"No, no; I've ruined him. Every one knows what his mind is. He had the best mind in law school—Sherry said so himself. But, Trudi, he doesn't dare strike out for himself, because of us. He doesn't even dare ask for raises because he can't forget those three months when he hadn't any job and those old ghouls down there know it." She cried suddenly in a voice shaken and transformed by passion, "I'd like to kill them. Giving him more work and more work—and he's not even a junior partner—after eight years." And more passionately still, "He ought to be president of the Bar Association. He ought to be President of the United States."

Trudi yielded to helpless mirth at the outraged pride of the small, flaming face. "Oh, Chatty, he's luckier than Presidents—he has you."

"Oh, me—I'm no good at all—I'm worse than no good. And he can't bear not having us have everything. Why, last winter he went without a winter overcoat because I just said casually that I thought that new tea-wagon that the Elstons had was awfully tricky and convenient. I——" She cast a horrified eye over her shoulder in the direction of the voices in the hall and made a frantic pounce for her tray. "Oh, Trudi, good heavens, they're back and we haven't half finished."

Trudi, tucking the cobweb away thoughtfully in her cuff, gave her one of her rare and radiant smiles, as she picked up her tray. "I love you, Chatty. You're the most absurd creature that ever lived. That's the reason that I've always loved you better than any one else, I suppose. Lindy, where do we put this stuff—in the butler's pantry?"

"Yes. It won't take us a minute to wash them up—we'll all help. Trudi, here's your smock—yours, too, darling."

HOOVER OPPOSITION SEEN BY NORRIS AIDS

Friends Say Reece Letter Is Move to Help Defeat Veteran Senator.

STAND ON POWER CITED

An attempt to defeat Senator George W. Norris in Nebraska is seen here as the real purport of President Hoover's recent letter to Representative B. Carroll Reece (Republican), Tennessee, placing the President on record as opposed to Government operation of the power plants at Muscle Shoals.

This explanation, which is advanced by friends of Senator Norris in the Capital, serves to clear up some of the mystification as to why the President should have abandoned his long-standing policy of noninterference in party primaries, ostensibly for the purpose of aiding a comparatively obscure member of the House. Such intervention by Presidents has occurred only rarely in recent years and, in the present instance, represents a complete about-face in President Hoover's policy heretofore.

The history of Mr. Reece's connection with Muscle Shoals legislation is cited by Mr. Norris' friends to reinforce their contention. When the Norris resolution, providing for Government operation of the Muscle Shoals power plants, passed the Senate during the last Congress, it was Representative Reece who was chosen to bring in a substitute bill calling for private operation. The Reece bill passed the House under tactics which prevented a vote on the Norris measure; and in conference later when Norris offered a compromise it was Mr. Reece's vote that prevented acceptance.

There was considerable surprise at this, because enactment of the compromise measure would have meant the expenditure of many millions of dollars in Mr. Reece's own district, a contingency ordinarily welcomed by a member of the House.

Thus Mr. Reece and Mr. Norris were aligned against each other on the question of private vs. public operation of Muscle Shoals, and the President, by siding with the representative, has aligned himself against the senator.

It is reported here that arrangements are already in progress to make use of the President's letter to Mr. Reece in the Nebraska Republican primary against Senator Norris. State Treasurer W. M. Stebbins, of Nebraska, the regular Republican candidate against the veteran senator, is campaigning on a "stand by the President" platform, and in some of his speeches has accused Mr. Norris of neglecting Nebraska for Muscle Shoals. The President's letter would harmonize with the Stebbins campaign strategy, and the fact that it was written to a Tennesseean rather than a Nebraskan could be cited as refutation of the possible charge that the President was interfering in Nebraska politics.

ILL, FACES DRUG ARREST

MARY NOLAN'S ILLNESS HOLDS UP SERVICE OF DRUG WRITS

she might undergo an operation. The complaining nurses had told Commissioner Head Miss Nolan suffered an intestinal ailment curable by operation.

Police officers said, due to the actress' absence from the places to be searched, that no effort to serve the warrants would be made.

As Imogene Wilson, the actress figured in an amorous affair with Frank Tinney, comedian, in New York City a few years ago. The incident culminated in her charges that Tinney had beaten her. She came to Hollywood three years ago, resuming her family name of Nolan.

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—The histrionic career of Mary Nolan, confined today in a Los Angeles hospital while Federal authorities sought her on a charge of violating the narcotic laws, has been fraught with vicissitudes.

Notoriety, bane of actors, attacked her when she was at the peak of her initial success. Choosing her for her exceptional blonde beauty, Florence Ziegfeld glorified her. While rehearsing for the 1924 Follies she was named corespondent by Mrs. Frank Tinney, wife of a noted stage comedian. She was then known as Imogene Wilson.

She sought the arrest of Mr. Tinney, she alleging he had beaten her severely and thrown her into the street. A short time later she called police and said she was dying. The police found she had partaken of candy-coated medicinal tablets which were nonpoisonous.

She sued Mr. Tinney for $100,000 for injuries, and when later the grand jury refused to indict him and he bought passage for Europe, she went to the boat and, according to ship reporters, kissed him good-by.

Mr. Ziegfeld, on learning of this, dismissed her from the Follies after having said he would "back her to the limit."

Disillusioned, she went to Europe under her proper name, Mary Robertson. She starred in German films. An American producer from the West, failing to link Mary Robertson with Imogene Wilson, recommended she be brought to Hollywood. Under the name of Mary Nolan she did go West and started her meteoric rise to the motion picture fame she had tossed away on the legitimate stage.

Meantime, Mr. Tinney's star, in the ascendancy prior to his escapades with Imogene Wilson, fell to oblivion. His wife divorced him and was granted alimony.

Meantime Mary Nolan, who rose from the ashes of Imogene Wilson, had reached stardom in the movies and within the last few weeks the firm employing her had said "We wouldn't take hundreds of thousands of dollars for her contract."

19,000 U.S. WORKERS GET NEW PAY RAISES

Bulk of Number Benefited Under Brookhart Bill Live in Capital.

$250,000 IS TOTAL SUM

Nearly a quarter of a million dollars swelled the pay envelopes of Government employes in Washington yesterday, the first pay day the new schedule of salaries under the Brookhart bill was in effect. About 19,000 workers are estimated to have shared in the raise.

Most of the raises amounted to $60 a year, but some of them were $100 or $200. A check of the various offices and departments showed that from 10 to 25 per cent of the employes in each section profited by the increases. One office showed that only about 2 per cent received raises, however, while in another almost half of the personnel benefited. The low unit was the office of Public Buildings and Parks, where only 38 of the 2,500 workers found anything extra in the semimonthly envelope.

The greatest number of changes affected employes in Washington. Estimates of the number of field employes benefited range from 1,500 to 2,500.

Nearly all the personnel employes worked overtime computing the new schedules. The amount of the increases are dependent on the amount of raise under the Welch act, under which certain workers were included, and the record of each employe had to be checked to learn how much he had benefitted under the other law.

KILLING OF HUSBAND LAID TO HEAT WAVE

Wife Held to Grand Jury as Lawyers Blame Hot Rooms for Act.

CONDITION CALLED WEAK

Mrs. Myrtle Lenore Williams yesterday was held for action of the grand jury by a coroner's jury investigating the death of the woman's husband in Emergency Hospital. Defense attorneys indicated that they would plead the extreme heat of the apartment at 3541 Tenth street northwest, where the man was shot more than a week ago, as the reason for the shooting.

The husband, Claude C. Williams, 55 years old, was fired on by his wife one scorching hot morning when he refused to give her money for food. The woman said the heat in the apartment reached 110 degrees on the morning of the attack, in the statement she made to police shortly afterward. Defense attorneys drew from the policemen who investigated, Detective W. S. Smoot and Pvts. E. H. Hinson and E. C. Rhue, of the Tenth Precinct, the statement that the rooms occupied by the couple were extremely hot.

The weakened condition of the woman and her heart attacks led the defense counsel, E. Russell Kelly and H. M. Welch, to refrain from questioning her before the coroner's jury.

Williams died Tuesday in Emergency Hospital. The wife, who is two years younger than the man, was arrested at once and charged with murder.

Wrench Falls on His Head.

Lester C. Gosney, 24 years old, of 1507 M street northwest, was injured yesterday when a wrench fell on his head at Thirteenth street and New York avenue, where he was working. He was treated at Emergency Hospital.

Pension Checks On New Ratings

Some Will Not Receive Raise, but Voucher Will Be Sent Later.

The greater annuities for retired Government workers granted by Congress in the last regular session will become a reality to several hundred pensioners today when they receive checks made out under the new and higher schedule. Though there are about 18,000 retired Government workers on the pay roll, not all of them will share immediately in the raises, due to the inability of the pension office personnel to finish making up the new pay rolls in time.

Those who do not share this time will not lose, however, as all increases are to be effective July 1. They will receive checks made out on the old schedule this month and will receive vouchers for the difference when their new rate is computed.

An unofficial statement placed the average of the old pension at $760 per year, and it is thought that the new average will be about $890. In no case, by the provisions of the Dale-Lehibach bill, will the present pension be less than that received under the old system.

Hamburg Firm Loses $240,000 in Lawsuit

Judgments of $80,000 each were entered yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court against Germann & Co., of Hamburg, Germany, and in favor of the Asia Banking Corporation, of New York City, and joint litigants, Corrie, McColl & Son, of London, and Hanson & Orth, also of New York City. The entry was made after Dean H. Stanley, attorney for the German concern, had filed the consent of his client, and concludes litigation in which recovery of $350,000 was sought.

Alien Property Custodian Howard Sutherland holds $700,000 of the German company's funds; and with the settlement of the two suits the Hamburg firm will be free to draw 80 per cent of what remains to its credit with the Government agent. The judgments are in settlement of claims which are said to represent advances on a consignment of hemp from Manila to London.

Women on Probation in Theft.

Della Hunt and Susie Jackson, charged by police with receiving property stolen from the Naval Air Station, were placed on probation yesterday in Police Court. At the same time warrants charging two men with larceny were sworn out. The arrest of the women is said to have followed raids on two houses in the southwest and two houseboats in the Anacostia River.

NEW ENFORCEMENT PLANS.

Amos W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, promises to enforce the prohibition law "fairly, honestly, earnestly and lawfully," confining his attack to "commercial violators" and avoiding the "pitiful, picayunish, noncommercial cases." To this end he has worked out an elaborate procedure. The country has been divided into twelve districts, each under the supervision of a prohibition administrator who is to be held directly responsible for conditions in his district. He will command a number of deputy administrators, each of whom will have direct charge of investigators and agents in a subdistrict coinciding generally with a Federal court district. The forces of the deputy administrators will be supported by roving forces having special qualifications for the investigation of "larger and more far-reaching conspiracies," and the entire army will be given intensive training under competent teachers in an especially established school. In addition, there will be created a bureau of research and public instruction to enlighten the public as to the progress being made toward genuine enforcement and to influence a decrease in the consumption of liquor. An effort will be made to improve cooperation between State and Government and to obtain a uniformity in sentences for cases that are essentially similar.

The plan, in one respect, has a familiar ring. Other newly appointed prohibition directors have embarked upon campaigns directed primarily against commercial violators, but this is probably the first time that a commander of the prohibition army has dared outline a course in which the "pitiful, picayunish, noncommercial violator" will be unmolested. It is for this reason that the announcement has peculiar significance. It marks a definite innovation in enforcement. It indicates a genuine desire on the part of the Government to get down to fundamentals—to make of prohibition enforcement a definite business instead of a political gesture.

The cause of prohibition never had anything to gain through enforcement campaigns directed against noncommercial violators. Disregard of the prohibition law is widespread; millions drink whenever they feel like it. If the problem of prohibition enforcement were to be tackled seriously from the angle of the individual drinker, who could be charged, incidentally, only with possession or transportation, it would take all the money in the Treasury to support an enforcement army and a judicial machine large enough to have any effect whatsoever. The millions of drinkers are supplied with liquor by thousands, probably hundreds of thousands, of bootleggers. The Government could not support a prohibition force large enough to drive the small bootleggers out of business. The small bootleggers are supplied by larger bootleggers, and the latter, in turn, are supplied by the manufacturing and rum-running rings and syndicates. These are the fountainhead of the bootleg trade. A comparatively small enforcement force, if it is capable, honest and intelligent, might be able to destroy this fountainhead. If prohibition can be enforced, it will be as a result of such procedure.

It will be a long, difficult process, however, to drive the commercial violator out of the picture. So long as an appetite for liquor exists, for every large violator who is sent to prison, there is apt to be another ready and willing to run the risk for the sake of the large profit that may be made by violating this particular law. It will take years to make the potential liquor barons realize that the Government means business and in the meantime there will be a clamor from dry elements so long as the public continues to be able to get liquor, for an extension of the attack to the "pitiful picayunish, noncommercial violator." Col. Woodcock's plan of procedure will not be popular with the drys for any considerable length of time. Unless they have changed their character, they will soon be demanding a resumption of spectacular, noisy enforcement. But the plan is inherently sensible. It will be directed by a man whose interest in securing genuine country-wide enforcement can not be doubted. It is to be hoped that Col. Woodcock will be allowed a free hand to carry the program through, and that he will be accorded full public cooperation. If, perchance, the new program should prove ineffective, the situation may well be considered hopeless.

HENRY FORD'S PHILOSOPHY.

Henry Ford is everywhere recognized as a great apostle of industry. Throughout his 67 years he has been engulfed in an industrial atmosphere, and has found it to his liking. His eminent success in this field makes even his casual remarks interesting. Little attention is given to his comments on art or literature, but his views of industrial matters and his advice to aspiring young men carry considerable weight.

Mr. Ford is still a remarkable optimist. He views the world as gradually moving forward to some goal, even though that goal may be difficult to describe. Industrialization is, in Mr. Ford's opinion, an important step in that direction. Instead of wrecking culture the machine age, he believes, embodies culture. "Industry itself is a part of culture," he said. "Every industry takes in almost every art. We need beauty in everything, and culture should be a thing of practice, not something apart."

The day of individual success is not over, he believes. Modern industry calls for skilled workers, scientific research, and a high degree of executive management. Working hours are not long, and wages are, generally speaking, good. Men have leisure to improve their minds, and to rise above the average level. But they must work. He agrees with Thomas A. Edison that achievement results from the mixture of a little genius and much hard work.

Change is the only permanent thing in the world. Life to Mr. Ford is a process of evolution, the object of which is to gain experience and develop character. Acquisition of money is only secondary. Lots of people are looking for a Santa Claus, but they won't get anywhere. They will continue to be found in the ranks of the unemployed.

These views contrast sharply with those of more modernistic observers, some of whom predict that the human race will lose its hearing and sight as well as its culture as a result of the machine age. Mr. Ford still has faith in America, in youth and in the civilization that is evolving. His views are homely but at the same time wholesome, and offer a much more secure hold on the future than those of critics who see only the fog.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL.

Throughout the land, erstwhile officeholders are attempting political comebacks. Weary of exile, they are again courting the favor of the voters, while they turn longing eyes toward Washington.

In the Democratic primary in Oklahoma Wednesday, Thomas W. Gore, the famous blind senator of ten years ago, ran ahead of all others in the race for the senatorial nomination. The primary, like most primaries in that politically turbulent State, was an exciting one. Nine candidates sought the Democratic senatorial nomination, including two former governors. Former Senator Gore will fight it out for the nomination in a run-off primary against Charles J. Wrightman, wealthy Tulsa oil operator, who polled the next-highest number of votes in Wednesday's contest, and in November, the winner of the run-off will face the incumbent, Senator W. D. Pine, who won the Republican nomination for another term, and J. C. Walton, another ousted governor, who will run as an independent.

In Illinois, J. Hamilton Lewis, of pink whiskers fame, who sat in the Senate when Gore was there, is another who seeks to come back. Having won the Democratic nomination for senator, he now is spreading honeyed speeches over the State, telling the electorate that, while Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, his Republican opponent, is a splendid woman, he, after all, would be much the wiser choice.

In Delaware, former United States Senator Thomas F. Bayard, jr., has announced that he will seek the senatorial nomination at the Democratic State convention in September. The sixth of his line to sit in the Senate, Bayard was swept out of office by the Republican tidal wave of 1928. The prospect is that in the November election he will oppose the Republican incumbent, Senator Daniel O. Hastings.

Former Senator M. M. Neely, of West Virginia, who went out along with Bayard in 1928 when the avalanche of Hoover votes struck his State, also will essay a comeback, and there will be many others.

The American electorate can be notoriously capricious. It can reward a candidate in one election, throw him out two or six years later, and then turn around and embrace him the next time. That some lame ducks are coming back in November can be put down as a certainty. The question is: How large will the parade be?

AL SMITH, CAMPAIGNER.

It is rumored that Al Smith, defeated Democratic presidential candidate in 1928, plans to reenter active politics. He will be cast in a prominent part in the Democratic State convention to be held in New York the latter part of September. He will take the stump in behalf of the candidacy of Gov. Roosevelt and it is probable that he will make at least one and probably several speeches of national significance for the Democratic national committee. It is to be hoped that the rumors are not groundless.

Al Smith remains titular head of the Democratic party. His friends, John Raskob and Jewett Shouse, are in active control of the party. The recent primary elections in Virginia, North Carolina and Texas, in which Democrats who bolted the Smith ticket in 1928 were defeated, and the situation in Alabama where the bolter, Senator Heflin, has been denied the right to participate in the Democratic primary, may be considered evidences of a desire for party unity. They prove that Al Smith need not hesitate to claim the privileges and prerogatives of party leadership that traditionally belong to the defeated candidate until a new standard-bearer is created by the succeeding national convention, and they indicate that former Gov. Smith is still a power to be reckoned with in the party, not as a potential candidate, but as one whose opinion is to be consulted in the making of candidates.

It is in the role of adviser that Al Smith can be of greatest value to the party and to the American people. He has an exceptional grasp of the theories and the practicalities of government. He has a truly remarkable conception of politics. He is a close student of human nature. He is an executive of rare distinction and great ability. The fact that he was defeated in 1928 did not detract from the esteem in which he is generally held. Many feel that he had far from an even chance in any stage of that campaign. His ability and his honesty are unassailable. He would be an asset as an adviser to any party.

Al Smith's reentry into active politics would be eminently desirable. As a campaigner, he could go far to heal any wounds left by the campaign of 1928. His right to participate in the selection of a Democratic standard-bearer in 1932 may hinge on the extent of his activity in the forthcoming congressional campaign.

A Chicago man who refused to give blood to save his anemic baby is sent to jail and nominated by the judge as "the meanest man in the world." Assuming that the baby lives, it will be better off without such blood in its veins.

ROCKET SHIPS AND GUNS?

From the Boston Transcript.

A strange though pardonable error was committed when Prof. R. H. Goddard, of Clark University, began his "rocket" experiments, one of which gave rise to an explosion that had plenty of attention in the headlines. It was reported far and wide that his purpose was to develop a device which would make "rocketing to the moon" possible. But since the Guggenheim Foundation came to his aid the myth has vanished as a result of the announcement that his only aim is to explore the atmosphere at extreme altitudes with a view to data which can not fail to be of practical value to aviation, as well as to communication by radio. All the same, it is being predicted that success in such investigations bids fair to promote the cause of "interplanetary navigation," and an organization of enthusiasts who believe they will yet be able to visit the various orbs in our solar system was recently formed in New York.

Give the right of way to such ventures, and what will come of them? That nothing belligerent is contemplated goes without the saying; there is no casus belli between us and any of the planets. Only a writer like Wells could imagine any further attack on the earth by the "men of Mars." The rocket has been described as the first revolutionary departure in aviation, and as differing radically in principle from both lighter and heavier than air machines. Both of these need air if they are to fly at all. But a rocket, propelled by suitable explosives, does not need any relation to air for its propulsion. Instead of having any limitation of the height to which it can rise, as in the case of airplanes and dirigibles, the rocket, theoretically, can ascend to any altitude above and beyond the atmosphere. And it has been asserted that this new means of travel will, in the not distant future, enable men not only to make trips to the moon, Venus and Mars, but also to travel around our own planet at speeds greater than 1,000 miles an hour.

But will a new era in commerce and travel be the only outcome of the rocket regime? One fact impressed indelibly on the record of inventions is that many of them, while devised for the purposes of peace, can be used just as efficiently for those of war. And now, despite the peaceful aims of its originators, the turn of the rocket for just such a transformation is at hand. Engineers in France, Italy and Germany, as well as members of their army staffs, are said to be experimenting with a view to substituting for cannon, described as "obsolete," a new means of getting outside our atmosphere and of circling the earth. Cannon are found to be too clumsy to move, too easily damaged, and too costly to be furnished in the vast quantities required by war. Instead of carrying tourists of the air, the army rockets would be "packed with chemical gases, liquid fire, shrapnel, or smoke-producing powders." The investigations have proved that such rockets can be landed on a target 50 feet wide from a distance of 1 mile; it has also been shown that advancing infantrymen, each carrying a dozen rockets, can point and fire them without the loss of time which the use of cannon involves. Here, then, is one more example of how scientific advances for the furtherance of knowledge can be changed over at the call of war for the work of destruction. And who, with the airplane still available as a war instrument, would venture to predict anything like an early restriction of the rocket to peace uses?

ARTIST SUMMER.

Now summer comes with bird and
bloom
And blue skies high above us,
With beauties rare strewn everywhere
As proof that God must love us.
Such days as these build memories
Of song and mirth and laughter,
Earth's smiling face now shows no trace
Of care to follow after.

For this were all the winds and rains
Of springtime's preparation,
Days dark and drear of early year
And winter's desolation Brought tree to leaf and plant to
And summer's high perfection;
Now all is fair, no trace of care
Remains for our detection.

We see the Master Artist's work
Aglow with all its beauty,
But none can trace His tedious pace
Along the path of duty.
We see the trees in foliage dressed,
But not the pains that bore it;
The ring of gold we may behold,
But not the struggle for it.

And there are artist souls who tread
The toilsome path of duty,
But hide at last the dreary past
Beneath the charm of beauty.
The works they've done in splendor shine,
But blunder and correction
And doubt and grief which tried belief

When the Raindrops Rejoin the Sea They Move With the Tides.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

A CERTAIN woman had two sons who went to war and marched into a far country.

Months passed without word from the battlefields, and then one day a messenger appeared with the story of a great disaster.

The cause was lost and the two boys had been killed in action.

The woman accepted the blow without complaint or outcry, so that many wondered at her courage and her calm submission, but thereafter she sat much alone and she never was known to smile or to speak unless some one addressed her.

Because her sorrow seemed so great and she so lonely in her grief, many kind people made effort to comfort her.

Among these was a man of science who said to her: "Dear lady, nothing has been taken away or added to the universe since it was made. When wood is burned, the ash and smoke remain. The form of things is changed, but nothing is destroyed. The lives that were so dear to you are somewhere still. You did not grieve when they marched to a far country; why weep now when you know they must be in some land only a little farther?"

"I have lost them," said the woman.

A priest sought to comfort her, also, saying: "Sister, your dear ones are in Heaven where you shall meet them when your life is finished."

"I do not know where Heaven is," said the woman. "I only know that my boys are gone."

When night fell, she sat in a chair by the fire and wept.

As the tears fell a kind voice spoke at her side: "Daughter, why dost thou weep? I am with you always."

"I know thou are with me, Master," said the woman; "but where are my boys?"

"They are with me," said the voice.

"I know they are safe with thee," said the woman; "but Heaven seems so far away."

"Nay, daughter," said the voice, "they are with me, and am I not here? If I am with thee always, and they are with me, can they be far away?"

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE HOOVERS PACK FOR THEIR VACATION.

Mrs. Hoover (thinking very hard): Now, let me see . . . Have we forgotten anything?

The President—How about my fishing rods?

Mrs. Hoover—It's up to you, dear, to look after them. I can't take care of everything. I hope you're not going to ask me to pack those terrible rubber boots again.

The President—We'll have to find room for 'em somewhere.

Mrs. Hoover—I don't see why you can't go on ONE vacation without boots. You'll want an old suit or two for fishing, too, I suppose?

The President—Yes, and not too old. There'll probably be a lot of photographers around whenever I fish.

Mrs. Hoover—How about the medicine ball?

The President—No, I won't want that. It's getting away from those darned medicine and handball games that will make this vacation worth while.

Mrs. Hoover—If you dislike those gynasium exercises, why do you keep them up at all?

The President—I dunno. When I first played those handball games I didn't expect to keep them up but the newspapers have devoted so much space to them that they'd probably make a sensational story of it if I stopped now.

Mrs. Hoover—Will you want any riding clothes?

The President—Better take some along. You never can tell when some occasion may come up where it'll be the right thing for me to appear on horseback.

Mrs. Hoover—I think I've packed plenty of underwear and socks. Will you want any special kind of shirts?

The President—Any shirts will do, except the hair-lined.

Mrs. Hoover—Isn't there anything else you'll want me to pack? I don't want to reach the Rockies and then have you discover I forgot something you needed.

The President—(After a little reflection)—You might put a copy of the London naval treaty in my grip.

Mrs. Hoover—What on earth will you want with a London naval treaty on a vacation in the Rocky Mountains, Herbert?

The President—Oh, the reporters or somebody might ask me some questions about the text and I'd want to be able to look it up. Stick in a copy of the Hawley-Smoot tariff schedules, too, just in case of an emergency. Just to save space in the grip, you can use the schedules to wrap up my walking shoes in.

Mrs. Hoover—(A little impatiently)—Anything else?

The President—I'll need a silk hat, I guess.

Mrs. Hoover—A silk hat on a vacation?

The President—I might have to meet a governor or somebody.

Mrs. Hoover—Anything else, Herbert, before I close the bag?

The President—Be sure to pack that address book with Huston's phone number in it, just in case he doesn't get out as he's promised to and I have to fire him by long distance.

Mrs. Hoover—All right. Now, are you sure you've thought of everything?

The President (with assurance)—Everything!

Mrs. Hoover—And it's all right for me to lock the bags?

The President—Absolutely.

Mrs. Hoover (after locking the bags)—How about safety razor blades?

JUST A SUGGESTION.

The authorities are now disturbed over a Spanish postage stamp with a picture of a nude woman on it. Oh, just pass a law requiring that it be put on the inside of the envelope.

Mr. Claudius Huston may be removed, it now seems, without resorting to blasting or the hydraulic drill.

American diplomats abroad must pay out of their own pockets for any and all liquors served or consumed at their embassy or legation quarters. This definitely notifies the nations of the earth that if any American envoy makes an impression as a good host it will not be his country's fault.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Original Demonstration of the Pythagorean Theorem, Recommended for Consideration on a Summer Afternoon.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am sending you my 109th demonstration of the famous Pythagorean theorem, so long known as the pons asinorum. It is somewhat similar to my seventy-ninth, published in the Scientific American Supplement, December 8, 1917, concerning which the editor wrote me: "I met the professors connected with the mathematics department of Columbia and showed it to them, and they agreed with me unanimously that it was 'very elegant, indeed.'" The 109th of my own series I devised a few days ago while resting, and with only an imaginary diagram. It follows:

Given a right triangle, resting on its hypothenuse, the right angle somewhat to the left, making a short side, a, a longer side, b, and the hypothenuse, c. Erect the square on the hypothenuse upward, inclosing the triangle. Draw an arc from the right angle to the hypothenuse, with the right-hand apex as the center of the arc. This lays off b upon c. Erect the square upon this section of c, and designate the left-hand section of the hypothenuse, x.

From the theorem, the product of the sum and difference of two values or lines is equal to the difference of their squares; then the space between the two squares should equal the square upon a.

Proof: By the secant and tangent theorem, the tangent is a mean proportional between the whole secant and the portion outside the circle. We have a circle sufficiently represented in the arc, and the side, a, is tangent; the two lengths, b, are two radii of the same arc, and together are equivalent to a diameter; a diameter is a chord, and with the extension, x, is equivalent to a secant.

Therefore the square upon a is equal to x times x plus 2b', which also expresses the area between the two squares, the point to be proved.

Comparison of the American and Canadian Tariffs Indicates That Our Neighbors Across the Border Have Little Ground for Complaint.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Thousands of columns of editorials have been written both in the United States and Canada on the assumption that the new American tariff is so high that Canada is justified in being irritated and in enacting "retaliatory" rates. The press dispatches bearing upon the recent Canadian campaign convey this impression.

All this is rendered ridiculous by the fact that Canada already has a higher tariff than the new United States tariff.

Figures compiled by the United States Department of Commerce show that, based on the 1928 volume of imports, the United States will collect in tariffs 15.43 per cent of the value of our imports. Canada will collect 15.84 per cent in tariffs on the total value of her imports. But due to the fact that a 20 per cent preference is given to goods from other parts of the British Empire this means that the average rate of tariff on imports from the United States is considerably higher, and due to the fact that our biggest item of import from Canada is print paper, which is on the free list, our average tariff rate on Canadian imports is much lower than the figure of 15.43 per cent.

Yet we have had on both sides of the border comment universally based on the theory that we have done Canada an injustice.

SOL CARTER.

Where Could a Republican Be Found For the Chairmanship of the National Committee Who Would Not Meet With Opposition From the Insurgents?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I see by the papers that the Republican party is not in full harmony on the choice of a successor to Claudius Huston, chairman of the national committee. It looks as if the insurgents were again busy trying to make a monkey of their party. Why do they insist in stirring up trouble every time the party makes a move to strengthen itself?

Senator Fess, who is reported to have been chosen for the position by President Hoover, doesn't see eye to eye with the insurgents. Of course, he doesn't. He wouldn't be a Republican if he did. He has taken issue with them on various occasions, but he has always been on the side of the administration, defending it from its enemies. Every good Republican hopes that the President will take no notice of these insurgents.

What staunch Republican could be selected for this position without arousing the opposition of the insurgents? Any outstanding member of the party who has remained loyal has had to oppose this clique at one time or another. This opposition to Senator Fess is merely an attempt on the part of the insurgents to get control of the party's affairs. I suppose they want to put Senator Norris or Senator Brookhart in the chairmanship.

REPUBLICAN.

"The White House Is in Washington, on the Pacific Coast!"

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I agree that Washington State has been misnamed, and very badly. Many young students are confused thereby. Only a few months ago I met with some young men in Detroit who were first year university students. It was hard to convince them that the Capital, with the White House, was not in Maryland, on the Potomac. They said: "We have only one Washington; we have been taught that in school, and it is on the Pacific Coast." They further said that they could tell me the names of about sixty young fellows who believed the same as they; namely, that "the White House is in Washington on the Pacific Coast." Your correspondent is right! Washington State should be changed to Jefferson.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Padillas Plan To Sojourn in San Sebastian

Spanish Envoy's Family Will Pass Summer Near Royalty.

When the Ambassador of Spain, Senor Don Alejandro Padilla y Bell and his daughter, Senorita Rosa Padilla, sail for Spain about August 10 they will go directly to San Sebastian where Senora de Padilla and Senorita Maria Padilla already are established, having gone to the lovely resort shortly after their arrival in Spain earlier in the season.

Before the Ambassador leaves Washington he probably will receive the new First Secretary of Embassy, Senor Gomez Acebo, who may arrive from his former post in Budapest prior to the Ambassador's departure. Senor Acebo comes to fill the post vacated by Senor Don Fernando Gonzalez Arnao who will represent his country as Minister to Ecuador.

On Wednesday night the newly appointed commercial counselor of the embassy, Senor Calderon, reached Washington from Manila where he has been stationed. During the absence of the Ambassador, Senor Manuel Allends, Count of Montefuerte, counselor of embassy, will be charge d'affaires.

In the lovely Basque country is the ancestral home of Senora Padilla and where her parents, Baron and Baroness Satrustegui, maintain the villa built into the rock of Mount Urgell, where generations of her family have lived.

Baron Satrustegui is chamberlain of the court and the baroness is one of Queen Victoria's attendants when the Spanish court is in residence each summer at San Sebastian. On July 1 the embassies and legations collected their multitudinous servants and valuable chattels and in chartered railway carriages, motors and trucks moved to San Sebastian all in one day.

Queen Victoria, and later King Alfonso, followed, and for more than a fortnight the grandees of Spain have been pouring into the small city on the northern coast, a beautiful Spanish town with its landlocked harbor swept by the water of the Bay of Biscay.

For Senorita Rosa Padilla and Senorita Maria Padilla the summers are gay ones in the capital where Spanish society takes its holiday. They are great friends of the royal family and during their childhood passed many hours in play with the royal infantas. The two senoritas were in England also during their earlier years, when Senor Padilla represented his country as ambassador to Great Britain.

Their brother, Senor Don Ramon Padilla, is second secretary of the embassy in Washington. He will remain in Washington this summer. The Ambassador and Senora Padilla and their daughters will return in October.

Hoovers to Receive Flying Invitation.

The President and Mrs. Hoover will receive Miss Blanche Wilcox Noyes at the White House today. She will arrive by plane this morning from Chicago to present a floral invitation to the Chief Executive and First Lady to attend the National Air Races there on September 1. Miss Noyes, who will land about 11:30 at Hoover Field, will be met by officers of the Eagels Wings Flying Club, the flying unit of the Women's City Club of Washington. The floral invitation will be made of roses named after the President at a recent flower show sponsored by the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Lyle Burns Steever, president of the flying club, will head the reception committee, which includes Lieut. Louis M. Rawlins, Mr. C. Newell Atkinson, Miss Helen M. Hawley, Miss Marie K. Saunders and Miss Beaufort Kelly.

Will Sail Soon

Underwood & Underwood.

M. H. Thatcher And Wife Plan Trip by Motor

Smoky Mountains Will Be Visited En Route by Couple.

Representative and Mrs. Maurice H. Thatcher, of Kentucky, will leave this week by motor for their home in Louisville. They will go by way of Richmond, Roanoke and Bristol to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park area and thence via Knoxville to Louisville, thus tracing the eastern and southern lines of an eastern national park-to-park highway proposed by Representative Thatcher to connect the Mammoth Cave National Park, the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and the Shenandoah National Park.

Representative Thatcher will leave Louisville during the latter part of August, via Lake Louise and Vancouver, for Bremerton, Wash., where he will act as official representative of the City of Louisville for the christening-launching ceremonies of the cruiser Louisville, which will take place on Labor Day, September 1. Mrs. Thatcher, who will accompany him, will act as official hostess for the ceremonies.

EDISON QUIZ CAUSES YOUTHS TO CONSIDER ETHICAL POINTS

the boys generally agreed, had to do with a scientific party stranded in the desert. Here is the question:

"You are the head of an expedition which has come to grief in the desert. There is enough food and water left to enable three people to get to the nearest outpost of civilization. The rest must perish. Your companions are:

"1. A brilliant scientist, 60 years old.

"2. Two half-breed guides, ages 58 and 32.

"3. The scientist's wife, interested mainly in society matters, age 39.

"4. Her little son, age 6.

"5. The girl you are engaged to marry.

"6—Your best friend, a young man of your own age who has shown great promise in the field of science.

"7—Yourself.

"Which would you choose to live, and which to die?"

Some one remarked that there were seven kinds of ethics involved in that question. One-third seemed certain—that 49 American scientists would never forget that expedition and its personnel as long as they lived.

The answers varied all the way from that of Charles V. Larrick, of Maryland, who replied with true Southern chivalry, "women and children first," to that of Luther P. Spalding, jr., Phoenix, Ariz., who possibly in a spirit of practicality born of environment, insisted that one of the guides "would have to be saved to get 'em out."

Most of them agreed that the scientist and the best friend ought to have a chance. Then the choice for the third survivor would have to eliminate either the child or the fiancee since everybody automatically excluded himself and most of them the guides and the scientist's 39-year-old wife who was interested chiefly in society.

Flournoy W. Sims, of Little Rock, Ark., chose the girl. "The child would be too young to know what it was all about, and he'd probably die anyway," he concluded.

John W. Alexander, of Colorado Springs, chose the scientist, the children and his best friend. "I'd know darned well," he said, "that my best friend would get my girl out of the desert or die in the attempt."

Another nice one directed the young men to tell how much they'd expect to get for a Ford coupe that had run 5,000 miles—and this with Henry Ford himself right here in West Orange to help correct the papers. The answers ran from the $25 estimate of James R. Weaver, of Johnson City, Tenn., to the solution proffered by the boy from Kansas, "Try to sell it for $500, but warn the buyer not to try to drive it on country roads."

There was one about: "When a man looks back on life from his deathbed, by what facts will he determine whether he has succeeded or failed?"

"Aw, you can get sort of an idea on what they want there," one of the contestants remarked, and most of those questioned afterwards said they answered it "that way." But, for good measure, Nathaniel Kutzman, of Whitefish, Mont., threw in:

"And also whether I had attained culture and scientific knowledge."

There was one about a secret formula for poison gas, too—and one about what to do with a cure for cancer. Most of the boys thought the poison gas formula should be turned over to the United States Government, although one young man said, "if it came into my possession, I'd destroy it at once without ever showing it to anybody." And they were uniformly generous about the cancer cure—that it should be given to the world without charge.

Mr. Edison was assisted in preparing his questions by his advisory board, of which Mr. Ford is a member. Many of the questions, particularly in chemistry, physics and mathematics, were similar to those given in college entrance examinations.

"Those were soft," was how the boys described them. But when they set out for Coney Island for a swim late this afternoon they were still gloomy arguing about the scientist, the scientist's little boy, the fiancee and the best friend.

machine on P street near Twentieth street northwest when it turned into an alley.

An eyewitness to the attack, Cyrus L. Bruner, of 2232-A Eleventh street northwest, told police he was standing on the corner across from the hospital when the man jumped out of his car and threw Miss Page to the sidewalk.

He said it was apparent the men had been trailing the assistant treasurer for some time, as they were only a few yards behind her when she alighted. Bruner was too far away to come to the girl's assistance, he said.

Police said a false moustache and clothing, evidently parts of a disguise, were found in the abandoned car.

Kidnaped Mine Leader Tarred and Feathered

Terre Haute, Ind., Jul. 31 (A.P.).—Joseph Claypool, an organizer for the insurgent United Mine Workers Union who was kidnaped from his home at Shelburn, Ind., yesterday has been found on a farm near West Union, Ill., according to word received here today. Claypool had been tarred and feathered.

He was kidnaped yesterday afternoon from the front porch of his home by five men. The kidnaping was reported by his wife who said no threats had been made against her husband. She said, however, that he had been active in the controversy between the insurgent union and the regular United Mine Workers organization.

LEGGE STARTS TOUR OF CENTRAL STATES

Farm Board Head Will Urge Crop Diversification to Growers of Wheat.

TO GO TO PACIFIC COAST

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Legge of the Farm Board left for Indianapolis last night to carry the gospel of acreage adjustment into the soft red winter wheat belt of the East Central States and to the white wheat regions of the Pacific Northwest.

After conferring with growers of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and Missouri at Indianapolis today, he will go to Chicago for conferences with officials of the national wheat, cotton and livestock marketing groups. He will be joined there by Secretary Hyde, and they will go together to Caldwell, Idaho, on August 8; Pendleton, Oreg., August 9; Portland, August 10; Spokane, Wash., August 11, and Bozeman, Mont., August 12.

Unlike his campaign in Kansas and the hard winter wheat States of the Southwest, the chairman will not have the problem of surplus exports to deal with in his Indianapolis conference. There is a domestic demand for all the soft winter wheat produced.

His argument there will be that in no part of the United States are farmers more favored by markets and soil and weather conditions to practice diversification of crops. While their wheat does not go into export, it adds to the total American production an amount almost equal to annual exports of United States wheat.

The chairman has expressed the belief that the soft winter wheat States, well suited to substitute crops, could materially improve the general wheat situation by holding production more in line with local requirements.

All together, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Missouri neither plant nor harvest as much wheat as Kansas alone. Their combined acreage in 1929 was but 8,448,000 acres compared with Kansas' 11,516,000 and they produced 132,140,000 bushels as against Kansas' 138,060,000 bushels.

The campaign in the Pacific Northwest will more nearly approximate that in the Southwest. White wheat, abundant in the Columbia River basin, frequently is troubled with an exportable surplus. Japan and China are the more important outlets, although large quantities are taken in Europe. Chief foreign competition comes from Australia and India, where the same type of wheat is grown.

When prices are sufficiently high to offset cross-continent transportation charges, white wheat sometimes comes into competition with soft red winter wheat, which in turn competes with the great flood of hard winter wheat.

Chairman Legge prefaced his departure for Indianapolis with the announcement that he expected the Farmers National Grain Corporation to handle approximately 25 per cent or about 200,000,000 bushels of the 1930 American wheat crop.

District Supreme Court Quarters Get Cleaning

Work of putting the District of Columbia Supreme Court in readiness for the heavy work that begins October 1 got under way yesterday, with painters swarming over the unused court rooms.

The work, which is done annually, is under the supervision of United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder and Stephen B. Callahan, chief deputy marshal. Mr. Snyder is custodian of the building and Mr. Callahan is assistant. The painting this year is to be more thorough than in previous years and even the presroom is to be redecorated. Work of tearing away part of the law library and rearranging other sections of the second floor to care for the addition of two new justices is expected to begin within the next few days.

WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

Contract players who use the Passing Goulash do not seem to remain wedded for any considerable period to any particular method of passing. First we hear that the passing is 1-2-3, next 1-3-2, then 3-2-1, or 3-1-2 and so on. Of all these, 1-3-2 seems to be the most popular, but whether it is destined to hold its position none can say.

Of late in some coteries a new idea has been introduced. It is that after the Goulash deal has taken place, each of the four players examines the thirteen cards that have been dealt to him and passes them all over to his partner. Then each two partners exchange in one block the total number of cards that are to be passed. The rule varies; in some places six are passed, in others four or five. Thus each player ultimately plays four, five or six cards which were dealt to him originally and nine, eight or seven which were dealt to his partner.

While at first thought this might seem to be even more foolish than other methods of passing, it must be conceded that to take full advantage of this kind of passing a player must have keen memory. While examining the thirteen cards first received from his partner, he must remember the exact make-up of the thirteen he passed to his partner. He must have the skill to select just the right cards to pass back in order to create the most advantageous combinations of thirteen cards in each of the two hands; and in order to accomplish this he must be able to visualize the cards which his partner will pass back to him.

No prediction is made that this form of Passing Goulash ever will become generally popular. Possibly it will require too much skill and have a tendency to make the game tamer instead of filling it with thrills according to the Goulash idea; but it must be conceded that the new plan has plenty of thrills of its own, and the thoughtful player may say: "If I must get into this orgy of passing let me pass in the way in which I can best demonstrate my skill."

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF August 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a. m. to 7:30 a. m., 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and 11 p. m. to midnight.

You will meet with some good turns on the road of life on this date—many courtesies, kindnesses, pleasures and some real "lifts." Slight adverse influences in regard to health. General interest in games and sports.

Children born on this August 1 will have very straightforward characters and will know how to enjoy life. They will make friends easily and will be inclined to let their pleasures come before the more serious things of life. They will be generally good natured, but, when aroused, display violent tempers.

You so live that your life is an open book to all the world if they wish to read it. Your virtues, your faults, your pleasures, your displeasures, your sorrows, your joys, your successes, your failures are all revealed. You do not purposely flaunt your affairs to every Tom, Dick and Harry, but you are too candid, honest and unaffected to be able to conceal anything. You do not try to suppress your ordinary, natural emotions. You are too clean-minded, too refined, however, to ever become a "bull in a china closet" sort of person. You are impatient with dull respectability, but you never entirely lose your dignity. You are only refreshingly "breezy."

You are extremely tender hearted and sympathetic, and you never mock at a soul in pain. You are also very careful not to judge other people unjustly. It can not be denied that you enjoy the flesh-pots, and you are going to have a good time while you live. You do not have fastidious tastes and you can be happy with but few of the luxuries of life. You are not interested in the higher arts and you do not profess to be. Classical music or literature bore you, although you are fond of both popular music and books. You seldom worry about anything and, in a rather hap-hazard manner, you do lots of work. You are a harmless flirt and you will always enjoy attractive people of the opposite sex.

Successful people born August 1:

William Clark, explorer.

George Ticknor, author and educator, founder of Boston Public Library.

Gilbert C. Walker, "the political savior of Virginia."

Gaston Doumergue, French president.

Morris Hillquist, socialist and lawyer.

Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln and statesman.

Lines to a Boy Scout

What Ho! A Goofus Bear we find.
His tail 's in front—his head 's behind
We see him running to and fro—
He doesn't know which way to go.
Headed wrong since he was born
All other bears hold him to scorn.
Today's good deed for you, Boy Scout,
Would be to lead this Bear about!

Jane Interprets the Mode

Paris, July 31.

NAVY blue still tops the colors for the tailleur—navy blue with touches of white, usually polka dots, occasionally pin stripes, more often a mixture woven right in the material. And, of course, it is inevitable that there would be further touches of white in the trimming of the autumn tailleur.

Speaking of trimming, reminds me of blouses. And this season's blouses certainly are delightful! But a blouse just doesn't deserve to be called one unless it is intricate with handwork—not fussy, you understand, but simply well done and given the personality of a garment rather than merely a necessary accessory for a garment, with fine pleats, incrustations, tucks and hemstitching.

And, of course, it has become a tuck-in, as all skirts are more or less normal waisted.

The jacket of your tailleur? Yes, to be sure, it is either short or quite three-quarter length, in which case it has become an ensemble rather than a tailleur. I have even seen some that are so short and tight they just meet the normal waistline of the skirt. Others flare over the hips, but surprisingly few of them blouse.

I s'pose you will get tired of having me tell you how color-ravishing Mary Nowitsky's things are, and how difficult to interpret in mere pen and ink? But that is a fact, nevertheless, and if you could just imagine the lovely tea gown from this designer that I have sketched for you today, and your imagination is equal to it, then you will be able to see it in all of its beautiful pale green undergown, its silver lace hem and its dull blue jacket covered with soft purple flowers in that raised velvet effect.

The petite adorables of today are as smartly turned out as to color, completeness of detail and accessories as their chic mammas—and as simply. More hand work, perhaps, appears on their clothes than on mamma's, because there isn't so much space to cover. Fine hand hemstitching, tiny tucks and wee pleats, smocking, touches of delicate embroidery, and that new type of "fuzzy" painting that resembles raised velvet, give dresses for the little girl their elegance and charm. Sonny, too, comes in for his share of pleats and tucks and incrustations, if not actual embroidery!

A modernistic flower design, some novel suggestions for now and where to use it, and interspersed through this some leaflet after-summer beauty hints that will save you millions of trips to the beauty parlors if you just follow them for a couple of weeks! All in all, I think you'd better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

And I'm sure you will enjoy the Weekly Dare fashion letter every Sunday. Look for it in The Sunday Post each week.

Au revoir!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HAVE DIABETES EXAMINATION.

C. O. writes: Can you tell me the cause of carbuncles returning and also tell me how to get rid of same?

REPLY.

Have you ever been examined for diabetes? Does your work expose your skin to grease, dirt, and infections unduly? Do you poultice your carbuncles or apply fat meat to them? These questions may suggest methods of prevention. Phage, locally applied, sometimes gives excellent results.

EGGS, FOOD FOR CHILDREN.

Mrs. C. L. L. writes: Will you settle a controversy in regard to children's food?

1. Are hard boiled eggs and hot chocolate bad for children?

2. Has a hot, home cooked cereal more value than the kind already cooked when bought?

3. Is calf liver (and kidneys, also) of more value than that of beef, or are they merely more palatable?

REPLY.

1. There is no better food than eggs for a rapidly growing child. However, eggs do not agree with all children. Hard boiling is a good way to cook an egg. Hot chocolate is not quite as wholesome as hot milk. If it is given to children it is better to use as little of the chocolate and as much of the sugar and milk as the children will agree to.

2. They are about on a par.

3. They are more valuable if there is anemia. If there is no anemia they are about on a par with lean meat. In certain conditions, for example, they rank below lean meat.

ORDER YOUR SPRING BULBS EARLY.

AUGUST is may seem a trifle early to discuss spring-flowering bulbs, but the catalogues are now obtainable and you know the ancient story of the early bird. By this time the bulbs have arrived in this country and the merchants will have them on their counters by mid-August.

In many localities where the falls are short and the winters long, bulbs must be in the ground by early October. So, all things considered, this is the time to take account of stock and determine just how many bulbs you will need. By placing your orders early, you will be sure of having them filled. If you wait until later you may have to be satisfied with substitutes for certain varieties you wanted because the stock has become exhausted.

Another advantage in purchasing early is the fact that you always receive first quality bulbs. Your orders will be filled from "first shipments." The first bulbs to arrive are always the largest and finest the growers have. The prices may fluctuate from year to year, but prices during the season remain as listed; therefore you pay no more for your bulbs at this time than later. Should you not want the bother of having the bulbs around so long before planting, mention a delivery date when you order them.

When choosing spring-flowering bulbs, never select varieties that have sprouted. It is much better to select specimens that are quite dormant. The reason for this is that some energy has been expended on developing these shoots. When you plant the bulb you check this development because the shoots can not develop in cold ground. When spring comes and the ground becomes warm the bulbs will begin to sprout but they will have expended some of their strength on these early shoots. For this reason they will not be quite as vigorous as they would have been had they remained dormant.

Another point worth considering is the weight of the bulbs. Always select heavy bulbs. They are sure to do better than lighter ones.

Will you please name the inclosed leaf? MRS. A. J. C.

While the leaf was entirely black and brittle when it reached me, I feel sure the plant from which it was taken is a species of Alternanthera.

My aunt has a species of cactus which requires repotting. When may this be done? AN INQUIRER.

You may transplant a cactus whenever it is convenient to do the work.

Please tell me the names of each of the inclosed nine rose leaves or portions of leaves. RUTH R.

I am sorry, but it is impossible to identify a species of rose from a leaf.

Please tell me whether there are low growing willow trees. MARY P.

Yes. Be sure, when ordering the tree to explain to the dealer that you want a dwarf variety.

Please tell me the name of the inclosed leaf and exlain when I am to prune it. MRS. FAIRY B.

The leaves were from the Kentucky coffee tree. This tree may be pruned at any season.

GROVE HALTS RALLY IN 9TH, NATS LOSE AGAIN, 4-3

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—It looks as though Humbert J. Fugazy, the noted air-castle architect, never will take his place in the foyer of the Metropolitan Coliseum on inaugural night, with the klieg batteries glowing on the swollen bosom of his ceremonial boiled shirt, to welcome the best people of the town to an amphitheater greater than Madison Square Garden, greater than the Boston Garden and greater even, than the late Paddy Harmon's Chicago Stadium. It looks as though there will be no Metropolitan Coliseum, for the Supreme Court in Brooklyn has issued an order with the reluctant consent of Mr. Fugazy, himself, forbidding further sales of stock in the Metropolitan Coliseum, Inc.

Obviously, if a man can not sell stock he can not build a stadium. Moreover, the district prosecutors, Federal and State, are pouring over the records of the sales already made principally among Italians, to the amount of $145,000, not enough to build an arena greater than Paddy Harmon's, but quite enough to cause a man a spell of trouble, especially if the subscribers happen to include numbers of the picturesque illiterate poor.

Fugazy and Harmon Poor Boys.

Mr. Fugazy and the late Paddy Harmon, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident a few days ago and buried from his Chicago Stadium after an appropriate lying-in-state, were alike in certain respects. Both were of the poor, both of immigrant parents, both neighborhood philanthropists and both wanted, for their vanity, to build the biggest stadium in the world. But there was this difference, that Paddy Harmon was a worker and Mr. Fugazy a trifler. Paddy talked a big stadium, but as he talked he hustled. He had something of Tex Rickard's resourcefulness and perseverance and a sincerity that Mr. Rickard never had.

Fugazy talked a big stadium and talked and talked. He talked his stadium one night in a back room in Brooklyn and as he talked he dabbed his finger in the beer puddles on the table where the seidels were foaming over and drew a magnificent picture of the metropolitan stadium, in stale beer, on the table. He drew towers higher than the Chrysler spire and the house was planned on a scale so grand that with a sweep of his finger he indicated where the best people, wooed away from Mr. Rickard's temple, would land on the roof in their planes and descend in elevators straight to their seats. But just then the bartender came in, grabbed up the seidels with one hand and with one wide, obliterating swipe of a moldy bartowel in the other wiped out Mr. Fugazy's coliseum.

Promises Bigger Plans "Tomorrow."

"Never mind," Mr. Fugazy said, leaning back with a laugh. "I will draw a bigger one tomorrow night. All my life bartenders have been wiping out coliseums on me."

I thought of many great American dramas and novels which had been wiped out the same way and began to feel a kindly understanding of Mr. Fugazy. At the same time I became reasonably certain that I would never cover a prize fight at the Metropolitan Coliseum.

It is years too late to build the Metropolitan Coliseum now, anyway. The professional sport industry reached its full development in Rickard's time, and even Paddy Harmon, though he carried his plan through and lived to open the greatest indoor amphitheater in the world in a town where he had been a newsboy, also saw his ambition fail. The investment was $6,000,000, and any amateur economist could deduce that the carrying charges alone would consume more than $1,000 a day, the year around. This and the operating costs were too big for Paddy Harmon's market. The Garden firm in New York, with the warm cooperation of the New York prize fight commissioners, who naturally wished to serve the interests of the New York hotels and merchants, had closed a monopoly on the heavyweight championship and all the important heavyweight elimination matches. Mr. Harmon, generally speaking, had to accept matches that the Garden firm had discarded or

City to Be Scene of National Bowling Congress Meet.

Selection of Capital Surprise; Convention Hall to Be Site.

WASHINGTON will be the scene of the next National Duckpin Bowling Congress tournament, it was learned last night by The Post. Directors of the association will meet in Baltimore on August 11 to make the official selection.

It is understood that Convention Hall be chosen as the scene of the national events, which have been held in Baltimore, Richmond and Waterbury, Conn., the last three years, since the organization of the association, which has its headquarters here in the Denrike Building.

The annual board of directors' meeting has been held the first week in September in former years, but the date has been moved forward to August 11 this year. The session will be held in the Press Building, West Fayette street, Baltimore. Officials will be elected for the ensuing year at this meeting.

Selection of Capital Assured.

The selection of Washington as the tournament city next March is considered assured. Only the formal sanction of the directors is needed.

Chief business to be transacted by the association officials at their meeting will primarily concern Baltimore and vicinity, as efforts will be made to perfect an organization to supervise competition in that city and suburbs.

The need of a well-organized governing body, similar to the Washington City Duckpin Association, has long been realized in Baltimore, but all efforts to start such an organization and to obtain the harmonious support of all alley owners have failed. George L. Isemann, secretary of the national organization, has laid plans for a Baltimore bowling body that will have the support of all owners and bowlers.

Naming of Washington Is Surprise.

The announcement that Washington is to be chosen as the scene of the tournament next March came as somewhat of a surprise. It had been indicated earlier that Brooklyn would probably be selected.

Washington has been passed up the past three years in favor of other cities where the small pin sport was not as well entrenched as in the Capital City, hotbed of the hard maple bowling game. Enthusiasm was first revived in Baltimore and then the tournament at Richmond served to stimulate interest in the South. Last year the tournament served to stabilize the game in New England. Officials expect this year the largest tournament entry list in the history of the organization.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 31 (A.P.).—Eddie Morgan's twenty-first home run of the season, with Porter on base and two out in the last half of the ninth, broke a 3-3 tie and gave Cleveland its third victory in four starts over Detroit here today, 5 to 3. Detroit had tied the score in the eighth.

Morgan's drive over the right field wall climaxed a tight pitching duel in which Wesley Ferrell won his seventeenth game of the season and his sixth straight. Vic Sorrell pitched six innings for Detroit, and gave way to Cantrell. Score:

Vines Defeats Hunter in 3 Sets

Wood, Also Californian, Reaches Finals at Seabright.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 31 (A.P.).—Two tennis players from Pasadena, Calif., qualified for the finals of the Seabright invitation tournament today when Ellsworth Vines, jr., defeated Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., 3—6, 6—2, 8—6, and Sydney B. Wood won from Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, 6—3, 3—6, 6—0.

Vines met Hunter at the best form the ranking player has shown this season. There was little to choose between them, with the exception of the overhead play of Vines. Hunter resorted to lobbing, and Vines might have lost then and there, but he proved himself just as adept in his stroking overhead as he had been off the ground.

The crucial third set saw Vines a veritable whirlwind as he piled up a lead of three love, only one game going to deuce. Hunter won the next two, breaking his opponent's service in the fifth.

Hunter had service in the wearing sixth game and although he led 40-15, it went to deuce seven times. He lost as Vines sent two scorching placements from the lines. The Californian won the next game for a lead of 5—2, but Hunter's last desperate battle pulled him up to five all. From that point, it was anybody's match and Vines took it in the fourteenth game on Hunter's service. Again the Pasadena youth won two of his four points by clean passing shots.

Assurance that three of the finals will involve Californians came when Miss Cross and Mrs. Harper moved into the finals of women's doubles by beating the coast team of Miss Marjorie Gladman and Miss Cruickshank, 7—5, 6—4. Sarah and Mianne Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., scored a three set win over Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., and Miss Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., 4—6, 6—2, 6—2, and qualified for the final tomorrow.

Yeoman Winner Over Mitchell in Virginia Open

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 31 (A.P.).—Paul Kunkel, Cincinnati, and Edgar Yeomans, Washington, D. C., North Carolina University star, gained the finals of the Virginia State open tennis championships here today, in spectacular victories.

Kunkel came from behind to defeat Alphonso Smith, jr., Charlottesville, Va., in five sets, 6—8, 2—6, 6—2, 7—5, 6—0. Yeomans scored a decided upset by running out on Dooley Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., in three straight sets, 8—6, 6—3, 6—4.

A week ago Mitchell defeated Yeomans in five sets for the Washington public parks championship.

Mrs. Deloyd Thompson, Washington, and Miss Margaret Carspecken, Morgantown, W. Va., gained the finals of the women's singles. Mrs. Thompson, the West Virginia open champion, defeated Miss Ellen Bates, of St. Louis, 6—1, 6—4, while Miss Carspecken won handily from Miss Maude Williams, of Richmond, Va., 6—0, 6—1.

Hines Plays De Mott In Asheville Finals

Asheville, N. C., July 31 (A.P.).—History has repeated itself in the annual North Carolina open tennis tournament at the Biltmore Forest Country Club, and Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, and Ralph De Mott, of Atlanta, finalists of 1929, will battle tomorrow for the title won by Hines last year.

Hines easily entered the last lap of his journey today by defeating James Halverstardt, of Atlanta, 6—1, 6—4, 6—2, while De Mott outlasted Alfred Halverstadt, also of Atlanta, to win a three-hour match, 6—2, 6—0, 4—6, 7—5.

Hines found his opponent off form in the semifinal match today and romped through the first set with ease. Halverstadt made a strong bid for the lead in the second set, but in his earlier matches, Hines stroking failed to approach the form shown for placement shots and taking the net at opportune times to win deciding points.

The De Mott-Halverstadt match was a marathon affair in which both players elected to play safe, with the result that many rallies lasted several minutes.

As both players neared exhaustion in the fourth set, Halverstadt lost set points on several occasions, De Mott coming from behind, 0—3, to take the final set, 7—5.

Whitney Filly Scores by 2 Lengths

Takes $6,075 Purse From Blind Lane and Ladana.

SARATOGA Race Track, July 31 (A.P.).—In the largest field of two-year-old fillies that has paraded for a stake here, Harry Payne Whitney's Pansette, 6 to 1, and ridden by Sonny Workman, was an easy winner of the Schuylerville stakes at five and a half furlongs here today.

Blind Lane, in the silks of the Goodestone Stable, was second and Ladana, the Rancocas Stable color bearer, third. George D. Widener's Sovietta, coupled with Stefana, and favorite, finished fourth.

There was a sixteen-minute delay at the barrier, caused by half of the field refusing to line up. When they were fairly straight the barrier was released. Sovetta, Stefana, Ladana, Blind Lane and Pansette went away heads apart. However, they quickly spread out and Ladana and Panasette raced head and head for three furlongs then Ladana had enough. Sovietta moved up and made a bid in the stretch, but she, too, dropped back. Panasette drew away to win by two lengths. Blind Lane beat Ladana half a length for the place. The race was worth $6,075.

Macedon Triumphs At Arlington.

Chicago, Ill., July 31 (A.P.).—Macedon, the 6-year-old chestnut gelding by Polymelian—Pinkie from the Wild Rose Farm, showing much improvement in form, was returned the winner of the Glen Flynn Purse, the best number on today's card at Arlington Park. Whiskery, from the Norven Stud, was second with Jean Lafitte, from the Keeneland Stud, third.

The race was an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upwards over the one-mile (Hertz course) distance and was worth $1,150 to the winning stable, while Macedon rewarded his admirers at $16.94 to $2 in the mutuels. The mile was covered in 1:38 2-5.

Macedon trailed the field for the first six furlongs, was taken to the inside entering the home stretch and, slipping through on the rail, gradually passed horse after horse, and, in a fast final ruah, was up to win by a neck. Whiskery, the favorite gradually improved his position, but could not offset the winner's rush and was second by half a length.

Yankees Win, 14-13, Over Red Sox

Gehrig Hits Homer, 3 On; 1½ Games Out of 2d Place.

New York Makes 7 Errors, Boston 6, in Loose Contest.

BOSTON, July 31 (A.P.).—Lou Gehrig once more blazed the way to victory for the New York Yankees today as they eked out a 14-to-13 victory over the Red Sox in a poorly played game. The Yanks are now 1½ games from second place.

Gehrig had a perfect day at bat, hitting a home run, his thirty-third of the season, and two doubles in three official times at bat. He drove in eight runs and scored three. The homer was made in the seventh inning with the bases full and scored the runs that eventually won the game.

Yanks Make Majority Of 13 Errors.

The teams got a lot of bad baseball out of their systems in the 2 hours and 45 minutes of play. The Yankees committed seven errors and Boston six. The Red Sox outhit the winners, 17-12, but they had 14 men left on base. Rabbit Warstler, new Boston shortstop, also hit a homer and was the outstanding Boston player at bat and in the field.

Larry French won his own game by doubling in the ninth with Bartell and Bool on base. Suhr, Pirate first baseman, hit a home run.

Earnshaw Weakens in 9th After Yielding Only 1 Hit.

Rice and Judge Fail in Crisis; Hadley Solved in Sixth.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

A PLAYWRIGHT could not have turned in a better sketch than that followed by the Nationals and Mackmen yesterday in the second and final game of their abbreviated series, for the fracas ended in a climax which gave the crowd of about 14,000 many a thrill. It was unfortunate that, from a Washington standpoint, it was on the books for the visitors to win. The 4-to-3 verdict which the Macks landed extended their league lead to eight games and pushed the Nationals back to but a game and a half ahead of the Yankees, who took a slugfest from the Boston Red Sox.

The affair started as a pretty pitching duel between George Earnshaw and Irving Hadley and these two went along at such an even gait that it was just a question of which would crack first. For five innings Hadley had held the heavy-hitting aliens to four scattered hits and none had been able to advance past first base. Then came the sixth and the Mackmen forged into a 3-run lead, adding another marker to their total in the ninth at the expense of Lloyd Brown.

Meanwhile, Earnshaw simply breezed along before getting his bumps in the ninth. In the first eight frames, Hadley, who singled in the third with two gone, had made the only Washington hit, while the only others who enjoyed base-life had been Rice, twice, as a result of errors, and four others who had walked.

Nats' Only Rally Falls Short.

Then came the ninth and the Nationals' game stand, which found them one run short at the finish. West opened this round with a scratch single past McNair and Bluege beat out a swinging bunt. Acting Manager Judge then decided this was a good time for Joe Kuhel, high-priced Kansas City rookie, who only reported yesterday, to get his big league baptism. He was sent to hit for Jack Hayes and, after coaxing the count to three and two, walked to fill the bases.

Dave Harris went to the tee in Spencer's place and doubled to the fence in right, scoring two and advancing Kuhel to third, Harris himself just managing to reach the middle cushion after hobbling all the way and beating the relay by a head-long slide. Patsy Gharrity was sent to hit for Brown and found "Lefty" Grove facing him. He popped to Dykes. This was only the first out of the inning and still gave Rice and Judge chances to become heroes.

Judge Pops Out to Williams.

This usually reliable pair had failed previously and neither was able to come through here, although Rice advanced both runners, Kuhel scoring with the third run of the frame and Jones, who had replaced Harris on second, going to the hot corner with the tying run, on the veteran's roller to Williams. Judge's best was a pop to Williams, however, and the Nats were beaten again, the victory giving the Mackmen an 8-7 edge for the si-

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

HADLEY got away from the barrier in fine fashion, fanning both Cramer and Simmons in the first canto. When he slipped a pretty curve past Simmons to end the round with Cochrane on first, he was given a great ovation.

The Nats were retired on three hard-hit balls in their first. Rice almost handcuffed Williams with a hot roller as a starter and then Cramer made a fine leaping one-hand catch to rob Judge of a hit headed for the right field wall. Ending the round, Manush sent Miller back to the base of the stands in deep center for a liner.

Jimmy Foxx was a very disgusted young man when Hadley slipped a fast one past him for a third strike opening the second canto.

Williams, shifted from short to second while Max Bishop was given a day of rest, made a nobby one-hand stop to rob West of a hit in the Nats' second.

Cronin backed fully twenty yards to drag down Earnshaw's near Texas leaguer opening round 3. The Nat shortstop gave an encore ending the round by snaring a similar tap from Cramer's bat.

Foxx dug deep in the dirt to take McNair's poor throw on Hayes' roller opening round 3 for the Nats.

Hadley was credited with the first Washington hit when he singled between first and second with two down in the home third.

Simmons showed some amateurish work in the Nats' third, when, after getting both hands on Rice's short looper, he let the ball pop out of them.

Cronin coaxed the first pass of the game, strolling with one dead in the fourth. He died at the doorway, however, as the next two up could help none.

West came in fast and well over toward right to make a pretty catch

CONTRACT CRIDGE.

Contract players who use the Passing Goulash do not seem to remain wedded for any considerable period to any particular method of passing. First we hear that the passing is 1-2-3, next 1-3-2, then 3-2-1, or 3-1-2 and so on. Of all these, 1-3-2 seems to be the most popular, but whether it is destined to hold its position none can say.

Of late in some coteries a new idea has been introduced. It is that after the Goulash deal has taken place, each of the four players examines the thirteen cards that have been dealt to him and passes them all over to his partner. Then each two partners exchange in one block the total number of cards that are to be passed. The rule varies; in some places six are passed, in others four or five. Thus each player ultimately plays four, five or six cards which were dealt to him originally and nine, eight or seven which were dealt to his partner.

While at first thought this might seem to be even more foolish than other methods of passing, it must be conceded that to take full advantage of this kind of passing a player must have keen memory. While examining the thirteen cards first received from his partner, he must remember the exact make-up of the thirteen he passed to his partner. He must have the skill to select just the right cards to pass back in order to create the most advantageous combinations of thirteen cards in each of the two hands, and in order to accomplish this he must be able to visualize the cards which his partner will pass back to him.

No prediction is made that this form of Passing Goulash ever will become generally popular. Possibly it will require too much skill and have a tendency to make the game tamer instead of filling it with thrills according to the Goulash idea; but it must be conceded that the new plan has plenty of thrills of its own, and the thoughtful player may say: "If I must get into this orgy of passing let me pass in the way in which I can best demonstrate my skill."

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF August 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a. m. to 7:30 a. m., 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and 11 p. m. to midnight.

You will meet with some good turns on the road of life on this date—many courtesies, kindnesses, pleasures and some real "lifts." Slight adverse influences in regard to health. General interest in games and sports.

Children born on this August 1 will have very straightforward characters and will know how to enjoy life. They will make friends easily and will be inclined to let their pleasures come before the more serious things of life. They will be generally good natured, but, when aroused, display violent tempers.

You so live that your life is an open book to all the world if they wish to read it. Your virtues, your faults, your pleasures, your displeasures, your sorrows, your joys, your successes, your failures are all revealed. You do not purposely flaunt your affairs to every Tom, Dick and Harry, but you are too candid, honest and unaffected to be able to conceal anything. You do not try to suppress your ordinary, natural emotions. You are too clean-minded, too refined, however, to ever become a "bull in a china closet" sort of person. You are impatient with dull respectability, but you never entirely lose your dignity. You are only refreshingly "breezy."

You are extremely tender hearted and sympathetic, and you never mock at a soul in pain. You are also very careful not to judge other people unjustly. It can not be denied that you enjoy the flesh-pots, and you are going to have a good time while you live. You do not have fastidious tastes and you can be happy with but few of the luxuries of life. You are not interested in the higher arts and you do not profess to be. Classical music or literature bore you, although you are fond of both popular music and books. You seldom worry about anything and, in a rather hap-hazard manner, you do lots of work. You are a harmless flirt and you will always enjoy attractive people of the opposite sex.

Successful people born August 1:

William Clark, explorer.

George Ticknor, author and educator, founder of Boston Public Library.

Gilbert C. Walker, "the political savior of Virginia."

Gaston Doumergue, French president.

Morris Hillquist, socialist and lawyer.

Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln and statesman.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Paris, July 31.

NAVY blue still tops the colors for the tailleur—navy blue with touches of white, usually polka dots, occasionally pin stripes, more often a mixture woven right in the material. And, of course, it is inevitable that there would be further touches of white in the trimming of the autumn tailleur.

Speaking of trimming, reminds me of blouses. And this season's blouses certainly are delightful! But a blouse just doesn't deserve to be called one unless it is intricate with handwork—not fussy, you understand, but simply well done and given the personality of a garment rather than merely a necessary accessory for a garment, with fine pleats, incrustations, tucks and hemstitching.

And, of course, it has become a tuck-in, as all skirts are more or less normal waisted.

The jacket of your tailleur? Yes, to be sure, it is either short or quite three-quarter length, in which case it has become an ensemble rather than a tailleur. I have even seen some that are so short and tight they just meet the normal waistline of the skirt. Others flare over the hips, but surprisingly few of them blouse.

I s'pose you will get tired of having me tell you how color-ravishing Mary Nowitsky's things are, and how difficult to interpret in mere pen and ink? But that is a fact, nevertheless, and if you could just imagine the lovely tea gown from this designer that I have sketched for you today, and your imagination is equal to it, then you will be able to see it in all of its beautiful pale green undergown, its silver lace hem and its dull blue jacket covered with soft purple flowers in that raised velvet effect.

The petite adorables of today are as smartly turned out as to color, completeness of detail and accessories as their chic mammas—and as simply. More hand work, perhaps, appears on their clothes than on mamma's, because there isn't so much space to cover. Fine hand hemstitching, tiny tucks and wee pleats, smocking, touches of delicate embroidery, and that new type of "fuzzy" painting that resembles raised velvet, give dresses for the little girl their elegance and charm. Sonny, too, comes in for his share of pleats and tucks and incrustations, if not actual embroidery!

A modernistic flower design, some novel suggestions for now and where to use it, and interspersed through this some leaflet after-summer beauty hints that will save you millions of trips to the beauty parlors if you just follow them for a couple of weeks! All in all, I think you'd better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

And I'm sure you will enjoy the Weekly Dare fashion letter every Sunday. Look for it in The Sunday Post each week.

Au revoir!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HAVE DIABETES EXAMINATION.

C. O. writes: Can you tell me the cause of carbuncles returning and also tell me how to get rid of same?

REPLY.

Have you ever been examined for diabetes? Does your work expose your skin to grease, dirt, and infections unduly? Do you poultice your carbuncles or apply fat meat to them? These questions may suggest methods of prevention. Phage, locally applied, sometimes gives excellent results.

EGGS, FOOD FOR CHILDREN.

Mrs. C. L. L. writes: Will you settle a controversy in regard to children's food?

1. Are hard boiled eggs and hot chocolate bad for children?

2. Has a hot, home cooked cereal more value than the kind already cooked when bought?

3. Is calf liver (and kidneys, also) of more value than that of beef, or are they merely more palatable?

REPLY.

1. There is no better food than eggs for a rapidly growing child. However, eggs do not agree with all children. Hard boiling is a good way to cook an egg. Hot chocolate is not quite as wholesome as hot milk. If it is given to children it is better to use as little of the chocolate and as much of the sugar and milk as the children will agree to.

2. They are about on a par.

3. They are more valuable if there is anemia. If there is no anemia they are about on a par with lean meat. In certain conditions, for example, they rank below lean meat.

ORDER YOUR SPRING BULBS EARLY.

AUGUST may seem a trifle early to discuss spring-flowering bulbs, but the catalogues are now obtainable and you know the ancient story of the early bird. By this time the bulbs have arrived in this country and the merchants will have them on their counters by mid-August.

In many localities where the falls are short and the winters long, bulbs must be in the ground by early October. So, all things considered, this is the time to take account of stock and determine just how many bulbs you will need. By placing your orders early, you will be sure of having them filled. If you wait until later you may have to be satisfied with substitutes for certain varieties you wanted because the stock has become exhausted.

Another advantage in purchasing early is the fact that you always receive first quality bulbs. Your orders will be filled from "first shipments." The first bulbs to arrive are always the largest and finest the growers have. The prices may fluctuate from year to year, but prices during the season remain as listed; therefore you pay no more for your bulbs at this time than later. Should you not want the bother of having the bulbs around so long before planting, mention a delivery date when you order them.

When choosing spring-flowering bulbs, never select varieties that have sprouted. It is much better to select specimens that are quite dormant. The reason for this is that some energy has been expended on developing these shoots. When you plant the bulb you check this development because the shoots can not develop in cold ground. When spring comes and the ground becomes warm the bulbs will begin to sprout but they will have expended some of their strength on these early shoots. For this reason they will not be quite as vigorous as they would have been had they remained dormant.

Another point worth considering is the weight of the bulbs. Always select heavy bulbs. They are sure to do better than lighter ones.

Will you please name the inclosed leaf? MRS. A. J. C.

While the leaf was entirely black and brittle when it reached me, I feel sure the plant from which it was taken is a species of Alternanthera.

My aunt has a species of cactus which requires repotting. When may this be done? AN INQUIRER.

You may transplant a cactus whenever it is convenient to do the work.

Please tell me the names of each of the inclosed nine rose leaves or portions of leaves. RUTH R.

I am sorry, but it is impossible to identify a species of rose from a leaf.

Please tell me whether there are low growing willow trees.

MARY P.

Yes. Be sure, when ordering the tree to explain to the dealer that you want a dwarf variety.

Please tell me the name of the inclosed leaf and exlain when I am to prune it. MRS. FAIRY B.

The leaves were from the Kentucky coffee tree. This tree may be pruned at any season.

What Ho! A Goofus Bear we find.
His tail 's in front—his head 's behind
We see him running to and fro—
He doesn't know which way to go.
Headed wrong since he was born
All other bears hold him to scorn.
Today's good deed for you, Boy Scout,
Would be to lead this Bear about!

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—It looks as though Humbert J. Fugazy, the noted air-castle architect, never will take his place in the foyer of the Metropolitan Coliseum on inaugural night, with the klieg batteries glowing on the swollen bosom of his ceremonial boiled shirt, to welcome the best people of the town to an ampitheater greater than Madison Square Garden, greater than the Boston Garden and greater even, than the late Paddy Harmon's Chicago Stadium. It looks as though there will be no Metropolitan Coliseum, for the Supreme Court in Brooklyn has issued an order with the reluctant consent of Mr. Fugazy, himself, forbidding further sales of stock in the Metropolitan Coliseum, Inc.

Obviously, if a man can not sell stock he can not build a stadium. Moreover, the district prosecutors, Federal and State, are pouring over the records of the sales already made principally among Italians, to the amount of $145,000, not enough to build an arena greater than Paddy Harmon's, but quite enough to cause a man a spell of trouble, especially if the subscribers happen to include numbers of the picturesque illiterate poor.

Fugazy and Harmon Poor Boys.

Mr. Fugazy and the late Paddy Harmon, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident a few days ago and buried from his Chicago Stadium after an appropriate lying-in-state, were alike in certain respects. Both were of the poor, both of immigrant parents, both neighborhood philanthropists and both wanted, for their vanity, to build the biggest stadium in the world. But there was this difference, that Paddy Harmon was a worker and Mr. Fugazy a trifler. Paddy talked a big stadium, but as he talked he hustled. He had something of Tex Rickard's resourcefulness and perseverance and a sincerity that Mr. Rickard never had.

Fugazy talked a big stadium and talked and talked. He talked his stadium one night in a back room in Brooklyn and as he talked he dabbed his finger in the beer puddles on the table where the seidels were foaming over and drew a magnificent picture of the metropolitan stadium, in stale beer, on the table. He drew towers higher than the Chrysler spire and the house was planned on a scale so grand that with a sweep of his finger he indicated where the best people, wooed away from Mr. Rickard's temple, would land on the roof in their planes and descend in elevators straight to their seats. But just then the bartender came in, grabbed up the seidels with one hand and with one wide, obliterating swipe of a moldy bartowel in the other wiped out Mr. Fugazy's coliseum.

Promises Bigger Plans "Tomorrow."

"Never mind," Mr. Fugazy said, leaning back with a laugh. "I will draw a bigger one tomorrow night. All my life bartenders have been wiping out coliseums on me."

I thought of many great American dramas and novels which had been wiped out the same way and began to feel a kindly understanding of Mr. Fugazy. At the same time I became reasonably certain that I would never cover a prize fight at the Metropolitan Coliseum.

It is years too late to build the metropolitan Coliseum now, anyway. The professional sport industry reached its full development in Rickard's time, and even Paddy Harmon, though he carried his plan through and lived to open the greatest indoor amphitheater in the world in a town where he had been a newsboy, also saw his ambition fail. The investment was $6,000,000, and any amateur economist could deduce that the carrying charges alone would consume more than $1,000 a day, the year around. This and the operating costs were too big for Paddy Harmon's market. The Garden firm in New York, with the warm cooperation of the New York prize fight commissioners, who naturally wished to serve the interests of the New York hotels and merchants, had closed a monopoly on the heavyweight championship and all the important heavyweight elimination matches. Mr. Harmon, generally speaking, had to accept matches that the Garden firm had discarded or

D. C. Named For Duckpin Tourney

City to Be Scene of National Bowling Congress Meet.

Selection of Capital Surprise; Convention Hall to Be Site.

WASHINGTON will be the scene of the next National Duckpin Bowling Congress tournament, it was learned last night by The Post. Directors of the association will meet in Baltimore on August 11 to make the official selection.

It is understood that Convention Hall be chosen as the scene of the national events, which have been held in Baltimore, Richmond and Waterbury, Conn., the last three years, since the organization of the association, which has its headquarters here in the Denrike Building.

The annual board of directors' meeting has been held the first week in September in former years, but the date has been moved forward to August 11 this year. The session will be held in the Press Building, West Fayette street, Baltimore. Officials will be elected for the ensuing year at this meeting.

Selection of Capital Assured.

The selection of Washington as the tournament city next March is considered assured. Only the formal sanction of the directors is needed.

Chief business to be transacted by the association officials at their meeting will primarily concern Baltimore and vicinity, as efforts will be made to perfect an organization to supervise competition in that city and suburbs.

The need of a well-organized governing body, similar to the Washington City Duckpin Association, has long been realized in Baltimore, but all efforts to start such an organization and to obtain the harmonious support of all alley owners have failed. George L. Isemann, secretary of the national organization, has laid plans for a Baltimore bowling body that will have the support of all owners and bowlers.

Naming of Washington Is Surprise.

The announcement that Washington is to be chosen as the scene of the tournament next March came as somewhat of a surprise. It had been indicated earlier that Brooklyn would probably be selected.

Washington has been passed up the past three years in favor of other cities where the small pin sport was not as well entrenched as in the Capital City, hotbed of the hard maple bowling game. Enthusiasm was first revived in Baltimore and then the tournament at Richmond served to stimulate interest in the South. Last year the tournament served to stabilize the game in New England. Officials expect this year the largest tournament entry list in the history of the organization.

Morgan's 21st Homer Wins for Tribe in 9th

Cleveland, Ohio, July 31 (A.P.).—Eddie Morgan's twenty-first home run of the season, with Porter on base and two out in the last half of the ninth, broke a 3-3 tie and gave Cleveland its third victory in four starts over Detroit here today, 5 to 3. Detroit had tied the score in the eighth.

Morgan's drive over the right field wall climaxed a tight pitching duel in which Wesley Ferrell won his seventeenth game of the season and his sixth straight. Vic Sorrell pitched six innings for Detroit, and gave way to Cantrell. Score:

Vines Defeats Hunter in 3 Sets

Wood, Also Californian, Reaches Finals at Seabright.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 31 (A.P.).—Two tennis players from Pasadena, Calif., qualified for the finals of the Seabright invitation tournament today when Ellsworth Vines, jr., defeated Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., 3—6, 6—2, 8—6, and Sydney B. Wood won from Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, 6—3, 3—6, 6—0.

Vines met Hunter at the best form the ranking player has shown this season. There was little to choose between them, with the exception of the overhead play of Vines. Hunter resorted to lobbing, and Vines might have lost then and there, but he proved himself just as adept in his stroking overhead as he had been off the ground.

The crucial third set saw Vines a veritable whirlwind as he piled up a lead of three love, only one game going to deuce. Hunter won the next two, breaking his opponent's service in the fifth.

Hunter had service in the wearing sixth game and although he led 40-15, it went to deuce seven times. He lost as Vines sent two scorching placements from the lines. The Californian won the next game for a lead of 5—2, but Hunter's last desperate battle pulled him up to five all. From that point, it was anybody's match and Vines took it in the fourteenth game on Hunter's service. Again the Pasadena youth won two of his four points by clean passing shots.

Assurance that three of the finals will involve Californians came when Miss Cross and Mrs. Harper moved into the finals of women's doubles by beating the coast team of Miss Marjorie Gladman and Miss Cruickshank, 7—5, 6—4. Sarah and Mianne Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., scored a three set win over Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., and Miss Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., 4—6, 6—2, 6—2, and qualified for the final tomorrow.

Yeoman Winner Over Mitchell in Virginia Open

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 31 (A.P.).—Paul Kunkel, Cincinnati, and Edgar Yeomans, Washington, D. C., North Carolina University star, gained the finals of the Virginia State open tennis championships here today, in spectacular victories.

Kunkel came from behind to defeat Alphonso Smith, jr., Charlottesville, Va., in five sets, 6—8, 2—6, 6—2, 7—5, 6—0. Yeomans scored a decided upset by running out on Dooley Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., in three straight sets, 8—6, 6—3, 6—4.

A week ago Mitchell defeated Yeomans in five sets for the Washington public parks championship.

Mrs. Deloyd Thompson, Washington, and Miss Margaret Carspecken, Morgantown, W. Va., gained the finals of the women's singles. Mrs. Thompson, the West Virginia open champion, defeated Miss Ellen Bates, of St. Louis, 6—1, 6—4, while Miss Carspecken won handily from Miss Maude Williams, of Richmond, Va., 6—0, 6—1.

Hines Plays De Mott In Asheville Finals

Asheville, N. C., July 31 (A.P.).—History has repeated itself in the annual North Carolina open tennis tournament at the Biltmore Forest Country Club, and Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, and Ralph De Mott, of Atlanta, finalists of 1929, will battle tomorrow for the title won by Hines last year.

Hines easily entered the last lap of his journey today by defeating James Halverstardt, of Atlanta, 6—1, 6—4, 6—2, while De Mott outlasted Alfred Halverstadt, also of Atlanta, to win a three-hour match, 6—2, 6—0, 4—6, 7—5.

Hines found his opponent off form in the semifinal match today and romped through the first set with ease. Halverstadt made a strong bid for the lead in the second set, but in his earlier matches, Hines stroking failed to approach the form shown for placement shots and taking the net at opportune times to win deciding points.

The De Mott-Halverstadt match was a marathon affair in which both players elected to play safe, with the result that many rallies lasted several minutes.

As both players neared exhaustion in the fourth set, Halverstadt lost set points on several occasions, De Mott coming from behind, 0—3, to take the final set, 7—5.

Whitney Filly Scores by 2 Lengths

Takes $6,075 Purse From Blind Lane and Ladana.

SARATOGA Race Track, July 31 (A.P.).—In the largest field of two-year-old fillies that has paraded for a stake here, Harry Payne Whitney's Panasette, 6 to 1, and ridden by Sonny Workman, was an easy winner of the Schuylerville stakes at five and a half furlongs here today.

Blind Lane, in the silks of the Goodestone Stable, was second and Ladana, the Rancocas Stable color bearer, third. George D. Widener's Sovietta, coupled with Stefana, and favorite, finished fourth.

There was a sixteen-minute delay at the barrier, caused by half of the field refusing to line up. When they were fairly straight the barrier was released. Sovetta, Stefana, Ladana, Blind Lane and Pansette went away heads apart. However, they quickly spread out and Ladana and Panasette raced head and head for three furlongs then Ladana had enough. Sovietta moved up and made a bid in the stretch, but she, too, dropped back. Panasette drew away to win by two lengths. Blind Lane beat Ladana half a length for the place. The race was worth $6,075.

Macedon Triumphs At Arlington.

Chicago, Ill., July 31 (A.P.).—Macedon, the 6-year-old chestnut gelding by Polymelian—Pinkie from the Wild Rose Farm, showing much improvement in form, was returned the winner of the Glen Flynn Purse, the best number on today's card at Arlington Park. Whiskery, from the Norven Stud, was second with Jean Lafitte, from the Keeneland Stud, third.

The race was an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upwards over the one-mile (Hertz course) distance and was worth $1,150 to the winning stable, while Macedon rewarded his admirers at $16.94 to $2 in the mutuels. The mile was covered in 1:38 2-5.

Macedon trailed the field for the first six furlongs, was taken to the inside entering the home stretch and, slipping through on the rail, gradually passed horse after horse, and, in a fast final rush, was up to win by a neck. Whiskery, the favorite gradually improved his position, but could not offset the winner's rush and was second by half a length.

Yankees Win, 14-13, Over Red Sox

Gehrig Hits Homer, 3 On; 1½ Games Out of 2d Place.

New York Makes 7 Errors, Boston 6, in Loose Contest.

BOSTON, July 31 (A.P.).—Lou Gehrig once more blazed the way to victory for the New York Yankees today as they eked out a 14-to-13 victory over the Red Sox in a poorly played game. The Yanks are now 1½ games from second place.

Gehrig had a perfect day at bat, hitting a home run, his thirty-third of the season, and two doubles in three official times at bat. He drove in eight runs and scored three. The homer was made in the seventh inning with the bases full and scored the runs that eventually won the game.

Yanks Make Majority Of 13 Errors.

The teams got a lot of bad baseball out of their systems in the 2 hours and 45 minutes of play. The Yankees committed seven errors and Boston six. The Red Sox outhit the winners, 17-12, but they had 14 men left on base. Rabbit Warstler, new Boston shortstop, also hit a homer and was the outstanding Boston player at bat and in the field.

Pirates Again Defeat Cards by Run, 4 to 3

Pittsburgh, July 31 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh swept the three-game series with St. Louis, all by one-run margins, winning today, 4 to 3.

Larry French won his own game by doubling in the ninth with Bartell and Bool on base. Suhr, Pirate first baseman, hit a home run.

Grimes, a former Pirate, pitched well for the Cardinals but was removed in the seventh for a pinch hitter. Lindsey, who relieved him, was charged with the defeat.

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

HADLEY got away from the barrier in fine fashion, fanning both Cramer and Simmons in the first canto. When he slipped a pretty curve past Simmons to end the round with Cochrane on first, he was given a great ovation.

The Nats were retired on three hard-hit balls in their first. Rice almost handcuffed Williams with a hot roller as a starter and then Cramer made a fine leaping one-hand catch to rob Judge of a hit headed for the right field wall. Ending the round, Manush sent Miller back to the base of the stands in deep center for a liner.

Jimmy Foxx was a very disgusted young man when Hadley slipped a fast one past him for a third strike opening the second canto.

Williams, shifted from short to second while Max Bishop was given a day of rest, made a nobby one-hand stop to rob West of a hit in the Nats' second.

Cronin backed fully twenty yards to drag down Earnshaw's near Texas leaguer opening round 3. The Nat shortstop gave an encore ending the round by snaring a similar tap from Cramer's bat.

Foxx dug deep in the dirt to take McNair's poor throw on Hayes' roller opening round 3 for the Nats.

Hadley was credited with the first Washington hit when he singled between first and second with two down in the home third.

Simmons showed some amateurish work in the Nats' third, when, after getting both hands on Rice's short looper, he let the ball pop out of them.

Cronin coaxed the first pass of the game, strolling with one dead in the fourth. He died at the doorway, however, as the next two up could help none.

West came in fast and well over toward right to make a pretty catch

Earnshaw Weakens in 9th After Yielding Only 1 Hit.

Rice and Judge Fail in Crisis; Hadley Solved in Sixth.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

A PLAYWRIGHT could not have turned in a better sketch than that followed by the Nationals and Mackmen yesterday in the second and final game of their abbreviated series, for the fracas ended in a climax which gave the crowd of about 14,000 many a thrill. It was unfortunate that, from a Washington standpoint, it was on the books for the visitors to win. The 4-to-3 verdict which the Macks landed extended their league lead to eight games and pushed the Nationals back to but a game and a half ahead of the Yankees, who took a slugfest from the Boston Red Sox.

The affair started as a pretty pitching duel between George Earnshaw and Irving Hadley and these two went along at such an even gait that it was just a question of which would crack first. For five innings Hadley had held the heavy-hitting aliens to four scattered hits and none had been able to advance past first base. Then came the sixth and the Mackmen forged into a 3-run lead, adding another marker to their total in the ninth at the expense of Lloyd Brown.

Meanwhile, Earnshaw simply breezed along before getting his bumps in the ninth. In the first eight frames, Hadley, who singled in the third with two gone, had made the only Washington hit, while the only others who enjoyed base-life had been Rice, twice, as a result of errors, and four others who had walked.

Nats' Only Rally Falls Short.

Then came the ninth and the Nationals' game stand, which found them one run short at the finish. West opened this round with a scratch single past McNair and Bluege beat out a swinging bunt. Acting Manager Judge then decided this was a good time for Joe Kuhel, high-priced Kansas City rookie, who only reported yesterday, to get his big league baptism. He was sent to hit for Jack Hayes and, after coaxing the count to three and two, walked to fill the bases.

Dave Harris went to the tee in Spencer's place and doubled to the fence in right, scoring two and advancing Kuhel to third, Harris himself just managing to reach the middle cushion after hobbling all the way and beating the relay by a headlong slide. Patsy Gharrity was sent to hit for Brown and found "Lefty" Grove facing him. He popped to Dykes. This was only the first out of the inning and still gave Rice and Judge chances to become heroes.

Judge Pops Out to Williams.

This usually reliable pair had failed previously and neither was able to come through here, although Rice advanced both runners, Kuhel scoring with the third run of the frame and Jones, who had replaced Harris on second, going to the hot corner with the tying run, on the veteran's roller to Williams. Judge's best was a pop to Williams, however, and the Nats were beaten again, the victory giving the Mackmen an 8-7 edge for the fi-

NATS FACE TWO TWIN BILLS AFTER LAY-OFF TODAY

Jones and Marberry Slated to Hurl in N. Y. Tomorrow.

Judge Named Acting Manager in Absence of Johnson.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE third blank date of the week is drawn by the Nationals today, but they will more than make up for this by playing double-headers tomorrow and Sunday, with considerable traveling thrown in to boot. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Capital Citians leave here for New York, where a double-header will be played tomorrow, with the team returning Saturday night for the first Sabbath twin bill of the season, with the Boston Red Sox as guests.

Sunday night the team returns to New York, playing single games there on Monday and Tuesday and then going to Philadelphia for contests on Wednesday and Thursday, returning home Friday to meet the Cleveland Indians in the first series of a long home stand against the Western clubs.

Because of the serious illness of Mrs. Walter Johnson, Capt. Joe Judge will be in charge of the team on its jaunt to New York, and he will continue to handle the managerial reins until the Nat leader's wife improves. Immediately after the game Johnson hustled back to the hospital, but, before leaving the park, he announced that the task of beating the Yankees in tomorrow's double-header would be put up to "Sad Sam" Jones and Fred Marberry.

Yankees Making Serious Bid.

During the past few weeks the Nats have been so busy casting their eyes toward the top rung of the ladder, occupied by the Athletics, that they have not noticed that the Yankees have been sneaking up behind them. Today the Nats are in second place by the small margin of but one and one-half games, which means that the series in New York is of the utmost importance and that, unless the Nationals are able to put their best foot forward, they may be in third place when they again meet the Mackmen in the Quaker City next week.

Joe Kuhel, "$65,000 beauty" from Kansas City, reported to the Nationals before yesterday's game and made quite a hit with the fans while performing at first in the fielding drill preceding the game. Kuhel had been traveling en route here since Tuesday night, but showed no effects of the trip. He is not likely to break into the regular line-up for some time, according to present plans.

Kuhel declared that he is particularly pleased that of the several major league clubs after him, it was the Nats who finally landed him. "I believe that the Washington Club has a chance to win the pennant," he said, "and hope to be able to help a little. Besides, I have always been a great admirer of Walter Johnson and am tickled to death at being able to play under him."

Powell Is Nursing Boil on Cheek.

Outfielder Alvin (Jake) Powell has pulled up with a boil on his left cheek, which accounts for the decoration he wore yesterday. In case fans did not recognize him, Jake is wearing Loepp's cast-off uniform, No. 11.

"Chief" Carlos Moore, optioned to Chattanooga by the Nats, who has been here under the care of the Washington Club physician, because of an injured salary wing, is about ready to rejoin the Lookouts. He showed plenty of stuff pitching to the Nats in the wand drill before yesterday's game.

Outfielder Roger Cramer played his last game for some time or the Mackmen yesterday, as he has been released on option to the Portland Club, of the Pacific Coast League, and has been ordered to join his new club immediately. Homer Summa, with the A's last season and sent to Portland, has been repurchased and is expected to rejoin the Mackmen in New York Sunday.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—NERVATOR, $9.66, $4.36, $3.20; GOOD FRIEND, $6.12, $4.10; GREY KITTY, $4.30.

NERVATOR, slightly outpaced to the stretch turn, went clear on the outside, closed fast through final furlong, wore down leaders with a rush and won drawing clear. GOOD FRIEND, always a forward factor, disposed of MISS KEATON reaching last sixteenth, taking brief lead, but was no match for the winner. GREY KITTY ran forwardly, held on well and outgamed MISS KEATON in the drive. MISS KEATON began fast, set early pace to midway of the home stretch, but with only a short advantage, and tired when others challenged. TROTWOOD closed a gap. GYPSIE CHIEF was taken wide when he suffered interference and was blocked in the stretch. LAUHALA went poorly and broke from outside starting gate. FERVID persisted in forcing early pace under excessive pressure and was done in the stretch. BRAST began poorly.

FIALA began fast and, showing most early speed, opened up a good lead to the stretch, began tiring in final drive, but outlasted C. M. M'KENNA. The latter improved position gradually, came through on the inside entering the stretch and closed with a good rush to almost wear down the winner. JESSIE CAREY also gained gradually and came fast through final furlong and finished gamely. MARY'S TOY raced wide, loomed up strongly entering the stretch, held on well, but hung right at the end. GERMAINE CHAUVELOT suffered interference, being crowded back entering the stretch, but was coming again at the end. MISS ROSEDALE could never get to the front, but was close up to near the final furlong and then stopped badly. Others were outrun.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOOD JEST, $45.52, $13.86, $5.80; BIRTHDAY GIFT, $3.68, $2.58; HYMAN, $2.92.

GOOD JEST, close in pursuit of the leaders to the stretch, came along on the outside, but was blocked and then was ridden to the inside, was lucky to get through, sharply wore down BIRTHDAY GIFT and only just got up in final strides to win. BIRTHDAY GIFT was slow to get under way, but soon raced into closest pursuit of IN BETWEEN and, challenging strongly in stretch, wore down latter into lead thirty yards out, but weakened right at the end and failed to stall off winner. HYMAN was outrun, but closed with a big rush, nosing out IN BETWEEN. The latter began tiring in the final furlong. EGYPT had no excuses.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUSIE JANE, $17.16, $5.92, $3.62; CURTSEY, $4.82, $2.96; JEANNE WACHS, $2.60.

SUSIE JANE, going suddenly improved, was outpaced to the stretch turn but, closing fast on the outside through stretch, steadily wore down leaders and got up to win going away. CURTSEY, always a forward factor, forced pace strongly and held on well. JEANNE WACHS, on inside, saved much ground and outgamed CHELYS in final drive. CHELYS had most early speed, retaining short lead to the final furlong, but faltered badly in the later stages. ESME and BLIND LOVE were outrun.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,600; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:28. Winner, Wild Rose Farm's ch. g. MACEDON, trailing the field for three-quarters, came to the inside when entering the stretch and, finding an opening, gradually worked his way through the leaders, wore them down in the final sixteenth, getting up to outgame WHISKERY in the final drive. WHISKERY was on the outside, improved position gradually, disposed of LIEUTENANT RUSSELL midway of the home stretch, but could not withstand the winner. JEAN LAFITTE was forced wide entering the stretch, but came again strongly and bested remainder. LIEUTENANT RUSSELL had most early speed, but faltered in the final eighth. DEVON was done in the stretch. SWEET VERBENA was under a strong pull throughout and was given a crude ride.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:59. Off at 5:02½. Winner, R. B. Allen's br. c. (3), by Johren—Marguerite. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CABILDO, $18.08, $7.84, $5.06; BAKED ALASKA, $6.78, $4.26; LOCKET, $5.80.

CABILDO trailed many lengths behind the leaders to the stretch turn, where he began to gain rapidly and, closing with a tremendous rush, closed an immense gap in the stretch and just got up to nose out BAKED ALASKA. The latter opened up a long, early lead, retained it to the final sixteenth before tiring and barely missed lasting. LOCKET had speed, saved ground and was a forward factor throughout. DELMONICO also closed considerable ground from a slow beginning. HARAMZADA improved position gradually into contention at the stretch turn, but faltered in the drive. EASTER BOY had no excuse. BEHAVE CASH, a factor for the first quarter mile, quit thereafter. The others were outrun all the way.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:31½. Off at 5:32. Winner, Royal Stable's br. f. PRINCESS EDITH, away forwardly and keeping close up, challenged and wore down MIKE CAREY in the stretch and held safe advantage at the end. GREY GULL, outrun early, improved position and, closing with a rush, got up to outfinish MIKE CAREY by a head. The latter showed most speed to the stretch turn, tired and weakened at the end. DABSTER was gaining gradually throughout. JACK HASKELL was done in stretch. VANQUISH was taken up at the start, ridden timidly and kept far out of it. WILDALE showed early speed and quit. BOROUGH MONGER met serious interference going to the first turn.

Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Saratoga and Arlington Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 31.—The test stakes for fillies will be renewed tomorrow and is the headliner on the Saratoga program of six races. Nine 3-year-old fillies have been listed for the stake, which is at seven furlongs. The Belair Stud's FLYING GAL, which was off best form on Long Island, has trained well at Saratoga, and will have the advantage of Sande riding, and is selected to win. THE BEASEL will be the favorite, and has an advantage in weight of three pounds against the Belair filly. But her record is none too consistent and she had help from FLYING HEELS the day she won over her stablemate at Empire City. She won there later easily over LOST AGNES.

The Greentree Stable's GOOSE EGG should figure in the race. She likes this track and is in top form. THE SPARE is speedy but the seven furlongs will find some of them tiring, while FLYING GAL can go the route with much in reserve.

FIRST RACE—MEEK, with Workman up, is selected to win the first race for 2-year-olds, claiming. Workman will be worth several pounds. ALPINE GIRL and UPSWEEP should battle for the place, with an outside chance for QUITA, winner last out.

SECOND RACE—YANKEE DOODLE looks best. He has worked impressively at Saratoga and if he runs back to his Aqueduct form when he beat TONY JOE and others, he should score in this claiming event. PARADISE LOST, with 100 pounds, should come close and is rated the contender. MONTFERRAT will be favorite, but the ease with which these chalk favorites are overturned is illustrated at all race tracks with recurring frequency. Besides, he is a mud horse and also inconsistent. On his best race he should win, but he is seldom back to his best, oftener to his worst.

THIRD RACE—The Himyar Handicap, at seven furlongs, looms as a spectacular event, with plenty of speed. FINITE on form is best, but he never was good on carrying weight. He has up 123 top impost, but with that he must be accepted as probably the winner. GUN ROYAL is a very dangerous contender. In his last race he led a fast field to the stretch going a mile and 70 yards, then quit. He is not a sprinter. The route being in his reach here, he will make a heavily-weighted horse go fast all the way. PETO is another lightweight with a big chance and is trained to the minute. GOLD BROOK has worked well as has EDDIE AHERN.

FOURTH RACE—WU is best and can go the route, but is far from being a sure thing, for SCOT'S GREY has been working fine and will have much backing from sharpshooters on the line. ST. OTIS, a fair sort of plater, should hold the others safe. Eaby will have the mount on WU, which has worked well.

SIXTH RACE—The Dixiana Purse, for 2-year-olds. CONDESCEND, to be ridden by McAtee, looks best. BANJO, which won his last start, appears dangerous and should beat the others for second money. CULACHAIN has the best chance to show.

ARLINGTON PARK.

This track has one day to run before its successful meeting terminates. The feature is the Wisconsin Purse for 3-year-olds at one mile. UNCLE LUTHER looks best, but he will have to be ridden out to vanquish MISS BESS, which is becoming a whirlwind and won her last start over a good field. WHO WIN should have a chance for third money. STOP GAP may be underrated.

FIRST RACE—For maiden 2-year-olds has a large field but little class. BANAL GIRL, a Bradley filly, was highly regarded in the East, but remains a maiden. She may win this. JEANNE D. should figure, and MAID OF HONOR is tabbed for third.

SECOND RACE—DEVILKIN looks much the best in the second race, the steeplechase, with PROFITEER the contender. ROYAL PLAY for third.

THIRD RACE—CASANOVA is a standout. He won his last start. AUNT DEB and BLUE LAW should be the most dangerous contenders.

FOURTH RACE—CALOME may repeat. LAWYER will have his best chance in a long time, but second will do him. WHISP is a show probability.

SIXTH RACE—VANDAL will have JACK ALEXANDER to beat in the sixth, with GOLDEN CANOPY threatening. VANDAL has the class, if ready.

SEVENTH RACE—ROYAL CHARGE is selected in the seventh race over SETH'S BALLOT and LA GOLONDRINA. The last named should improve.

EIGHTH RACE—FAIRY MAIDEN has the edge. RUANE is uncertain, but SPEEDY and RIFF RAFF have a chance.

CAPITAL CITY LEAGUE BOARD UPHOLDS 2 PROTESTS

St. Joe Loses Contest to Woodmen

Order Hyattsville to Replay Game With Mt. Rainier.

Ball Hit Over Fence at Plaza Ruled Home Run.

THE St. Joseph and Hyattsville Nines received setbacks in their respective Capital City League races as the result of decisions on protests handed down last night by the protest board of the sandlot baseball organization.

The District League protest of the Woodmen of the World, involving a ball hit over the fence in a game with St. Joseph, was upheld while it was also decided hat Hyattsville was guilty of using ineligible players in last Sunday's game with the Mount Rainier Club in the Prince Georges County League. In the latter case, however the board's decision brought out that the evidence indicated that the Hyattsville management was under a misapprehension in the matter, although at fault.

The St. Joe-Woodmen, game was awarded to the Woodmen Team, giving them a 6-5 victory in nine innings. St. Joe had scored one run in the tenth. The Hyattsville-Mount Rainier game was ordered replayed, following the precedent set earlier in the season when Mount Rainier and Berwyn were ordered to replay.

St. Joe Still Factor In Race.

While the decision is a blow to the chances of St. Joe in the defense of its District unlimited title, it does not eliminate them. S. Joe has eight victories and three defeats, remaining second to Columbia Heights, which has won nine out of ten games. As Columbia Heights must meet St. Joe and the Anacostia Eagles again, the race is far from decided.

Hyattsville's pennant hopes lie in defeating Mount Rainier in the replay.

The Woodmen's protest was on a ball knocked over the right centerfield fence on the Plaza Diamond by Outfielder Bertolini. The hit scored the run which tied the score in the last half of the ninth, and Bertolini was held at third base by the relay to the plate. The Woodmen claimed interference, protesting that the St. Joseph outfielder had been assisted by a fan in recovering the ball and that Bertolini should have been allowed to score. Both teams and the umpire agreed that the ball had gone over the fence.

Board Quotes Rule 48.

The committee, after hearing that no ground rules on batted balls had been agreed upon before the game, upheld the protest in accordance with rule 48, section 2, which reads: "A fair batted ball that goes over the fence or into a stand shall entitle the batsman to a home run unless it should pass out of the ground or into a stand at a less distance than 250 feet from the home base, in which case the batter shall be entitled to two bases only."

Carnera and Chevalier Are Matched Again

Chicago, July 31 (A.P.).—The proposed "battle of vindication" between Primo Carnera and Leon Chevalier has been approved and will be held August 14, provided Uncle Sam does not shoo Primo from his shores before that time.

Promoter Mique Malloy gained sanction to put on the bout after the National Boxing Association lifted its ban on Carnera, imposed after the giant Italian's last bout with Chevalier.

The Illinois body did not, however, lift its suspension of Leon See, Carnera's head manager, and the latter will not be permitted to act in the negotiations for the bout.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 31.—A. P. Haynes won the municipal horseshoe tournament championship yesterday afternoon when he defeated B. E. Endicott, 50-44, in a thrilling engagement on the local course.

Haynes' ability to toss ringers at the critical point gave him the victory. The victor is over 50 years of age and a veteran railroad worker. He formerly was cowboy on a Western ranch. Haynes will represent Alexandria in the Virginia championship. The place for these matches will be determined later.

S. S. Bernheimer defeated J. P. Hepburn in a first-round match of the municipal tennis tournament yesterday. Bernheimer won, 4—6, 6—2, 9—7. It was the most exciting tennis match of the tourney. Bill Moncure refereed.

Manager Charles Corbett, of the St. Mary's Celtics, is after a baseball game for Sunday with the Bauserman Nine, of Arlington County. Fredericksburg Elks canceled.

The newly organized Del Ray Midgets Baseball Team defeated the Ajax Club today, 14 to 1. Redmond pitched for the winners and allowed one hit. On Friday the Del Rayans will meet the Colonials, winners of the municipal midget series.

An important reorganization meeting of the Del Ray A. C. will be held tomorrow night at the home of President P. P. Clark, 1015 Clyde avenue. A coach will probably be selected at this session.

Sidney Hancock, head life guard at the municipal swimming pool, has carded the first night swimming event for the city on Wednesday, August 6. Entries for the meet are being received by life guards at the pool.

Triple Play and Steal Feature Olmsted Win

A triple play, a triple steal and shut-out pitching all contributed to enable the Olmsted Grill Nine to wallop the District Firemen, 5 to 0, yesterday as the winners played big league ball. With two high school players in the infield, the triple play of the Grill Nine was performed via the Raedy-Cumberland-Nelson-Hemelt route, while Everett Russell, of Tech High School, was another schoolboy to take a leading role.

Besides pitching six-hit ball, none of which was more than a single, Russell came home on the front end of the triple steal after colloborating with Hemelt and King in the theft. Homer Drissel, another former Techite, led the winners' attack with three hits.

Bluege raced back to short left to end the enemy fifth by turning in a nice catch of Earnshaw's mile-high foul.

Earnshaw walked Spencer on four successive wide ones with one down in the home fifth.

Rice was given life on an error for the second time in succession when Williams fumbled his grounder in the fifth session.

Miller accepted his fifth chance in as many innings when he gathered in Judge's fly for the third out.

McNair doubled opening round 6 to be the first Mackman to see base-life at second. Cramer followed by getting a hit on his intended sacrifice when his bunt skidded just out of Hadley's reach toward short. Hadley then issued his first pass of the game, filling the bases by walking Cochrane on four balls in a row.

Foxx fanned for a second time in the Macks' "big" sixth.

Cronin's fly in the Nats' sixth was the longest-hit ball of the game. It went in the air a mile, more or less, but came down with a thud in Cochrane's big mitt after the catcher had chased the ball almost to the pitcher's box.

Shires batted for Spencer in the seventh with one on and one out and Earnshaw walked him on four successive wide ones.

Williams went over behind Foxx to take Rice's roller ending the seventh with his gloved hand. This robbed the batter of a hit and the Nats of a run, for Bluege was on third at the time.

Lloyd Brown reached out in the dark to turn off an electric fan in his apartment Wednesday night, missed aim, and the blade took a hunk of flesh off of his right thumb. Fortunately, he pitches with his left hand so the injury did not prevent him from taking his second relief shift in as many games yesterday. He faced the Mackmen starting the eighth after Hadley had given way to a pinch hitter.

Brown fanned both Cochrane and Simmons for the second and third outs in the alien eighth after Cramer had rolled to the pitcher to open the round.

Williams went back to the foul line in short right to make a pretty catch of Cronin's pop ending the eighth.

Joe Kuhel was given a chance to show his wares in the ninth when he pinch-hit for Hayes with men on second and first and none out. He worked the count to three and two and then walked, filling the bases.

Lefty Grove, who beat the Nationals Wednesday, rushed to the bull pen to warm up when Earnshaw got in trouble in the ninth and then finished out the game.

Dave Harris showed plenty of gameness in running out his double, while up in a pinch-hitting role in the ninth. This blow drove home two runs, with the injured flychaser just hobbling around the bases. Quick handling of the return peg would have nipped him easily, but Williams, who took it, was more intent watching the men further along the base paths. As it was, Harris had to slide head-first to reach the middle sack in safety.

BALTIMORE GIRL WINS UPSET

Miss Dunham Beaten in Women's District Tournament.

THE first upset in the District of Columbia women's tennis championship occurred yesterday on the courts of the Columbia Country Club after four days' play of the tournament when Josephine Dunham, the second seeded player of the tourney and winner of the City of Washington championship last month, was beaten by Reba Kirson, of Baltimore, in a hard-fought three-set match.

Miss Dunham, on whom many had counted to compete in the finals, was never in the running with the Baltimore star after the first set, which she captured, 6—4. One down, Miss Kirson came back with a rush to even the match by winning the second set, 6—3, and continued her brilliant form in the final by holding the Capitol City star to two games.

As a result of her victory, Miss Kirson will meet Marywill Wakeford, seeded No. 4, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in one of the two semifinal matches. Miss Wakeford advanced to this stage by disposing of Margaret Graham in impressive fashion, 6—1, 6—1.

The other semifinal affair, starting a half hour earlier, will bring together the defending champion, Frances Krucoff and Mrs. Ruth Martinez, the third seeded player. Miss Krucoff completely snowed under Mary Ryan yesterday in two love sets, while Mrs. Martinez eked out a twin 6—4 victory over Louise Omwake.

Finals Scheduled Tomorrow.

The winners of today's matches will meet tomorrow afternoon for the District of Columbia women's championship.

Although defeated in the singles, Miss Dunham had enough left to come bask later in the afternoon and pair with Frances Krucoff in defeating the Tabler sisters.

The second seeded doubles team of Frances Walker and Mrs. Ruth Martinez also emerged with colors flying yesterday by a 6—3, 6—4 victory over Marion Butler and Mary Detwiler.

Semifinals will also be played in the doubles tourney today, both matches being listed to start at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Martinez and Miss Walker will tackle the Misses Kingsbury and Raven, while the Krucoff-Dunham team will oppose the duo of Wakeford and Graham.

Vines Again Is Winner Over Hunter In 3 Sets

Seabright, N. J., July 31 (A.P.).—All California finals in both men's and women's singles were assured in the annual Seabright invitation tennis tournament today as favorites fell by the wayside in the semifinal round.

Tomorrow Ellsworth Vines, jr., 18-year-old sensation from Pasadena, Calif., will meet his fellow-townsman, Sydney B. Wood, jr., for the men's title. On Saturday, Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Los Angeles, will fight it out for the women's crown.

Vines scored his second victory n five days over Frank Hunter, of New Rochelle, veteran internationalist and No. 2 in the national rankings, in the semifinal round today, 3—6, 6—2, 8—6. Almost as surprising was Wood's triumph over Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, by 6—3, 3—6, 6—0.

Bankers' Net League Crown to Merchants

Netmen of the Merchants Bank won the championship of the Bankers Tennis League for the first time when they gained the 1930 title by sweeping their last match of the season against the District National Bank racqueters. By their victory, the Merchant players annexed the Cy Cup trophy, which was placed in competition in 1927. No team has won it more than once—Riggs, District and Metropolitan all having captured it in the first three years.

In winning the cup this year, which must be gained three times for permanent possession, Merchants dropped but one match—that in the Washington Loan & Trust setto which they won, 2 to 1. Altogether they won 26 and lost 1 match for a winning percentage of .962.

Callan (Merchant's) defeated Mullin, 6—1, 6—3; Linger (Merchant's) defeated Ford, 6—1, 6—3; Callan and Linger (Merchant's) defeated Mullin and Ford, 6—2, 6—1.

NATS' RALLY HALTED BY GROVE IN NINTH

teen games 'ready played between the two teams.

The Mackmen's outbreak in the sixth was sudden and convincing. McNair opened witl. a double, being the first Mackman to get as fa as second, and Cramer then beat out an intended sacrifice, the tap heading toward short just out of Hadley's reach. A base on balls to Cochrane then packed the aisles a.id Simmons proceeded to empty them, doubling to righ to score two hile Cochrane was killed at the plate while also trying to register. After Foxx fanned, Miller doubled Simmons home.

Two Walks in Seventh Useless to Nats.

Hadley recovered his equilibrium and set the visitors down in order in the seventh, giving way to a pinch-hitter in the home half when Earnshaw walked two, including Shires, who represented the pitcher at the tee. The Nats put their first runner on third in this round, but he died there when Rice could help the cause none.

Bases on balls, which have proven costly to the Nats in recent games, hurt them in the ninth when, with one gone, Brown issued a pass to Miller. Then followed hits by Williams and Dykes, which gave the visitors what proved to be their winning run. But for this, the Nats' rally in their half might not have been in vain.

Simmons' and Harris' doubles were the big hits of the game, although Williams was high gun as to numbers, this rookie coming through with a trio of singles for the major share of the ten safeties credited the visitors. The Nats obtained but four, only two real ones, three of these coming in their final turn at the swinging block.

Probe of Lassman's Death Discloses He Died a Hero

NEW YORK July 31 (A.P.).—Comptroller Leroy Kimball, of New York University, announced today an investigation by the university had disclosed that Al Lassman, former N. Y. U. football star, drowned in Long Lake, Maine, while attempting to save the lives of three small boys.

Information from the camp published at the time said that Lassman, supposedly a visitor, had borrowed a canoe late at night without permission, had paddled out into rough water, and apparently had overturned and drowned.

Instead of this being the case, Comptroller Kimball said in a statement to the Associated Press, Lassman in reality was a counselor at the camp and had taken three boys for a paddle in quiet water during the afternoon. The canoe overturned and Lassman lost his life in an attempt to hoist the third boy onto the canoe after having raised two to safety, Comptroller Kimball said. The accident occurred in the afternoon of July 6 and not late at night as was originally stated.

The third boy was rescued by Norman Parcells, a Yale man acting as counselor at Camp Ropioa nearby, who saw the accident and told the story to Al Nixon, graduate manager, who conducted the investigation for New York University in Maine.

Authorities at New York University were moved to conduct a private investigation following upon receipt of an anonymous letter from Harrison, Me., several days after the accident. The information in that letter differed completely from the facts in the case as revealed at Camp Zakelo, where the accident occurred, and in the coroner's investigation.

Giants Defeat Braves, 11-5, in Ragged Contest

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—The Giants took their fourth straight game and their second from the Boston Braves today by winning a ragged encounter, 11 to 5. The Giants rolled up a total of 20 hits and only once was their early lead threatened.

Neither starting pitcher had much success. Clarence Mitchell failed to hold the lead the Giants gave him, Boston driving him from the mound with four runs in the fifth inning. Tom Zachary was the victim of poor support while Fred Frankhouse, who followed him, was chased from the field by Umpire McGrew in the seventh for arguing over his strike out.

Hub Pruett relieved Mitchell and gave but three hits in four and one-third innings, getting credit for the victory.

Phils End Losing Streak By Beating Robins, 12-7

Philadelphia, July 31 (A.P.).—The Dodgers were defeated by the Phillies here today, 12 to 7, and as the Cubs were idle, Brooklyn's lead in the National League race was cut to two games. The victory brought the Phillies long losing streak to an end, for they had dropped their eleven previous games. In the second inning a line drive off Chuck Klein's bat struck Ray Phelps and forced him to retire. Heimach and Dudley, who followed Phelps to the slab, were unable to hold the local sluggers, who made fourteen hits.

Lester Sweetland went the route for the Phils and yielded fourteen hits, five of which were made by Herman. He hit his twenty-third home run of the season in the seventh inning.

Shamrock V Leaves Azores for America

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, July 31 (A.P.).—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V and her convoy, the steam yacht Erin, left Horta today en route to the United States, where the Shamrock will compete for the America's Cup.

Col. Duncan Neill, personal representative of Sir Thomas, boarded the Shamrock this morning while the Erin was recoaling and reported that the trim yacht had suffered no harm in her passage from England down to Horta.

The crew of the yacht spent the day thoroughly overhauling all gears.

The day was bright and there was a north wind. Both yachts sailed from the harbor late in the afternoon and headed out to sea in fine weather.

During the run down from England to the Azores the yachts became separated in mist and rain for five days, but the Shamrock turned up shortly after the Erin.

Lyons Wins 17th Game As Chisox Take Two

Chicago, July 31 (A.P.).—Ted Lyons held St. Louis to four hits in the second game of today's double-header with St. Louis to give the White Sox a 1 to 0 victory and account for his seventeenth triumph of the season.

After the Sox had batted out a 10 to 2 decision in the first game, Lyons and Coffman engaged in a great pitching battle. Each permitted four hits, with the Sox taking advantage of two Brownie errors, Watwood's double and a bad throw by Alex Metzler in the third inning to send Lyons over with the winning run.

Smead Jolley got his fifteenth homer of the season to aid in winning the opener. The victory gave the Sox four out of six in the series.

2 STREET CAR NINES MEET TOMORROW

Capital Traction and W. R. & E. Clash in Annual Game.

A BATTLE to be settled on the baseball diamond and not in the courts will take place between Washington's two street car lines tomorrow afternoon when nines representing the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Capital Traction Co. clash in the biggest game for each at Griffith Stadium. Action, which is expected to be heated, will start at 3 o'clock.

Employes of both companies are talking nothing but baseball now, according to reports, and reminisences of last year's game which the W. R. & E Nine won, 9 to 5, are heard on every side. Both teams, however, have been materially strengthened and adherents of each team can see nothing but victory on Saturday, when the "Traction World Series" will be held.

To enliven the occasion, the Boys' Independent Band will play selections throughout the afternoon. Boy Scouts and patrol boys have been invited as guests of the two companies, while the Public Utilities Commissioners have box seats.

Glowing Reports of W. R. & E. Team.

While little has been heard of the Capital Traction Team, glowing reports have been circulated about the players of its rival faction. Skillman, Schneider and Varnell have been getting in shape to pitch for W. R. & E., while either Duley or Darby will go behind the bat. Groves is expected to hold down first base; Cadington will play at second; Robey is slated for shortstop and Atwill will perform at third. Fish handles the utility infield role.

In the outfield, Davis, Keyser, Dean, Thompson and Uncle are all ready to go with the first three having the inside track for regular jobs.

overlooked, or bouts involving fighters who had been barred from New York for a variety of social and ethical errors by themselves or their managers.

Harmon's Stockholders Got Restless.

So, after a time, Paddy's stockholders grew restless. Originally they had bought their stock without serious thought as to whether they would receive any dividends because they were market-rich at the time. But when the market collapsed, those shares were like the pocket-gleanings that a man collects after a hard night, counting his dimes and nickels and wondering what they come to. Now they wanted dividends and as Paddy Harmon was not earning dividends he lost his job as president of his own stadium to his great humiliation and sorrow.

Mr. Fugazy has had a fine time. Some of the sport pages are rather loosely edited and ever so often there would drop down on the sport editors' desk, in Fugazy's mailing tubes, a splendid new architect's drawing of Fugazy's proposed coliseum, for which the ground was forever being broken the day after tomorrow.

Some of these showed up in print, and, at such times, Mr. Abe (Singletooth) Yager, who was Fugazy's press agent, used to expose his lone incisor in a sly and knowing grin. I asked him once if the latest version of Fugazy's stadium was not in fact the original drawing for the Arkansas State Capitol, and "Singletooth" didn't say no.

Fugazy Asked for Bids On Spade.

Once, Mr. Fugazy was actually on the point of taking definite steps looking toward the formulation of a program with the eventual purpose of turning a spade in the earth to signalize the beginning of his building. He even asked for bids on a spade. That was when he attached himself to the late Francisco Ferrari, the president of the City Trust Co. But Ferrari died and his bank failed for $5,000,000 and fate reached down with the bar-towel.

Again he established relations with a remarkable youth calling himself Edwin Cole. Jack Dempsey got $40,000 from Cole, and if Fugazy didn't get his he has only himself to blame. It was there for any one to take, for Mr. Cole gave away money to show how rich he was. But in time he ran out of money and of late the law sent Cole away, so again the bartowel swabbed the table clean.

It is just as well, though. These catch-as-catch-can financiers can't protect themselves in the clinches with the finance houses. Tom Duggan once owned the exclusive franchise rights for major league professional ice hockey in New York and Brooklyn, but they were in other hands when he died a few days ago.

STOCKS SCORE GAINS AFTER MIDDAY DROP

Losses Largely Recovered, but Few Rails Sink; Commodities Climb.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY UP

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—The tone of the financial markets improved today.

Efforts to follow up the Wednesday decline in stocks were discouraged by the resistance to further selling and the list turned upward after the irregular trading of the morning.

Closing prices showed net advances of 1 to 5 points. Volume remained small and the total sales of 2,162,000 shares were about 400,000 below yesterday's.

Speculative commodities also firmed. Wheat finished a cent to a cent and a quarter higher and corn rallied 1 to more than 3 cents on estimates of lower production. Trade buying and covering helped the local cotton market, after futures had made new lows for the season, and final prices ranged from net losses of 4 points to advances of 3.

The movement of stocks was a pleasant surprise to those who had feared that yesterday's break would bring out public liquidation. Buying orders outweighed selling orders at the opening, which was generally higher. The bear faction, however, disregarded this signal and resumed operations at pivotal points, with indifferent success. A rally late in the forenoon gave way to another selling flurry, but around midday the market made marked progress and managed to retain, if not extend, its gains during the late afternoon. Short covering appeared to be an important factor in the rally.

Rail Dividend Passed.

One dividend omission and a few reductions afforded the outstanding unfavorable developments in the news. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway passed its semiannual payment of $2 on the common. It was the first time since 1901 that the road, now a Baltimore & Ohio subsidiary, had failed to make a disbursement, and the development tended to unsettle some of the rail stocks.

Missouri Pacific dropped 6 points, Louisville & Nashville 2 and Delaware & Hudson 3. Baltimore & Ohio sagged 3 points, but recovered all but a fraction of the loss. Shorts in Southern Railway, which has been conspicuously weak, covered and the stock closed more than 2 points higher.

Studebaker was one of the companies to reduce the dividend, cutting to a $3 basis from $4 coincident with the announcement that earnings for the six months amounted to $1.03 a share against $5.56 a year ago. The president of the corporation said, however, that extras might be expected as business improved.

News from the Detroit automotive plants was more reassuring. Dispatches from that city said that the vacation shutdowns would end this week, with few exceptions, and put no credence in the report that Ford might extend its vacation for another week.

American Can Up 3 Points.

Among the standard issues, American was a firm spot, rising about 3 points. Such issues as United States Steel, General Electric and American Telephone gained about a point. General Motors and Radio, recent pool favorites, closed only fractionally higher. Warner Bros. was under pressure for a time, recording another new low at 35½, but closing at 37⅛, up a fraction.

Gillette was a firm feature of the specialties, rising 5 points in active trading. Shorts were evidently anxious to cover to avoid payment of the dividends which comes off the stock tomorrow. Also, it appeared that shorts were having some difficulty borrowing the stock, as it was loaning at the unusual premium of 1-16. Autostrop rose more than 2 points to another new high, and gossip regarding the possibility of a merger of the two companies was again circulated in brokerage circles.

Eastman sold up more than 6, then lost most of its gain. Westinghouse Electric, American Tobacco B, Lorillard, National Power & Light, Vanadium, Worthington, Safeway and Case were among shares closing about 2 to 4 points higher. Youngstown Sheet lost 3 points in a moderate turnover, and Canada Dry lost 2.

Foreign exchanges were firm. Sterling cables turned upward again, ruling at $4.87⅛, up 3-16. The German mark rose to 23.90½ cents, a new 1930 high.

"Hidden Trusts"
A deed of trust is a matter of public record and must be recorded to be good against a purchaser. A search of title will disclose the trust and it will be set out in a Certificate of Title. A trust, therefore, can be "hidden" only from a purchaser who parts with his money and takes the title on "say-so," without having it examined.
We are equipped to render complete title service in the District of Columbia, including reports on titles, settlements, Certificates of Title, and TITLE INSURANCE.

The 'Get-Rich-Quick' Trap
The "easy money" lure attracts many small investors—and large ones, too—to buy and buy risky, speculative securities which hold out the mirage of large and quick returns. But, although it sometimes brings profit to some, it has been a great misfortune to countless others—bitterness of regret succeeds the fascination of reckless investing. Today American investors are demanding more and more FACTS about securities—actual proof over a period of years that their investment will yield them an unfailing return.
That is why so many wise investors have chosen the 6 per cent First Mortgage Notes sold through the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company. The owner of these Notes receives the attractive annual income of 6 per cent, assured during the bad years as well as the good—with complete safety of principal.
The sound, constant value of these Notes is a matter of record; during more than 61 years of widely varying conditions, these Notes have never fluctuated a penny in value and the interest is sent the investor so that he will receive it on the day it is due. We shall be pleased to send you a booklet explaining in detail why these Notes today are such a safe investment.

RAILS FAIRLY FIRM IN MIXED MARKET

Stock Option Bonds Close Slightly Higher; U. S. Issues Steady.

FOREIGN GROUP UNEASY

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—The listed bond market gave another ragged performance today. Second-grade rails and some of the utilities suffered in the irregular price movement, together with volatile issues which are easily influenced.

Stock privilege issues fluctuated throughout the day, with alternate declines and rallies to close higher. High-grade rails which have consistently held an upward trend throughout the last few months and United States Governments were the firmest spots in the list. Foreign issues also suffered, although the recessions which occurred in the most popular bonds were confined to small fractions, and a few showed moderate strength.

The railroad list felt the unsettling influence of weakness in railroad stocks which followed the adverse reports of business during the past month. Mortgage bonds of New York Central, Atchison, Nickel Plate, Pennsylvania and Atchison held at their present high levels. Chicago & Alton refunding 3s soared 2½ points, St. Paul 5s of 1975 firmed to gain nearly a point, while adjustment 5s, a convertible issue, continued downward.

Strength was shown at the close by such convertible issues as American Telephone 4½s, up 1½ on a few sales, American International 5½s, American I. G. Chemical 5½s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s and Rock Island 4½s.

Marked strength and weakness were shown by the utility group. Consumers Gas of Chicago 5s reached a new high. People's Gas, Light & Coke 5s and New Orleans Public Service 5s rose 1 point each. American Telephone issues held firm, with the collateral 5s at the highest figure of the year. An easy tone was reflected in New York Edison 5s, North American Edison 5s, Utility Power & Light 5s and Duquesne Light 4½s.

Moving within a narrow range throughout the day on a large turnover, Austrian 7s closed at ¼ point higher. German 5½s dropped to a new low, and French 7s, British 5½s eased. British Dominions were a bright spot, Canadian 5s and Australian bonds rising. Australian 4½s advanced 1½ points. South Americans were dull and slightly irregular. Peruvian issues were weak.

DOWDALL ACCEPTS MURPHY & CO. POST

Expert in Railroad Finances Begins Connection With Concern Today.

LOAN ASSOCIATION DATA

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Joseph F. Dowdall, whose association with G. M.-P. Murphy & Co. is announced today, was connected with several of the larger brokerage houses in New York from 1914 to 1917. He served as a first lieutenant in the United States Air Service overseas during the World War and after resigning from the Army, became associated with several brokerage houses in Washington, spending the greater part of this period with F. B. Keech & Co.

While with F. B. Keech & Co. he organized the Washington Railroad Securities Trading Syndicate and acted as comanager. Long experience in the railroad security market has established his reputation as an expert in railroad finance. He is also one of the investment advisers and a director of the Utilities, Hydro & Rail Shares Corporation of Boston, vice president of the Capital Research Corporation and a member of the National Press and Congressional Country Clubs.

The 24 building and loan associations of the District of Columbia have a total membership of 72,043 and total assets of $68,409,716, according to the national statistical report of the United States Building & Loan League made public this week. The District group of associations, standing twenty-first in the list of States, gained 3,500 members during the last fiscal year and its increase in assets was $5,045,768.

12,342 Building Associations.

At the close of the year there were 12,342 building and loan associations actively operating in the United States, a decrease in number of 324 for the year. This reduction was due to the elimination of 371 inactive and weak associations in Pennsylvania. Combined assets of all associations aggregate $8,695,154,220, an increase for the year of $679,119,893, or at the rate of little less than 8½ per cent. Total membership is 12,111,209, an increase for the year of 115,304 or at the rate of a little less than 1 per cent.

Of the total assets, $7,787,405,383, or 89.6 per cent, are invested in mortgage loans. The amount of mortgage loans made in 1929 is estimated at $1,800,000,000, showing a decrease of about 10 per cent over the amount loaned in the previous year.

Washington bank clearings for July were $109,420,638.23, a decrease of $18,077,133.64 from the total of July, 1929. They were also lower than in July, 1928, when they totaled $114,273,667.81. Clearings for the first seven months of the present year are $785,670,847 as against $878,545,619 for the similar comparative period last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 31 (A.P.).—Extraordinary shriveling up of the 1930 corn crop led to fresh soaring of corn prices today, and helped to rally the wheat market as well.

Losses of corn now reach 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels every 24 hours that general drought continues, it was authoritatively estimated here today.

Big export business in wheat from North America, said to total upward of 6,000,000 bushels for the last 48 hours, was another outstanding feature.

Increased profit-taking sales brought about late reactions from the day's top figures, with corn and wheat both closing nervous, corn at ⅜-3¼ cent net gain over yesterday's finish. Wheat and oats both closed 1-1⅜ cents up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17 cents.

Pouring into the corn pit today were reports that in some sections of the corn belt not more than a quarter to a half of the ordinary yield of corn was expected. Other advices told of canning factories not planning to open, stopped by failure of corn growth. Instances were noted where there has been no rain for six weeks, causing corn fields to burn up. One Chicago expert summarized his information as showing the present condition of corn throughout the entire United States at 69.6 per cent, the lowest point for corn since 1911.

Prospective yields of corn throughout the whole country were figured on this basis to be 307,000,000 bushels less than the Government July 1 forecast. The only States not showing heavy deterioration of the corn crop were given as Minnesota and Wisconsin. For other States, the corn condition estimates specially noticed were Ohio 67, Illinois 71, Indiana 70, Iowa 81, Missouri 66, South Dakota 67, Nebraska 68, Kansas 55, Oklahoma 58 and Texas 57. Waves of buying that resulted from such reports swept corn values upward almost unchecked until near the end of the day, word of good rains in part of the Southwest being ignored.

Wheat trading was also active, but less so than corn, and the advances in wheat quotations came largely from sympathy with corn strength. Oats touched new low price records for the season, but then ascended with other grain.

Notwithstanding declines in hog values, provisions advanced aided by grain price upturns.

Curb Review

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—The public utility shares rallied under active bidding in today's curb market, while the industrials and specialties were inclined to sag, and the oils and investment company issues moved narrowly and uncertainly.

The utilities in the aggregate recovered less than half of yesterday's losses. Short covering appeared in some volume in a few issues. In general, trading was dull, sales totalling only 444,800 shares.

American Gas was a firm spot, recovering yesterday's 4-point drop and getting once more around the best levels of the rally. Electric Bond & Share, however, made scant recovery, closing at 82¾, up only ¾. American Superpower and United Light A each advanced more than a point. Middle West and Niagara Hudson, however, failed to rally, and Northern States A tumbled 8 points.

Two merchandising issues of companies specializing in women's apparel were conspicuously weak. Lerner Stores tumbled about 10 points to a new low at 34⅛, and Russeks A sank 3 points to 10, the year's low. In the industrials, Deere went under 80 for the first time, recording a record low at 78. Guardian Fire Assurance was a soft spot in the specialties, sagging a point to a new bottom at 28.

In the oils, Cities Service was active and firm, closing at 28½, up ⅜. Vacuum gained a point in quiet trading, and Ohio Oil lost 1. Others moved uncertainly. In the Investment Company issues, United Founders rose fractionally in fairly active trading, while others were sluggish.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 31 (A.P.).—A further decline, which established new low records for the season in cotton here during the day's early trading, was followed by rallies on some trade buying and covering, promoted by less favorable weather reports that some recent sellers had expected and the firmer tone of the grain market.

The new December contract after selling off to 12.41 rallied to 12.55 and closed at 12.52, or net unchanged. The general market closed steady, net 3 points higher to 4 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 to 9 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and the hope of further showers or rains in the Southwest. Demand was comparatively limited and the early decline extended to 12.22 for the new October and 12.72 for March contracts, or about 10 to 12 points net lower on the more active positions. Offerings tapered off at the lower level, however, and the market steadied later in the day on some trade buying and covering, which was a little more in evidence after the publication of the detailed weather reports showing less general showers than expected in the Southwest and continued high temperatures at a number of stations. The new October sold up to 12.36 and March to 12.83, making net advances of about 1 to 3 points on the active positions and the close was within a point or two of the best.

Four of the private end-July crop reports were issued during the day, two of which gave figures on the indicated yield, one of them placing it at 13,412,000 bales, while the other made it 14,373,000 bales. The private condition figures ranged from 64.3 up to 67.6 per cent of normal. These reports appeared to be without any particular effect on the market and the opinion was expressed in some quarters that traders were more impressed by reports of unfavorable conditions in the textile trade than by the crop news.

Trading was moderately active on the early decline, but became comparatively quiet on the rally. Some further trade buying was reported early, but much of the demand was attributed to covering and a firmer technical position.

As today was the last of the present season the statistics were incomplete. According to preliminary figures exports for the day were 17,356 bales, making 6,841,516 so far for the season, subject for revision. Port receipts were 13,412. Figures on United States port stocks 1,538,056, according to preliminary figures.

Man Goes to Policeman With Threat of Suicide

John Jay Sparks, 28 years old, of K street near Fourth street northwest, walked into police headquarters yesterday and announced that he intended to hang himself. He was sent to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation.

Sparks told Detective Arthur Fihelly that he felt bad and wanted to kill himself. Twice he started out, saying he was going to get a piece of rope, and once he said he was going to end it all in the river. Each time Fihelly dissuaded him, and finally the detective decided that a little trip to Gallinger would benefit him.

EARLY CORN SUPPLY IN FREDERICK RUINED

Drought May Prevent Some Canners From Opening Their Factories.

IS WORST IN 30 YEARS

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., July 31.—The early crop of sugar corn in this county is practically ruined by the drought and unless rain comes soon to revive the late crop some of the canners will not open their factories this year. Not in the history of the canning industry in Frederick County has a factory failed to open during the season.

Approximately 10,000 acres was planted in sugar corn for factory use which under normal conditions would have yielded about 20,000 tons.

The drought, the worst in this county for more than 30 years, has parched cornfields in every locality. Some farmers have turned cattle into cornfields, having no other pasture, while others are cutting off the corn and packing the fodder in silos for winter food for their cattle. Still others are selling their stock.

The Potomac and Monocacy Rivers are lower than for years. Hunting Creek, normally from 15 to 20 feet wide and from 8 to 20 inches deep, is less than 4 feet wide and about 4 inches in depth. Many farmers are hauling water while others are compelled to drive their stock a long distance to streams. Pasture fields are scorched and all vegetation and crops are tremendously reduced. Berries have dried on the vines and apple trees are being watered to save the fruit.

A field fire destroyed a large barn on the farm of Dr. Frederick Deitrick, near Newmarket, and other barns have narrowly escaped being burned from fires started in fields. The city reservoir on Fishing Creek, supplying the city with water, is receding every day and the supply at Brunswick and other county towns is diminishing.

CATTLE RAISERS SEE HALF-MILLION LOSS

Slump in Price and Long Drought Combine to Cripple Business.

MANY ARE HARD STRUCK

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 31.—A half-million-dollar loss has been suffered by Shenandoah Valley cattle raisers this summer because of the almost 50 per cent drop in price and the forced marketing of poorly conditioned steers on account of drought-parched pastures and lack of water, leading cattle dealers here estimate.

Shipment of cattle to Baltimore, Lancaster, and Jersey City markets is two months earlier this year on account of the failure of pasture and hay crops. These shipments had to be made at a time when the market had neared the bottom. It is estimated that every carload of cattle leaving the valley area this summer resulted in a loss of $1,000 to $1,500 to its owner. There are many instances where steers were sold for $40 less than they cost last fall as feeders, after the farmer had carried them through the past winter and spring at a heavy feeding cost.

Some of the cattle raisers hardest hit doubt if they will be able to weather the financial storm, citing this year's experience as the worst in their career.

The severest blow came in the price drop. A year ago common and high-grade cattle were selling from 8 to 13 or 14 cents per pound. Today the prices range from 4 to 6 cents.

The cattle industry is one of the big agricultural activities of the Shenandoah Valley. Droves from 10 to 150 head are seen on many valley farms. In normal years the cattle are marketed after being grazed on blue-grass mountain land and then fattened on corn.

While the bulk of the valley cattle crop already has been moved to the market, some raisers are making desperate efforts to hold their cattle by pasturing them in the mountain brush lands. They plan to fatten them on the farm in the fall by feeding a combination of ground wheat with straw, cottonseed meal and corn ground with fodder. The normal feed crops, hay and corn, however, are nearly ruined by the drought and wheat will be fed instead.

$7,500 Fire Destroys Lumber Storage House

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 31.—A fire of undetermined origin late this afternoon destroyed the lumber storage house of Glaize & Bro., one of the largest lumber dealers of northern Virginia, and did damage estimated at $7,500. Four fire companies fought the conflagration for over an hour before the flames were extinguished. Low water pressure as a result of the pending drought hampered their work.

Five families living in adjacent houses were forced to flee, but the homes were saved. Hundreds of dollars' damage was done to boxwood in Mount Hebron Cemetery by flames which licked across Woodstock lane.

The bowlders had fallen from the mine roof. Surviving are his widow, two children and five stepchildren.

POSTOFFICE MOVES TO TEMPORARY SITE

Change Made in Alexandria to Await Construction of New Building.

LEGION MEETS TONIGHT

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria postoffice was moved yesterday into the temporary quarters at 417-419 King street, and will be open for business there today. The mail box department closed at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, for the moving of the box equipment, but will be available this morning. All other equipment was moved yesterday afternoon, the work of moving being done by a force of men from the navy yard in Washington.

The work of moving the quarters of the internal revenue office, the collector of customs, and other offices on the second and third floor of the old building will be completed. The court furniture and other equipment of the United States Court, and all surplus equipment in the postoffice, will be stored for the present in the naval torpedo plant. Postmaster F. Clinton Knight is supervising the work of moving.

On the first floor of the postoffice in its new quarters will be located the finance and mail division, together with the offices of Postmaster Knight. The boxes will be on this floor.

On the second floor will be the department devoted to the carriers, where their mail will be distributed and sorted preparatory to delivery. The offices of the United States district attorney, postoffice inspector, the clerk of the United States Court and the United States marshal will also be located on the second floor. The third floor will house the internal revenue office and the collector of customs.

It is expected the temporary postoffice will be in use for at least a year and probably longer, the building having been leased for a year with privilege of extending the lease if the Government may see fit. The contract for the erection of the new postoffice and Federal building provides that it shall be completed within 500 days after the time work is started, which will probably not be before September 1, or even as late as October 1. The bids for the work will be opened August 15.

The contract provides that the present structure, on Prince street between St. Asaph and Washington streets, be razed. The new building will face on Washington street, and for its construction the buildings formerly occupied as residences by the late Judge J. K. M. Norton, at Prince and Washington streets, and Dr. H. A. Latane, adjoining it on the Prince street side, will also be torn down.

The present postoffice building was erected in 1872, and has been outgrown by the demands of present-day business.

Following a coroner's investigation into the death of Francis Harper Fannon, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Fannon, who was struck and fatally injured last Saturday by an automobile driven by Milton F. Kerrick, Dr. T. Marshall Jones gave a verdict of accidental death. Kerrick testified that he had just left his home, less than a block from the Fannon home, and was traveling at a speed not in excess of 15 miles an hour, and did not see the child until he was right on him, as the child ran into the street.

Zelma Ray, Negro maid at the Fannon home, testified she was engaged in polishing the brass on the door of the house, and the child ran into the street after a ball, and from behind a parked car.

Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, Commander Howard L. Arnold, will hold a meeting tonight at Gadby's Tavern when delegates and alternates to represent the post at the annual department convention to be held in Harrisonburg, September 7-10 will be selected.

Diggs was arrested on Tuesday for having entered the residence of F. M. Downs, 105 west Maple street, with a pass key and stolen a small quantity of toilet articles, which were recovered by the police.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Jackson, nurse, presented the report of the baby clinic at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club yesterday, and in the statement for a period of six months, reported 2,075 babies were brought to the clinic during that time to be weighed and measured and examined; 1,240 babies were seen in their homes, a total of 3,320 babies being seen in the six months. The baby clinic is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, with Mayor Robert S. Jones and Councilman-elect C. C. Lamond the committee in charge.

Special to The Washington Post.

Berryville, Va., July 31.—The forty-eighth annual meeting of the Shenandoah Baptist Association, which met here in the Berryville Baptist Church yesterday, was adjourned this afternoon to meet next year in Front Royal. From the 28 churches that are in this association there were 151 delegates and 100 visitors. Dr. L. A. ROCKINGHAM WINS IN HOMES CAMPAIGN

County Gets Special Award in Contest for Its Rest Center.

850 OTHERS COMPETING

Richmond, Va., July 31 (A.P.).—Rockingham County, Va., has been selected for a special award in the 130 better homes campaign conducted from Washington, in which more than 850 counties in all parts of the United States took part.

The awards were made on the basis of quality and educational value of the programs, freedom from commercial features, appropriateness to the community, comprehensiveness, community interest and cooperation.

The principal feature of the Rockingham County campaign was the reconditioning of a three-room rest center, which is to be maintained throughout the year as a permanent center of home information. Every detail of the project was worked out carefully, applying principles of good taste in furnishing with comfort and economy.

During better homes week visitors were shown through the rooms, with a hostess in each room pointing out the various steps followed.

The work of reconditioning and refinishing furniture was done by women of the county under the direction of Miss Mary F. Claytor, of Harrisonburg, who, with Mrs. O. D. Garber, of Bridgewater, served as heads of the county better homes committee. Lecture programs and exhibits were held in various parts of the county.

Richmond, Va., July 31 (A.P.).—Judge James L. McLemore, of Suffolk, who two months ago tendered his resignation as judge of the Second judicial circuit, has decided to remain in office.

Pollard, who had withheld acceptance of the resignation, announced today that Judge McLemore, in response to solicitations of friends throughout the State, would continue in the office he has held for more than 20 years. In submitting his resignation Judge McLemore said he was tired of liquor cases and the endless intervention of friends and relatives pleading for defendants.

Plea Made to Water Trees in Dry Spell

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., July 31.—George H. Reed, superintendent of parks, is urging residents of the city who live near street shade trees to help save the trees from destruction by the drought by watering them. The department has a force of men at work with an improvised waterer, by which a sharpened iron pipe is driven into the ground under the trees and then water is shot into the hole from a spraying tank.

Mr. Reed announced that trees which have been given even slight aid by residents show an appreciable difference in their condition. There has been no rain here in quantities sufficient to be helpful since June 26.

Ohio Appoints 13 To Go to Institute

Meeting on Public Affairs Convenes at University This Month.

University, Va., July 31 (A.P.).—Myers Y. Cooper, Governor of Ohio, has appointed thirteen delegates to attend the fourth Institute of Public Affairs, which will be held at the University of Virginia from August 3 to 16. Gov. Cooper is the seventh State executive to name delegates to the institute. Appointments have also been made by the Governors of Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The Ohio appointees to attend the round-table discussion of the reorganization of State government are Lieut. Gov. John T. Brown, of Mechanicsburg; G. M. Kumler, of Lewisburg; W. G. Nickels, of New Philadelphia; Arthur Hamilton, of Warren; Harry D. Silver, director of finance, of Columbus; E. D. Schorr, director of commerce, of Columbus, and R. E. Miles, of the Ohio Institute, of Columbus.

Gov. Cooper appointed five representatives to attend the round table on the country church and world affairs. These are Bishop A. R. Clippinger, of Dayton; the Rev. Fred Hall, of Cleveland; Dr. C. L. Zorbaugh, of Columbus; W. G. Grimes, of New Concord, and C. W. Brugh, of Tiffin.

TOBACCO GROWERS TOLD TO ORGANIZE

Virginia Farmers Warned Board Can Not Buy From Individuals.

GEORGIA CRISIS IS CITED

Blacksburg, Va., July 31 (A.P.).—James C. Stone, vice chairman of the Federal Farm Board, said here today that the Farm Board can not buy tobacco in Georgia, as growers in that section have urged the board to do. Mr. Stone discussed the Georgia situation following two addresses on the general tobacco situation at the Virginia Institute of Rural Affairs.

"The market has just opened and the low price offered is causing many to wire the board to act," Mr. Stone said. "Under the agricultural marketing act under which the Federal Farm Board was formed, the board can treat only with organized cooperatives and not with individual farmers," he continued.

"The board can assist growers in Georgia to form their own cooperative if the growers ask for such aid, but the board is not starting such cooperative movements. It will furnish assistance only when growers make the initial move.

"Overproduction of tobacco is to blame to a certain extent for the low prices," Mr. Stone said, "but the unorganized grower competing with buying power concentrated in a few hands is a fundamental factor."

In addresses before the rural institute he stressed "the importance of organizing the producers so they may compete with the buyers who are now organized, into five great corporations."

Tobacco cooperatives, to succeed, he said, "must not organize with the idea of fixing prices and compelling the manufacturer to pay that price or go without. Cooperatives should endeavor to treat manufacturers as fairly as their own members. They should organize to concentrate selling power in such a way as to enable them to compete equally with buying power which has been concentrated in five men representing as many corporations."

Luhring and Cox Take Seats on Bench Today

Oscar R. Luhring, Assistant Attorney General, and Joseph W. Cox, Washington attorney, will be sworn in this morning as associate justices of the District of Columbia Supreme Court. Their induction will bring the membership of the bench of the court to nine members, the largest in its history. Both Mr. Cox and Mr. Luhring were nominated by the President several weeks ago and the Senate approved their selection without discussion. Both were named after Congress had created the two new judicial posts to take care of increased business and congestion in the court.

Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat will administer the oath and Associate Justice Peyton Gordon is expected to be in attendance.

In the afternoon the party made a tour of Washington, led by Prof. H. C. M. Case, of the University of Illinois, president of the American Farm Economic Association.

SCHOOL CONTRACTS ARE LET IN FAIRFAX

Five Candidates' Battle for House Nomination Draws to a Close.

WATER CURB IS ASKED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The bids for the erection of the additional building at the Herndon School to accommodate the vocational and agricultural classes that are to be moved from Floris to Herndon this fall and the bids for a two-room school building for colored children at Herndon were opened yesterday afternoon in the office of the school board at Fairfax. A subcommittee of the school board composed of Frederick Robinson, of Herndon; Joseph Murphy, of Dranesville District, and Wilbert T. Woodson, divisional superintendent of schools of the county, considered the bids and, acting with special authority granted them by the county school board at its last meeting, awarded the contracts. W. I. Dixon, a representative of the State school architect's office, attended the opening of the bids and discussed the specifications with the contractors before the contracts were awarded.

Six bids were submitted to the committee for the erection of the vocational building in the rear of the Herndon School. The successful bidder was W. W. Wyatt, of Herndon, who bid $4,156.64. This building is to be of cinder block construction with a brick veneer 60 feet long and 42 feet wide and will contain a science laboratory, an agricultural laboratory and a vocational work shop.

E. E. Gillett, of Herndon, was the successful bidder for the erection of the Rosenwald Colored School at Herndon. His bid was $3,320. This frame building will contain two large classrooms and an industrial room. The committee considered seven bids.

The contractors stated that they plan to start work immediately, although actual erection will not take place until after the formal contract is signed, which will done the early part of next week. It is expected that these buildings will be completed and ready for use by the opening of the school term, in the middle of September.

Work on the two-room addition to the Fairfax School is progressing rapidly. It is being done by day labor under the supervision of a special committee of the school board.

Dr. Ernest L. Robey, vice president of the Herndon Water Co., stated yesterday that because of the long-continued dry spell a meeting of the board of directors of the water company will be held within the next few days. While the water supply of the town is not seriously threatened, it is planned to appeal to the citizens to conserve it as much as possible, Dr. Robey declared. The main reason for asking is to guard against fire. As most of the buildings are of frame construction, fire which under normal conditions could be easily conquered might spread rapidly.

It also was learned yesterday that farmers of the vicinity are hauling thousands of gallons of water daily from the town supply to care for their live stock, as most of the wells and streams of the surrounding country have dried up. No rain has fallen in this territory for several months.

All of the five Democratic candidates for the nomination for representative from the Eighth congressional district of Virginia are conducting a fast and furious last-minute campaign. Means of communication available is being used by the candidates, their friends and supporters to appeal to the voting public. The wet and dry issue seems to be the paramount question. Other issues, including farm relief, chain stores and the tariff, apparently have been subordinated, although each candidate has made himself clear on these issues and they have included their beliefs in their platforms.

With State Senator Frank Ball, of Clarendon Judge Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria; Thomas R. Keith, of Fairfax; Crandal Mackey, of Rosslyn, and E. H. DeJarnette, of range, in the race, the five-cornered election contest is viewed with much interest by political observers throughout the State, as the district, especially Fairfax County, has upset the politicians' calculations in the last two political campaigns. All five of the candidates are able and successful lawyers and all have been loyal to the Democratic party.

Thomas R. Keith will make his final appeal to the voters of the district tonight over radio station WJSV at Mount Vernon Hills, Va., at 8:30 o'clock. Capt. Crandall Mackey will make his final address tomorrow night at 8:15 over the same station. The primary election will take place next Tuesday.
